A catcher entitled Bunn is toiling in the Texas league. It wouldn't be a bad idea to team him with Pitcher Coffey of Minneapolis.

Harry Davis steps in and manages the Athletics whenever Connie Mack goes a-scouting. You never can tell the difference.

Dave Davenport of the Browns will have his little joke, be the weather hot or cold. He blew himself to a two-base hit the other day.

According to soldiers on the Mexican border variety is the spice of their lives. After they're mustered they're liable to be peppered.

Johnny Evers is hitting only .251. But who cares what Johnny's hitting? He's still talking a perfect 1,000.

Charlie Dooin hasn't changed a bit since he quit catching for the Giants to play center field for Rochester. Charlie can peg 'em past second base no matter where you plant him.

SOX SHOULD BE IN FIRST PLACE WEDNESDAY NIGHT

By Mark Shields

Though they have copped six games out of eight on the home lot, the White Sox have still failed to reach first place and the charity engagement with the Athletics is rapidly drawing to a close. Two gaffes today and one tomorrow close this visit of the Macks, leaving the Sox still seven games against the tallensers before the end of the season. Other teams have as many, or more.

Based on past performances, the Sox must go east in first place to have a shot at the pennant. They have 20 games here on their new home stay, but only three of them are with Connie's people, and there are no other soft spots in the Johnson circuit.

Washington comes Thursday. By then, no matter what success Boston has in Detroit, the Hose should be the leaders. Then they must maintain their standing against two clubs that have been difficult customers all season, for the Red Sox follow Griffith's clan.

Against these two teams the Sox will have to play better than against the Macks. They cannot afford to run bases in a careless manner against clubs which can turn the tide of a game on a lone tally. They must do everything in expert fashion, maintaining their high mechanical gear and vastly improving their brain pans.

The Sox have the best chance they have ever had for a pennant. They possess the punch, the pitching and the fielding excellence. If they are beaten out it will be their own faults.

Happy Felsch, though he receives fewer press notices than some of his mates, has been a valuable factor in the recent successes of the Hose clan.
