

TEXAS BABIES VISIT WASHINGTON AND CAPTIVATE CAPITOL FOLKS

Mrs.
Richard Van Wyck
Negley and sons.

Washington, D. C.—Two young Texans, neither of 'em big enough to travel far without a perambulator, are occupying a great deal of attention just now in Washington and taking all of the time the postmaster general can spare from the business of the nation.

The baby boys of Mrs. Richard Van Wyck Negley, eldest daughter of Postmaster General Burleson, are the popular youngsters. They have come from Austin, Texas, with their mother to spend the summer at the capital.

—o—o—
Woman physicians in the London health department must resign their positions if they marry.

The greatest tulip exhibit ever possible anywhere outside Holland will be a part of the national exhibit of the Netherlands at the Panama-Pacific exposition. Two acres will be devoted to these flowers.