Captain Fleet Suggests That Coal Was Used Up in Storm.

SAYS THE CONDOR IS SAFE.

Almost Impossible That She Should Have Been Swamped—War Vessels Good Sailors.

Victoria, Jan. 18.—Capt. Fleet, senior officer of the Esquimault station, suggests that the overdue sloop of war, Condor, is, no doubt, sailing to Honolulu, having used up her coal, owing to the extra labor entailed on her engines by the severe storm in which she was caught on the night of the 13th. Having used up her coal, and being obliged to make sail, her progress would be slower, more especially as at this season of the year Honolulu is not in the zone of the trade winds. This, he thinks, would be the only way in which she could have been restored long ago, and, indeed, Secy. Long had contemplated turning it over soon after it fell into the possession of the marines, but in the disorganized state of the Chinese government there was no official to whom it could be handed. Mr. Wu has now been ordered by his government to receive this money and it will be given to him in the shape of a draft on the treasury, where the money is deposited, which may be readily exchanged for bills on Shanghai.

DUEL FOUGHT TO DEATH.

Meeting Occurred on Wednesday and Herr Von Bennigzen Was Wounded.

Hanover, Prussia, Jan. 18.—Herr Von Bennigzen, landrath of Hanover, and father of the noted politician Rudolph von Bennigzen, died during the night as a result of a duel fought last Wednesday with Herr Falkenhagen, a tenant of the royal estate near Springen. The duel was the outcome of the intimacy of Herr Falkenhagen with Frau von Bennigzen. The club to which Herr von Bennigzen belonged informed him of the stories in circulation. On Monday Bennigzen visited Hanover and returned to Springen the evening, accompanied by Herr Falkenhagen. The next morning Herr von Bennigzen ordered his wife to leave his house and then challenged Herr Falkenhagen. The condition of the duel was three rounds with pistols at ten paces. Herr von Bennigzen was shot in the chest by the first round. His brother witnessed the duel.

LOWER RATES FOR OREGON FLOUR

Short Line Grants Petition of Northern Dealers to Give Them Reduced Tariffs to Utah Points.

The Oregon Short Line has granted the reduction in the rate on flour asked for by Oregon millers and the O. R. & N. and on and after the 20th inst., the rate on flour from all points east of Castalia Junction to Utah points will be 40 cents, the same as on wheat. A prominent grain dealer claimed this morning that "it is all moonshine about the Utah millers having to shut down because of the reduction in the rate on flour from 52 to 40 cents. Now, look here, our millers pay 65 cents per barrel for wheat in Washington and 24 cents freight, making it 79 cents in Utah, as five bushels of wheat make a barrel of flour, and the cost of manufacture is 50 cents per barrel, there is a cost to them of $4.45, but which includes the pounds of bran and shorts from the five bushels of wheat. Now, flour in Oregon costs $3.25, and the freight from there here is $1.25, at the rate of 40 cents per cwt; an even

"Dr." Glasmann Gets a Three-to-One Medical Man's Testimony In His Favor—Controversy Still Waxing Warm.

(Special to the "News.")
Ogden, Utah, Jan. 18.—This morning Mayor Glasmann solicited the aid of three physicians to visit and inspect the patient who was sent to the isolation hospital last week and about whom there has been such controversy between the mayor and Dr. Condon, the Ogden city medical officer. The doctors adjourned to the scene and after thoroughly examining the suspect they treated the following report:
"To William Glasmann, Mayor and Chairman of the Health committee:
"At your request we have visited the man at the pest house at Ogden, Utah, and he is suffering from smallpox. We had him disrobe and after a thorough investigation and examination we find absolutely no evidence of any other disease having had the smallpox."
