

at hand—a federal and a rebel—and now he has added to his wardrobe a mirth-provoking khaki-suit, a parody on the kind that American soldiers wear.

As soon as the firing dies at the end of a battle Alegrias y Enhart crawl out from under their bed and show themselves in the street. They are promptly arrested.

"But," they explain, "we are the actors!"

That puts another face on the matter. Will the seniors pardon? It would not do to arrest the actors, because then there would be no show.

The American soldiers, sailors and marines never get tired of Alegrias y Enhart, who are really clever. Especially do they demand the wrestling act—Enhart wrestling with an overcoat. The overcoat finally gets a full-nelson on the comedian and presses his shoulders to the mat. The struggle is terrific.

FASHION FADS

The vogue for bordered effects has resulted in the production of an exceedingly clever double-bordered veil. This novelty has a different pattern on each edge of the veiling so that it can be made to serve the purpose of entirely two different bordered veils. Sometimes a narrow floral border will appear on one edge and a velvet or chenille-dotted border on the other.

The bodices of evening gowns have diminished until there is nothing left but narrow strips of lace over the shoulders.

A feature of the new gowns is the jacket having a ripple hanging full from about the middle of the back between the shoulders.

Charming wraps of absinthe, charmeuse, or water-moss green golfine are lined with self-colored liberty and fastened with cartridge-shaped buttons of pearl.

Many women are carrying little leather vanity cases which measure about five by four inches, and are four inches deep. These cases contain little gold toilet requisites as well as a place for the purse.

The Paris shops are showing handbags, purses and card cases made of plaid ribbons.

A great many buttons in mother-of-pearl, crystal, amber and tortoiseshell are now being worn.
