

SIELOFF FOUND MANY HORSESHOES

Thought it Was Good Omen, but Trainers Imposed on Him.

WORKING AT WARM SPRINGS.

Little Jones Boys Will "Go On" as a Preliminary to Friday Night's Contest at Grand Theater.

It is a well known fact that professional boxers are very superstitious and the trainer who does not believe in signs and "omens" is a rare individual.

Every morning he does his road work on East Temple street and runs to about Twelfth South and back.

Yesterday morning they went out on a special with the exception that the trainers took along with them two or three dozen horseshoes.

They probably mean you will win if you slip one in your right glove.

When Sieloff and his assistants returned from their trip, a blacksmith called at the quarters and collected all the shoes.

Managers Kelly stated this morning that the little Jones boys, who delighted the crowd at the Theater on last Friday night, would furnish one of the preliminaries to the McCarthy-Sieloff bout.

ney and Markham will go six rounds for the other. The question of referee has been settled. Both boxers have agreed on Von Busch for that position.

AN ATTEMPT TO BRIBE.

Inducements to McCloskey to Give Williams the Worst of It.

The following was written by W. E. Good in the Spokane Review:

"I have it from no less a person than McCloskey himself that the afternoon before the meeting the manager referred to called at the Grand hotel and asked for 'Mac'.

"What do you want, all told?" asked McCloskey, in lieu of the uppercut.

"Why, we think we are entitled to the franchise and if you will go in with Lucas and vote it to the men behind me we will pay you $1000."

McCloskey thought it well to carry the matter further and suggested that the former manager call on Lucas, as the president was the proper man to make the deal.

"Harris believed that he was negotiating with the present owners of the Spokane club when he got a letter written on an old Spokane letterhead, and the matter was seriously considered for a time.

McCloskey was shown the article last night and admitted that it was true. He was very much surprised that it had gotten out and said he wished nothing had been said of the matter, as it does not do the name of baseball any good to have such stuff circulated.

IS BRIT DODGING?

Rumor that He is Trying to Side-step Match With Corbett.

San Francisco, Jan. 27.—Is Jimmy Britt afraid to meet Young Corbett in the roped arena? It was this line of work which gave rise to the rumors that Spokane was applying for admission to the coast league and would desert Lucas.

CHAMPIONS WHO MARRY.

Story About "Young Corbett" Will Not Down—An Example.

Young Corbett, it is rumored, will marry and settle down. This, of course, is commendable resolution; but can the young admirer of the bright lights stick to such a resolve for any length of time?

At this juncture a leveled hand opened the door and a handsome face appeared in the aperture. "Hand it here, dear!" quoth the face.

And with a stammering, "Yes, my love!" the champion handed the whole wad to his wife, who calmly skinned off a wad of bills from the pile, handed it to the steward and retreated with the currency.

Thousands of Women Have Kidney Trouble and Never Suspect It.

Almost every one, from personal experience, knows that the effects of any kind of severe physical strain are felt, first of all in the small of the back—in other words, in those Vital Organs, the Kidneys.

WOMEN suffer untold misery because the nature of their disease is not always correctly understood; in many cases when doctoring, they are led to believe that womb trouble or female weakness of some sort is responsible for their ills.

YOUR poor health makes you nervous, irritable and at times dependent; but thousands of just such suffering or broken-down women are being restored to health and strength every day by the use of that wonderful discovery, Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy.

THERE ARE OTHERS BESIDE JOHN BECK Parties in Colorado and New Mexico Working on Rubber Weed Industry. INVENTION BY A DENVER MAN. Huge Machine Built of Iron and Timbers Engaged in Chewing Up the Weed. Two weeks ago the "News" printed a story to the effect that John Beck, the well known mining man of Utah, had discovered a substitute for rubber in the "milk" from a certain weed that is said to grow prolifically throughout the inter-mountain region. This discovery was made eight years ago. Since that time Mr. Beck has been working on the proposition at odd times and by experiments made has demonstrated that he has discovered a good thing. The story was copied in numerous newspapers throughout the country with the result that it is claimed that similar discoveries have been made in New Mexico and Colorado. The Denver Post to hand has an illustrated article upon the new discovery. This is what it says regarding the Denver rubber plant: THE DENVER MACHINE. In the rear of a room at 2621 Curtis street there is a huge machine built of iron and heavy timbers that is being kept busy these days chewing a weed. Hour after hour the machine goes pounding away, chewing hundreds of pounds of a plant that in its dried condition has the appearance of any common weed that grows on the prairie. And in that chewing machine a wonderful machine has been constructed because one day a man was chewing the weed and found it was the best way to extract rubber from the plant. In the discovery of this plant the rubber industry of the country promises to be changed. Incidentally, the greatest product since the sugar beet will be found within Colorado's doors. No longer will the merchant be forced to go to the tropical countries of South America for rubber, for right here in Colorado, at the very threshold of Denver, a plant grows that rains from 10 to 25 per cent pure rubber. While Dr. Sol Ringolsky of 1803 Curtis street was the prime mover in the discovery of the plant, it is H. H. Well-er of the Modern Machine works much credit is due for the clever machine he invented. The story of the work connected with the discovery is one of interest. It can not be better told than in the own words of Dr. Ringolsky, who has organized a company and will put the

