THE SALAD SEASON; SOME GOOD RECIPES

SPANISH SALAD.

Peel and slice four medium-sized tomatoes and seed and shred fine one small green pepper. Arrange these on lettuce leaves in a salad-bowl; stone and slice a dozen olives and mix them through the salad. Have all ice-cold. Make a French dressing, adding to it a teaspoonful of minced olives, of a dozen drops of onion-juice, and pour this over the salad about five minutes before it is to be eaten. Mix it well with the salad before serving.

BOHEMIA SALAD.

Yolk of one or two raw eggs, one or two young onions or leeks, three table-spoonfuls of salad oil, one tablespoonful of vinegar, some lettuce, and slices of beet root, salt and mustard. Take the yolk of one or two raw eggs, according to the size of the salad you require, beat them up well, add a little salt and mustard, and chop up one or two young onions or leeks about the size of grass; then add the salad oil and the vinegar, and beat the whole up into a thick sauce. Cut in the salad, and put thin slices of beet-root at the top. Sprinkle a little salt over it, and do not stir it up till the moment you use it.

WALDORF SALAD.

Take good-sized apples and pare them carefully, and scoop out a good deal of the inside to make a cup; fill the cup with finely chopped celery dressed with a rich mayonnaise, and serve the filled apples on lettuce leaves. The salad would not be good made with a French dressing.

PINEAPPLE SALAD.

This is one of the best of all fruit salads, served either during the meal or as a sweet course at the end, both of which forms are suggested. For the first, pick up the pineapple in rather large bits and put in a glass dish, and put strawberries over the top. Cover with French dressing, and stand the dish on a platter on which is a quantity of broken ice. Or, to vary the salad, prepare as above, but pass mayonnaise with it, besides the dressing. To turn this into a sweet dish, add a few cherries over the top, and pour the juice over all; serve in the ice-bath as before.

CAULIFLOWER SALAD.

Boil a head of cauliflower, throw in cold water until wanted, then tear apart, dry on a soft towel, put in a salad-bowl, pour over a teaspoonful of mayonnaise, garnish with lettuce leaves and rings of hard-boiled eggs. Serve immediately.

CHERRY SALAD.

They are stoned, laid on lettuce, sprinkled with powdered parsley, and French dressing is poured over, and the whole is allowed to stand for a while, when the juice is turned out and poured over the second time. Time, 15 minutes.

A "SCENE OF SPLENDOR."

The costumes worn by the twelve hundred characters in the beautiful spectacular production of "Jerusalem and the Crusades," one of the many startling features in Ringling Bros. World's Greatest Shows, are built in correct designs from the most costly fabrics, silks, satins, velvets and cloth of gold, which, with the gorgeous horse trappings, armor and accoutrements, cost a fortune alone.
