prisoner. Gen. Victoriano Huerta has been declared provisional president. Fighting in the city has ceased.

But Mexico is still far from peace. Huerta will not be accepted by rebels in the provinces. Pascual Orozco, strongest of the independent commanders, today declared war on the provisional government.

Gen. Inez Salazar is supporting the government established at Palomas by Emilio Vasquez Gomez. He will never accept Huerta.

Gustave Madero, brother of the deposed president, was executed by order of Huerta.

Marco Hernandez, brother of the minister of the interior in Madero's cabinet, was shot and killed on the street when he cheered Madero.

Anti-American feeling in the city has disappeared. When the citizens learned that Ambassador Wilson had arranged the conference that resulted in peace a crowd gathered in front of the embassy and cheered the Stars and Stripes.

If your house harbors any old clothes, carpets or furniture—things that have served their day and are only useless hindrances—get rid of them. It will make more room and insure better air.

Down in Huntington, W. Va., some miscreant blew raw pepper from the gallery to the pit during a performance of "The Modern Eve." Everybody had a sneeze or two. Report doesn't say whether any fig leaves were disturbed.
