Good matches are now plentiful for Charlie White, the conqueror of Willie Ritchie.

The latest offer is from Denver, where a guarantee of $3,000 will be handed the Chicagoan for meeting Stanley Yoakum some time in July. White has not definitely accepted, but the money looks easy, so he will probably pick it up.

A shift is due in the American polo team for the second game with England tomorrow. The ease with which the Britons won Saturday surprised both sides. The new line-up has not been decided on, but indications are that La Montagne will be replaced.

Spike Kelly knocked out Eddie Madison in the 15th round at Denver. Kelly was the aggressor throughout the mill.

This will be a big court week in baseball. At Cincinnati a final decision is likely in the suit of the Feds to enjoin Killifer from playing with the Phillies, and in Chicago Judge Foell is looked to for a decision on the status of Fred Blanding, who signed a Fed contract and then jumped to the Naps.

Sox Pitching Regulars Need More Work—Feds Split Two.

Mr. Callahan's pitching staff, the main hope of the Sox, is not holding up. Not since last Wednesday, when Joe Benz beat Walter Johnson and allowed the Nationals one hit, has a Sox pitcher turned in a game worthy of his past performances.

That doesn't mean that the local hurlers are losing the use of their able arms and heads. Mechanically they have the same stuff they had a week ago, when a bevy of no-hit, one-hit and two-hit games were turned loose to worry the batters in the American League.

Callahan is in a position to be envied by many league managers, but
