— O — RAILWAY BUSINESS BOOMS

Maybe industrial gloom will fade away, some time! Within the past week enormous orders for locomotives, cars and steel rails have been placed by railroads. South Chicago mills seem to have gotten more than their usual share of the orders. Santa Fe road Thursday hung up new loading record, loading 6,136 cars in one day.

— O — DYSON UNDER HEAVY FIRE

When Congressman Rainey said Dr. E. O. Dyson, state veterinarian, had played into the hands of the stock yards crowd in handling the foot and mouth disease, he started something.

For officials of the department of agriculture now say that he ran the quarantine all wrong and the present epidemic is a result of improper methods.

An absolute quarantine over the whole state is what was needed, latest critics say. Dyson allowed shipment of cattle from infected areas to the Chicago stock yards and the disease was scattered in the shipment of animals is their claim.
