

MADE FOR MOTORING BUT IT'S JUST THE COAT
FOR MOTORLESS GIRL

SOPHIE SCHAULS

A coat that's heavy enough for a motor trip, and none too heavy for ordinary street wear—and mighty smart and attractive wherever it does duty—is the top coat which Sophie Schauls, the pretty fashion manikin, is wearing these days.

The coat, which was designed by Mme. Allie E. Balley of the Fashion Art League of America, is made of navy blue, diagonally lined novelty cloth trimmed with patent leather. The shining leather strips are applied on the wide belt and on the cuffs. Green bone buttons which fasten the coat and trim the belt make a pretty color contrast to the blue cloth.

The collar is the new "choker" and turns up over the ears. The skirt shows the flare that's noticeable in all the coats made for the cold weather season.

WOULDN'T DO

The football player walked the floor,
His infant yelling more and more.
He hoped his captain wouldn't call,
For he simply couldn't control the bawl!

Teddy says it's all right for New York Progressives to enroll as Republicans. Maybe he believes in having friend in the enemy's camp.
