

ISN'T SHE THE STYLISH LADY?

WOW! SOME GAME

Kearney, N. J., Sept. 27.—“Now for the shoes! Come seven! The pants and shirt; stay away craps!” Three merry highwaymen thus disposed of William Milton’s wearing apparel early today while William, clad only in a grouch, shivered nearby.

Milton is a watchman at the Pennsylvania Railroad shops. At the police station when a suspect was brought in, he said:

“That’s one of them. He’s got on my shoes.”

GIRL DOES SOME SPRINT

Greensburg, Pa., Sept. 27.—Miss Pearl McFarland, 17 years old, today held the distinction of having chased a railroad train two miles, caught it “on the fly” and boarded it. She was so eager to reach the high school here for examinations that she started after the train when she missed it by a half minute at Derry, her home station. She collapsed after climbing aboard, but recovered and averaged 98 in the exams. A heavy fog retarded the train.
