Charles Murphy now feels like a Connie Mack. He has a ball park. All he needs is a team.

Eating canned goods made Umpire Mal Eason sick Tuesday night. Mal did not take a bite out of Heinie Zimmerman.

Balls hit into the stand at the North Side park during practice or in a game will be the property of the fans capturing them.

It won't be necessary to work the hidden ball trick on the ushers any more.

Rudy Hulswitt quit his job as manager of the Columbus (Ohio) team because of its long losing streak. Connie Mack has no sympathy for such chicken-hearted persons.

Outfielder Joe Kelly of Indianapolis has been purchased by the Cubs and probably will get an immediate trial. Kelly has been batting lustily in the American ass'n and will be a welcome citizen if he can duplicate here.

OUR TEAMS MAKE RECORD—LOSE SIX GAMES IN TWO DAYS

By Mark Shields

A couple of afternoons ago a jury trying a colored person on a charge of murder went to the ball park to watch the Cubs and Phillies in action. Court adjourned for the day and the men were the guests of President Weeghman of the North Side club.

A pleasant time was had by all except the gent on trial, who did the best he could in the salubrious surroundings of the County jail. The colored person had no hand in the baseball party, but he may find he was a very lucky guy.

If we were on trial for murder we would pull every string we could tail on to have the jury sitting on our case invited to watch the Cubs for one afternoon. And then we would feel that our chances for acquittal were very good.

For the jurymen would see the high crimes and misdemeanors committed by the North Siders daily, for which no punishment is inflicted. Pondering over these inhuman acts, the jurymen would conclude that a little hot-headed indiscretion like murder should never be punished, when some of the Cubs can get away with the stuff daily pulled.

At that the Cubs cracked a record yesterday, scoring two runs. This is the first time in a week the club has counted more than one for each nine innings competition. Also, five hits were made, which is better than Tinker's people have been averaging recently.

With Mulligan back at short the club showed a trifle more pepper, but the gingery display was not sustained. And not all of the members of the cast were infected, but still went about their work in a carefree
