

MEETING OF THE PEDAGOGUES

Interesting Program of Utah State Teachers' Association.

ASSEMBLES HERE MONDAY

Ninth Annual Convention—A Big Attendance of Teachers is Anticipated—Five Days' Session.

The program for the State Teachers' association has been completed. It outlines the work of the convention for the five days beginning on Monday next. That it will be a notable and profitable gathering not a single educator doubts. Regarding the dissatisfaction of the Ogden teachers there is the greatest regret on the part of representatives of education from other portions of the state, and it is quite generally felt that the Junction City teachers will be the ones if they remain away. It is the hope of all that they will see their way clear to attend the various sessions. The full program is as follows: Monday afternoon, University of Utah, 1 p. m.—Meeting of the secondary school and college sections. 1 p. m.—Parents' meeting. Lecture: "The Educational Forces of the Home and the School, and the Influence of the Kindergarten on Higher Education," by Dr. James L. Hughes. SOME OF THE THINGS AT THE FAIR

WITH THE FISH

An instructive exhibit that is one of the star features. "Oh, look at that sweet little trout with whiskers." The lady made a pardonable mistake, for how was she to know that it was a catfish in the aquarium. "Oh, that is nothing," said George Pugsley who in Game and Fish Warden Sharp's absence has charge of an interesting exhibit that forms such an attraction to the layman at the fair. Then he administered corporal punishment to a big pugacious rainbow trout that was savagely chasing another around the tank and hitting him in spots that hurt. This old fellow had a visitor from the other tank adjacent this morning in the form of a black spot trout, and the way was cleared him around and out there. Then a lady came along and said "Reginald, look at that sweet trout and the dear little baby, how affectionate they seem to be."

The man with a mind pleasurable to the contents of the tanks in the tank the east entrance to the exposition building is at least instructive. He may there learn from the attendant in charge that the little fish in the first tank have a nice clean paper wafer for breakfast every morning, while the more blubbery neighbors are fed on pieces of juley liver. Even the old sluggish carp who takes up so much room and gets him generally disliked on account of his sluggish temperament wakes up and makes things exceedingly strenuous and interesting for his fellows, the much maligned sucker and the mudpuppy, when the breakfast bell rings. Here at this exhibit may be seen the pretty little sun fish with his saucy scales and his retiring disposition. He is said, however, to taste as well as he looks, while as an aquarium he has no peer, even if he would give to be heavier than one pound. But when it comes to real edible fish the mountain herring is essentially the fact. Down at the fair there are now being sold, Mr. Sharp left the hatchery with about 60 good specimens, but owing to their delicate constitutions they have nearly all since turned up dead. The fact that the fish of this fish is decidedly oily he is considered a great delicacy than a trout, but he will not keep fresh long enough to satisfy one's epurates. These fellows grow to 1 1/2 pounds in weight.

In this tank is also a German brown trout who has been banished from the presence of his kind on account of cannibalistic tendencies. It appears that the banishment was placed in with about 100 fellows, the next morning so many of them were missing. There were only 100 left and the rest had vanished as though by a conjuring trick.

Further along in another tank is to be seen a chub that is the pride of Aquarium Row. He weighs 1 1/2 pounds and is still in his teens. An adjacent is a sulky landlock salmon, who evidently does not like his surroundings, in fact his species is said to be at all well in Utah streams. He is decidedly not as lively as the tank full of rainbow trout next door. These fellows apparently are born fighters, they are very bulky each other, and a showing of police protection is almost in the aspect of the placid trout, his fellows who seem to be so easy with all the world and ask for nothing more than plenty of fresh water and their meals regularly.

Another tank contains apparently more than a thousand native black fry that have traveled considerably considering their size, having been transported to Salt Lake from Panamint lake during the course of their infantile career at a mortality loss of but 5 per cent. A foot of water is required for the efficiency of the same and fish commissioner.

The month-long at the shrine of Isaac Nelson has much to be thankful for. It is said that this department has planted this season so far 2,000,000 native black fry, a like number of native black fry, which grows to sport in the year; 300,000 rainbow trout with their varieties in correspondingly large numbers. At this rate, providing the same laws are lived up to, the creeks and streams of Utah should be veritable bubbling grounds for the angler's search of a full crew.

"I AM A WELL WOMAN ONCE MORE," So Say Thousands of Women Who Have Been Cured of Female Weakness By Pe-ru-na.

Mrs. Mary Miller, 17 Old Shield Block, Indianapolis, Ind., writes: "Peruna is a splendid medicine. I was troubled for five years with frequent headache, dizziness and shooting pains. I grew thin and pale. The doctors tried in vain to benefit me, but nothing seemed to do me any good until I tried Peruna. Eleven bottles made me a well woman once more. I am now enjoying perfect health, my appetite is good, my head clear and I am entirely without pain, thanks to Peruna."—Mrs. Mary Miller.

Mrs. E. E. Richards, 213 W. 10th St., N. Y. City, writes: "It is certainly a pleasure to recommend so reliable a medicine as Peruna. Last year my health was broken down, and it took all my courage and nerve force to drag around. My husband bought a bottle of Peruna for me to try; and I bless the day he did so, for my recovery started from the first dose and before a month had passed I felt like a different woman as I was well and strong."—Mrs. E. E. Richards.

Pe-ru-na Eradicates the Whole System of Catarrh. This explains why it so quickly and promptly cures catarrhal complaints so peculiar to the female sex. Pe-ru-na seems so admirably adapted to catarrhal troubles of women that it rarely fails to instantly relieve and promptly cure. No sooner does a woman begin to take Peruna than she feels that a cure is in sight. Sometimes it is necessary to take it for weeks and even months, but the good effect becomes apparent at once and gradually continues.

After an Illness of Years. Wife of Ex-Marshal Phillips Passes to A Needed Rest. Death invaded the home of ex-Marshal William C. Phillips at the family residence in the Twentieth ward at 1:30 this morning, marking as his victim the faithful wife who has shared his joys and sorrows for the past 41 years. For a long time Mrs. Phillips had been afflicted with an illness that reduced her to a condition approaching invalidism. Her suffering was severe, but throughout it all she was brave and uncompromising to a degree that won for her the love and admiration of all who knew her. In every sense she was a woman of domestic habits and shrank from all unnecessary publicity. Her home was her world and in that she moved and ruled with loving kindness and strict attention to the wants of those to whom she was so devoted. As a wife she was most faithful, as a mother most affectionate; and as a woman most true. Mrs. Phillips was a native of South Wales and 59 years of age. It was her lot to cross the ocean on the same ship—the George Washington—that bore Captain Phillips, the man destined to be her future husband. The acquaintanceship that had been enjoyed before
