VICTORIA ALSO QUITE ACTIVE.

Morning Call Was Spirited and Brokers New Hope for Future Business.

While the values were not large, the volume of business done on the exchange today was better than for some time past, and brokers, accordingly, were highly elated over the outlook. The star feature of the call was the business done in New York, which changed hands at such a terrific pace that both caller and market were bewildered. The stock showed appreciable gains, and in the trading went from 16 to 17 1/2 cents, at which figures a total of 16,600 shares changed hands.

PARK CITY MINES.

Scottish Chief Ore at the Mackintosh Sampling Works.

About 50 tons of silver-lead ore is at the Mackintosh sampler from the Scottish Chief awaiting shipment to the valley smelters. Manager Lawrence says that about 250 sacks of ore have been taken from the 200-foot level, which will show an average of 900 ounces silver and $5.50 in gold, screenings from which will average 100 ounces and $3 in gold. The streak from which this ore was taken has pinched out to a narrow streak, but it gives indication of widening out again in the near future. The old boilers from the Marsac mill were taken out this week and shipped away. They are in pretty good condition and will be used again as second-hand boilers. The old mill is practically all down at present, though it will be some time before the debris is entirely cleaned up. The large brick stack will probably not be taken down until spring. There is undoubtedly considerable wealth in the dust of the old chimneys and also in the bricks, and an effort will be made to save this before the old landmark is demolished.

Manager Dusseldorf of the Comstock was in camp Tuesday. He reports the mine opening up nicely at development work progresses. The drift has been advanced to a point 250 feet to the west of the shaft, and some good ore has been encountered. The distance to the main ore chute, opened up on the 250-foot level, has only been worked half way. It is to this chute that work is now being directed. The management is anxious to get the power drills installed, as they would facilitate work to a great extent. These drills will probably be put in ere long. Those in authority at the Wabash maintain that there is nothing new at the mine, though outsiders claim that ore has been uncovered in the progress of development work during the past two weeks. This, they claim, is the cause for the flurry in the stock.

MAJESTIC ORE FOR OCTOBER.

Thirty-seven Car Loads Shipped Which Netted Company About Eight Thousand Dollars.

BOND ISSUE ALMOST PLACED.

Only $90,000 Worth Yet to be Sold—Management Will Have a $200,000 Fund to Draw On.

Probably the most important bit of information that has come from the Majestic Copper company's properties this long while is contained in a communication received today from the offices of Chapman, Mucklow & Bossen, fiscal agents of the company at Hartford, Conn. During the month of October, according to the report, a total of 37 carloads, or 1,500 tons, of ore were dispatched to the Salt Lake smelters, from which a net profit of $8,000 was realized. The shipments came from only two mines—the Harrington & Hickory and the Old Hickory, not a pound coming from the O. K.

A Nones Sensation.

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 13.—Little Creek, in the vicinity of home, is the scene of the newest gold sensation. It is credited with pans giving from $100 to $1000. It is more than 40 feet to bedrock and is as wide and deep as it is rich. Up to the middle of October, from June 12, gold dust and bullion amounting to $225,500 had been entered at the Nones custom house as the product of the Nones mine. Enough has been received since then to make a total of more than $4,000,000. It was anticipated in the spring that the production would exceed $5,000,000 had been entered at the Nones custom house as the product of the Nones mine. THE OGDEN-GOLDFIELD.

Company's Directors Declare Second Dividend of $100 Per Share.

At a meeting of the Ogden-Goldfield Mining company's directors, held in Ogden Saturday night, another dividend of $100 per share was declared, this being the second dividend of that amount within a week. The company, which is composed almost entirely of Ogden men, received advice yesterday that a carload of ore consisting of about 25 tons and sampled at Reno would bring $20,563. The two dividends already paid give to the stockholders the par value of the stock, which is $200 per share. The Ogden-Goldfield Mining company was organized to operate the Jumbo vein and placed business in the hands of J. M. Zinn in Ogden to secure funds to develop the property. This was last April at a time when most Ogden people were very loth to go into any kind of mining scheme. However, friends and relatives of young Zinn had a great deal of faith in the judgment of the young man, and a number of them joined together to organize the Ogden-Goldfield Mining company. The shares were placed at $200 and $1000 was raised which was expended without bringing the business to the paying point.

Mining in Millard.

Oasis Company Has Valuable Claims in The Drum District. If variety counts for anything, the Oasis Mining company, operating in the Drum district, Millard county, ought to be doing big things before long. The company owns a number of claims, one a point 20 miles from Oasis, from which ore has been shipped, running all the way from $12 to $30 in gold, and from 10 to 24 per cent copper. The ore also contains some iron and is said to be a splendid smelting proposition. Jed Clive, one of the principal owners of this property is enthusiastic over the outlook and says that if a railroad once penetrates the district, success is undoubtedly assured. At present the company contents itself with occasional shipments, one of which is expected to reach here in a few days, and will net the owners a good sum.
