

FISH AND GAME WARREN'S REPORT

Fish and Game Commissioner Sharp's second annual report to the governor gives a glowing account of the good work done at the state fish hatchery and the rapidly increasing usefulness of this institution. Mr. Sharp says that the production of trout fry this year has almost doubled last year's, owing to the fact that the commission was able to procure fully a million of the eggs of the native black spotted variety of trout from Fish Lake in Sevier county, and successfully transport them to the hatchery with a minimum of loss. These eggs were procured by the middle of June after the hatchery had been cleared of nearly a million of eastern brook trout fry, which had been hatched in January and distributed in the early month of the year. This late spawning of our native trout comes in very conveniently in view of the fact that the eastern brook trout spawn in November and December, the eastern lake trout in December and January, and the rainbow trout in February and March. The hatchery has been in use during the entire year with the exception of ten or fifteen days in October when the fish troughs were being repaired. Following is a list of the plantings made by the fish commissioner, with the various counties to which they were consigned:

- Boxelder—February 28, Boxelder creek, 20,000 eastern brook.
Cache—Logan, Blacksmith Fork and other streams, Feb. 25, 105,000 eastern brook and Sept. 10, 100,000 native.
Carbon—May 16, Fish creek and tributaries, 200,000 eastern brook.
Beaver—April 23, 25,000 eastern brook.
Davis—North Mill Creek, May 1, 10,000 eastern brook; Oct. 17, Weber river, above Devil's Gate, 200,000 native; Emery—Huntington, Ferrin and Cottonwood creeks, May 16, 30,000 eastern brook.
Grand—March 20, Mill creek, 35,000 eastern brook.
Judd—April 6, Salt creek, 20,000 eastern brook; Sept. 6, Burdick station pond, 75,000 native.
Millard—April 23, Round Valley, 20,000 eastern brook; Oak creek, 5,000 eastern brook; Kanosh, 5,000 eastern brook.
Plute—March 20, Cottonwood creek, 9,000 eastern brook; Beaver creek, 9,000 eastern brook; City creek, 15,000 eastern brook.
Summit—April 20, tributaries of Weber river, 100,000 eastern brook; Sept. 24, East Canyon creek, 50,000 native; Weber river and tributaries, 125,000 native.
Salt Lake County—April 25, Little Cottonwood creek, 12,000 eastern brook; April 29, Red Butte creek, 5,000 eastern brook; Emigration creek, 5,000 eastern brook; May 1, Lamb's canyon creek, 10,000 eastern brook; May 4, Hill creek, 10,000 eastern brook; May 10, 20,000; May 18, Big Cottonwood canyon above the stairs, 8,000 eastern brook; Aug. 6, Spring creek, 10,000; Aug. 22, Little Cottonwood canyon, 35,000 native; Mill tonwood canyon, 35,000 native; Parley's canyon, 35,000 native; Aug. 25, Brighton and Phoebe lakes, 25,000 native each; Aug. 29, Lake Blanche, 35,000 native; Big Cottonwood creek, 15,000 native; Oct. 4, Hill Creek, above state street, 1,000 native; Oct. 5, mouth of spring creek, 15,000 native; Oct. 20, Big Cottonwood, near hatchery, 25,000 native; May 6, Jordan river, 50,000 eastern lake; June 24, lakes in Big Cottonwood canyon, 50,000 eastern lake.
Tooele—May 23, streams near Grants-ville, 10,000, and Clover creek, 5,000 eastern brook.