Colorado rubber product on the market. Here is the story of Dr. Ringolsky, and to understand it all it is well worth a trip to the shop of the Modern Machine Works to see the "chewing" machine at work. "There have been many inquiries about the rubber industry," said Dr. Ringolsky, "as this discovery will have much to do with the advancement of our state, I am willing to tell of it in detail. "PRESENT RUBBER SUPPLY. "Rubber, as furnished the markets of the world today is produced from a milky exudation furnished by several tropical plants and trees. Incisions are made in the trees and the milky latex that oozes out is spread on cloths, or on the bodies of natives collecting the same. After a sufficient thickness has been obtained by repeated coatings, the product, hardened by exposure to the sun or artificial heat, is peeled off and is ready for market in its crude state. It is then prepared in this and European countries for manufactures by grinding the sheets in water for the purpose of freeing and separating it from all impurities, after which it is dried and subjected to the rolling process of sheeted rollers, one of which revolves faster than the other. When the crude product is thoroughly cleaned it is ready to be impregnated with a small per cent of sulphur, the quantity of which is determined by the hardness or elasticity required by the finished product. "Various other ingredients, as sulphate of zinc, white, plaster of Paris, pitch, lampblack, etc., are employed for the purpose of hardening, the selection of which and the quantities used depend on ideas of the manufacturer and the purpose for which it is to be used. It is then subjected to a heating process at a temperature varying from 300 degrees to 320 degrees Fahrenheit, under pressure. "I could not begin to detail a list of the practical uses of rubber, many of which are held back because of their high price. A raw material of the price of which varies from 65 cents to $1.25 per pound, the limited and constantly decreasing supply and because of the ever increasing demand, our imports of the crude material for the year 1902, according to the latest statistics obtainable, exceed 20,000 tons. The importation of waste or scrap rubber, principally from Europe, reached in 1902 the enormous total of 22,000,000 pounds, which is an indication of the scarcity and value of the pure material. "ACCIDENTAL DISCOVERY. "The expectations and prospects are that Colorado will soon be in a position to supply the ever increasing deficit in the rubber markets of the world. Our product is of as good a quality and grade as the very best pure 'Para,' as many know. Our Colorado rubber plant, otherwise known as 'Asterella Richard-sonia,' was accidentally discovered. It grows abundantly over the arid regions at altitudes of about 7,000 feet, appearing requiring no irrigation, and has heretofore been considered a pest, but promises to equal if not exceed the interest manifested and capital invested in the cultivation of sugar beets. It has been demonstrated that the rubber-wood can be transplanted and grown from seed, and improved by cultivation, which will undoubtedly place many thousands of acres of worthless land on a more than paying basis. "My attention was first called to it in the early part of last summer, when it was brought to me for analysis. After subjecting it to numerous tests, both chemical and mechanical, I succeeded in obtaining a fair percentage of pure rubber, and this opened the way and encouraged further investigations. The problem presented was to extract or separate the rubber contained in the roots economically. "DENVER CAPITAL INTERESTED. "After repeated and exhausted tests with benzine and other materials, I came to the conclusion that chemicals were not practical. The only thing left was to get some mechanical process that would do the work. I had tasted the root many times and in chewing it found that I could get the pure rubber after raving away for some time. After consulting a number of inventors I went to H. A. Welcher of the Model Machine Works and told him my story. His ideas expressed by drawings looked practical, so much so that I interested capital to go in with me and erect a machine. The machine is composed of Denver business men, and we are now ready to sell our friends that we have accomplished what we set out to do. The machine as completed is simple in its details. From tests it is known that the plant will run from 10 to 25 per cent pure rubber. "The machine will save all the rubber, and at a cost of 10 cents a pound. When one thinks of the extensive area of this plant and the cultivation in sight it is safe to say that the supply of 'root' is unlimited." "Is the worst disease on earth, yet the easiest to cure.
