DR. CALDAS WILL NOT BE DOWNED

Says the World Will Yet Recognize That He is Right.

HIS YELLOW FEVER SERUM.

It Proved to be Unsatisfactory to the United States Military Surgeons in Cuba.

New York, Sept. 5.—Dr. Caldas, the Brazilian physician, whose serum for the prevention of yellow fever failed to satisfy the United States military surgeons in Cuba, will soon be released from Hoffman Island, where he has been in quarantine, and will return to Brazil to continue his experiments.

Dr. Caldas talked to a reporter last night over the long distance telephone from Hoffman Island.

"I am to be released at once," said Dr. Caldas. "I return immediately south."

"My yellow fever tests are by no means over. Against the reports of failure in Cuba I place the long record of my experiments in Mexico and Brazil. The Chinese physician, who treated fifty cases, with a successful result in 43."

"It is not my belief that what happened in Cuba could be a failure of the serum. Three people were allowed to be bitten by mosquitoes that had preyed upon yellow fever patients; these three died. Then the same mosquito was applied to a man who had been treated with my serum, and when he fell ill the gentleman said it was yellow fever."

"That is not my diagnosis. I believe that had any autopsy been performed on the fatal cases due to this same insect it would have shown that they died of blood poisoning, not of yellow fever and that is what killed the patient who was treated with the serum and then exposed to the infected insect."

"Blood poisoning from a mosquito bite, you say?"

"Certainly. I have been working on the yellow fever serum and vaccine for eight years and I am able to speak with some authority on the subject. The world will yet recognize that I am right in this matter."

HOW IT HAPPENED. Details of Reception of Chun by Emperor William.

Berlin, Sept. 4.—Emperor William's reception of the Chinese mission of Prince Chun, which took place today at Potsdam, was marked with all the severity consistent with a audience nominally friendly.

The Chinese representative, on entering the palace, was not accorded a salute by the garde du corps. The emperor received him seated. The bullets and epaulettes of his majesty's white uniform were enveloped in crepe.

Prince Chun bowed three times on entering and leaving. Emperor William remained seated during the reading of a letter from the great Ameer, however, he relaxed his stern demeanor and welcomed the envoy courteously and subsequently, accompanied by his adjutant, he called on Prince Chun at the Orange Hall in the evening.

The emperor had evidently arranged the entire ceremony with a view of impressing Prince Chun with the feeling that the ceremony meant explanation, which was formerly, powerful and friendly relations will again prevail.

From the mouth of your imperial highness I have just received an expression of the deep regret of the emperor of China. I readily believe your imperial brother personally stood aloof from this crime and the subsequent acts of violence against the inviolable legations and peaceful foreigners.

The latter must not delude themselves with the belief that they are able to obtain atonement and pardon for their guilt by this expiatory mission alone. They will be judged by their future conduct in accordance with the laws of nations.

According to the Lokai Anzeiger, the Chinese envoy will breakfast tomorrow with the emperor and empress.

There was apparently little public interest in the mission among the people of Berlin. A small but unobtrusive crowd watched Prince Chun driving in the park.

Ask Him

Ask your doctor what he thinks of Ayer's Sarsaparilla. He knows the formula, so ask him if there is anything better for purifying the blood, strengthening the digestion, and building up the nerves.

Follow his advice, whatever it may be.

"I have taken Ayer's Sarsaparilla every spring since 1848. As a blood-purifying and nerve-strengthening medicine it cannot be equalled."

joined them. The result was the murder of your majesty's minister, Baron von Ketteler, a man who as long as he occupied his post at Pekin, paid careful attention to the interests of our country and to whom we are bound to pay our special acknowledgments.

We regret most deeply that Baron von Ketteler met so terrible an end. The fact that we were not in a position to take protective measures was painful to our sense of responsibility.

It was this feeling of responsibility which prompted us to erect a monument on the spot as a sign that the crime should not remain unexpiated. Further, we have sent to Germany, with this letter, the Imperial Prince Tsun Tsai Song, heading a special mission.

Prince Chun, our own brother, will assure your majesty how deeply the events of the past year have grieved us and how deeply feelings of penitence and shame still animate us.

Your majesty sent your troops from a rebellion and restored peace, for the welfare of your nation. We have therefore commanded Prince Chun to express personally to your majesty our thanks for your efforts in promoting peace. We cherish the hope that your majesty's indignation will be replaced by the calm friendship that our relations between our empires will be even more extensive and of a more intimate and beneficial character than hitherto is our firm assurance.

PRINCE CHUN'S ADDRESS. Prince Chun, in delivering the letter, said: I am in a position to assure your majesty that the emperor, my most gracious master, stood aloof from these complications which brought misfortune upon China and upon myself.

Nevertheless, in accordance with the customs of thousands of years, the emperor of China has taken the blame on his own sacred person. I have, therefore, the task of expressing to your majesty the most cordial feelings of the emperor, my illustrious master, toward your imperial majesty and the whole imperial family.

I hope the passing cloud will only intensify the succeeding sunshine and mutual friendship of the two great empires. Let them understand the value of each other better.

EMPEROR WILLIAM'S REPLY. It is no joyous or festive occasion, nor the fulfillment of a simple act of courtesy which brings your imperial highness to me, but a deeply-melancholy and very serious event.

My master to the emperor of the emperor of China has been slain in the capital of China by the murderous weapons of Chinese soldiers acting under superior command.

An unnumbered crime, which is treated as infamous by international law and the usages of all nations.

From the mouth of your imperial highness I have just received an expression of the deep regret of the emperor of China. I readily believe your imperial brother personally stood aloof from this crime and the subsequent acts of violence against the inviolable legations and peaceful foreigners.

All the greater the just reeling rest on his advisers and government.

The latter must not delude themselves with the belief that they are able to obtain atonement and pardon for their guilt by this expiatory mission alone. They will be judged by their future conduct in accordance with the laws of nations.

According to the Lokai Anzeiger, the Chinese envoy will breakfast tomorrow with the emperor and empress.