Utah—March 15, 4,000; May 28, 4,000 eastern brook; October 28, 20,000 native.
Utah—April 6, 25,000; Spanish Fork, 35,000; Provo river, 45,000, all eastern brook; May 9, creek tributary to Utah lake, 200,000 native.
Weber—February 28, tributaries of the Ogden River, 100,000 eastern brook; September 10, Ogden river below dam, 100,000 native.
Wasatch—April 15, streams tributary to Provo river from Charleston to canyon above Hallstone's ranch, 100,000 eastern brook; September 19, Provo river, 100,000 native.
In addition to the foregoing general distribution, there were hatched at the hatchery 70,000 grayling and 5,000 land-locked salmon, which were liberated at the hatchery. The grayling were turned out because they do not feed artificially in the hatchery troughs like trout but prefer to rustle for their own food in the natural way after they are four or five days old, and as there were no suitable nursery rearing ponds on the hatchery grounds, it was deemed advisable to place them in the spring runs near the hatchery. An effort was made at first to hold them in a small pond near the hatchery, but as the fry were so very small when they were put out, the finest screens would not hold them in the pond, and they escaped into the waters of the spring runs. A few of the land-locked salmon were held in a small ditch pond on the grounds but most of them escaped like the grayling, and will no doubt like them show up all right in a year or two.
Besides the foregoing distribution, there were sold to private parties 43,000 trout fry of various kinds. The total number of fry that have been hatched at the hatchery during the year of 1901 is 2,350,000. Only two small lots, one of 4,000 to Uintah county and one of 5,000 to Kanosh, Millard county, died in transit by wagon after leaving the railroad. Commissioner Sharp is much pleased with the effect of the planting in the various streams of the state. Trout planted in the spring of 1900 have already grown to the length of 12 and 14 inches, and weigh from three quarters to a little over a pound. Mr. Sharp is enthusiastic over his introduction of the eastern brook trout, and he believes that it will thrive in our streams better even than the native mountain or black-spotted variety. There are two large fish ponds now being constructed at the hatchery, covering about an acre each, and when these are completed a series of smaller ones will be built for nursery and rearing purposes. The expense for pond construction this year has been $22.55. The sum of $300 has been appropriated for this purpose for 1901-02. The legislature also made an appropriation of $500 each for substations at Fish and Panguitch lakes. The fish supply is fast becoming exhausted in these lakes. The amount being too small to do much in the way of a hatchery it has been decided to induce some intelligent persons at each of the lakes in the delicate art of stripping eggs and fertilizing them preparatory to hatching.
Mr. Sharp speaks in the highest terms of the fish laws which were passed at the last session of the legislature. He says that the increased power of search given to the wardens and officers of the law works well and has not been abused so far.
The commissioner's financial statement shows a balance of $1,331.75 of the appropriation of $1,330 for the year has been spent. The expense of running substations he puts at $100.60 each a year. The total expense for the year has been $1,014.35. The hatchery sold 2,350,000 odd fish that have been hatched at the hatchery valued at $5 a thousand would thus leave a balance of profit of $9,860.64.

CHRONIC DYSPEPSIA
of the most stubborn and distressing kind positively cured permanently by the use of MEDICAL CURE, which is now recognized in medical circles as the only specific known. No matter how long you may have aching feeling before eating, or after eating, or if your tongue is coated, or if you are subject to dizziness, or sour breath, or any of the other symptoms of dyspepsia, and you desire permanent relief, there is nothing but MEDICAL CURE that will give it to you. Beware of so-called remedies that only afford temporary help. $1.00 a bottle, 6 bottles for $5.00, express prepaid, at F. C. Schramm, Druehl & Franke, and Hill's Drug Store, or Frank Noy, Portland, Oregon, or 303 Broadway, New York.

HILL AND DEBS.

Once the Railway Magnate Met His Match.

Most of us are inclined to look upon James J. Hill as a sort of Colossus in the railway and the wider business world—as a many-sided man of many expedients, a somebody whom it would be hard to "down" on almost any proposition that he might choose to set himself upon. But he has met his equal once, at least—the story floats in here from Minneapolis.
Some years ago when there was a serious strike on Hill's road, and one labor union after another kept going out, thus tying up trains, closing construction and repair shops, piling up freight at numerous points and almost paralyzing trade and general business all along the line, Hill called in the territory, the boards of trade in Minneapolis and St. Paul appointed conference committees to work for a settlement, and these were clothed with power nearly approaching those of an arbitrator. They were to sit as a sort of court and hear both sides. Hill appeared for the railroad interests, and the strikers were represented by Eugene V. Debs, the then labor leader. The locomotive engineers on the Hill line were still at work, with every prospect of keeping out of the strike entirely, and this helped materially to strengthen Hill's hands and to give him the nerve with which he faced the situation.
He was grave, stubborn, unyielding, and he had stated his case briefly but clearly and forcibly—and then he listened with marked patience to all of Debs' arguments.
"I guess," said the railway magnate, as he arose after Debs had sat down. "I guess, Mr. Debs, you have played your last card—haven't you?"
"No," returned Debs quietly. "I think I can play another, if necessary."
