

years. Why don't we get some of it? Ask the railroads and the commission firms who are holding it for higher prices. There is a world of potatoes. Why don't we get potatoes at 30c a peck? Again ask the railroads and commission houses.

But our God, the force that produced a Billy Sunday, is not idle. And he sharpens his lead pencil and talks with our Guardian Angel, he says: "Say, folks, you all have got a backyard. Plow it up! Buy a shovel and a hoe—plant wheat, corn, onions, potatoes, cabbage, beets, sweet potatoes and beans. Raise what you want and solve the cost of high living. In that way, the good old U. S. A. can beat the high cost of living. Go to it."

Then, after peace has come, let congress coax Mr. Robert Lansing and President Wilson to have a universal peace commission appointed—one for each nation—and let the majority vote of that commission settle all international questions and disputes.

See that great motion picture, "War Brides," and learn the lesson of another picture called "Intolerance." Let us have peace, but let it be a peace with honor. Once again, the stars and stripes forever and the "Monroe doctrine" for a blanket over the western half of the world.—Jack Minor.

HE SHOULD WORRY

He—The styles in woman's clothes are scandalous.

She—Don't worry, dear. They'll change before you get me any.
