A LIGHT BREAKS IN ON STREET CAR OWNERS

They Say They Have New Ideals—Will Chicago Set a
New Pace for America in the Street Railway Arbitration?

BY N. D. COCHRAN

On what basis shall the street railway arbitrators figure in determining fair wages for the employes?

Let's consider it from the standpoint of the public good, rather than from the merely selfish standpoint of the workers themselves.

In his determined stand for fair arbitration Mayor Thompson took the position that he was representing the entire population of Chicago, whose rights as citizens of this community were affected quite as much as the property rights of the owners of the railways and of the human rights of the employes.

So far, so good. Now the entire citizenship of Chi-
