

new york.—sum times a feller gets in bad by pulling off a g. washington stunt at the rong time but most likly a guy wood be found out anny how and get a dubbel douse of licking if he lyed so i gess gorgie lident get more than his share, but he dont beleev that a way

I was just busting in to there frunt gate when mr medlers came home last nite and gorgie was setting on the steps giving a good imatashun of april shower

what for are you bawling now, his pop inkwires

I got a licking from ma, thats why, replys gorgie

what did me lick you for caus I told the truth thats why, answers gorgie

o, dont pull none of that stuff, your ma never licks you for telling the truth young man

I ought to know dad, caus i was the 1 what got the licking

well how did it happen, the old man said

ma, she asks all of us kids who tied the cat's tail to the dog's tail while she was at the store & i said I done it then she lit in to me & this is the 1st time i have set down sinse.

WORSE AND WORSE

First Pessimist—A bachelor is usually a man who has been crossed in love.

Second—Yes, and a married man one who has been double crossed.

FROM VAUDEVILLE

(Joe Howard and Mabel McCane.)

"What color is your dog?"

"White, I guess! I'll wash him and see."

"Has he got a license?"

"No, they're all off now. I used kerosene."

"Do you know what an optimist is?"

"An optimist is a woman who doesn't give a whoop what happens so long as it doesn't happen to her."

A SUPPORTER

"There ought to be only one head to any family," shouted an orator.

"That's true," replied a married-looking man in the audience.

"You agree with me?" shouted the speaker.

"I do," replied the married-looking man. "I've just paid for hats for nine daughters."

MISTA BONES, WHAT KIND OF A GOOSE LAYS THE LONGEST?

WHY, A DEAD GOOSE!
