WHO ALL GOT FANCY BOOZE FLASKS?

Alderman Probing Alleged Lobby Trick of Harry Moir —Did Police and Health Officials Get “Compliments of Season, Etc.” From Hotel Man?

Aldermen of council police committee are looking into lobby tricks of Harry Moir, owner and manager New Hotel Morrison. They want to know whether Moir gave out fancy flasks of whisky to police and health department officials as he did among aldermen during holidays.

Moir's high-style lodging house and eating place at Madison and Clark streets is a banner hotel on several points. It has the largest sidewalk canopy of any hotel, store or bank downtown, the canopy being a violation of the city building code, existing through special permit from city council. The cabaret isn't a common, trashy affair, where a duo, trio or quartet does stunts. New Hotel Morrison has a regular chorus of bare-shouldered girls, an octet, eight lively, upstanding girls, who sing, smile, shake their feet and wander among the patrons and shake hands.

Between Christmas and New Year's day many city officials got a card of good wishes from Harry
