TRUTH AND LIBERTY.

FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 1904. SALT LAKE CITY, UTAH.

One hundred more buyers in your store yesterday might have made the day a record-breaker for you—and ten inches more of advertising space would probably have drawn them there.

"Reams are households which the great must gaudier" and "big stores" must have at their heads BIG MEN, who think in big figures, who do big things (like advertising) in big ways.

FIFTY-FOURTH YEAR.

STEAMER BURNS TO WATER'S EDGE.

The Mohawk was on Way from New York to New London, Conn.

MOST OF THE CREW RESCUED.

Flames Soon Passed Beyond Control And She Was Abandoned To Her Fate.

THEN HER BOILER EXPLODED.

Lies Fast on a Rocky Bar—Will be a Total Loss—All Attempts at Rescue Unsuccessful.

New York, Nov. 18.—While bound to Long Island sound on one of her regular passages from this city to New London, Conn., the freight steamer Mohawk, of the Central Vermont line, took fire off Horton's point, N. I., and was burned to the water's edge early today. Her crew, excepting the watchman, were rescued by a passing steamer, and taken to Fall River, Mass. It is believed the Mohawk will be a total loss, and that little, if any, of her cargo will be saved.

The Mohawk left New York last evening with a full cargo of general merchandise, including two women. As the steamer passed Horton point the light-house keeper saw flames breaking from the boat, and a few minutes later she was wrapped in flames. Assistance was sent at once to the scene, and the Fall River steamer Boston, which had closely followed the Mohawk down the sound, and those on board the burning steamer were taken off. The flames had passed beyond control, however, and she was abandoned to her fate. A few moments after the Boston had resumed her interrupted voyage there came the sound of a heavy explosion and a mass of burning debris, accompanied by a burst of flames, shot up from the center of the abandoned freighter. When the flames subsided the steamer was lying fast on the bar off Horton's point, and only a portion of her upper works showed above the surface. This gradually disappeared, as the fire ate its way into the hull of the boat. The lighthouse keeper was unable to make out the name of the abandoned steamer, and it was not until the rescued crew had reached Fall River that the name of the abandoned craft was made known. Attempts to send assistance from shore to the burning steamer were unsuccessful.

RESCUES OF THE MOHAWK.

Fall River, Mass., Nov. 18.—The steamer Boston brought 27 persons from the Mohawk, including 25 of the crew (14 men, 11 women, and 1 child) and the watchman of the steamer. The light watchman of the Mohawk, a Swede named Larsen, was rescued. It is supposed he was burned to death.

ALL NEGROES ORDERED TO LEAVE RENO, NEV.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—A dispatch to the Tribune from Reno, Nev., says: "The chief of the police has issued an order that all negroes must leave town within 24 hours. Already over a dozen negroes have obeyed the command, and more are leaving by every train. This order is the result of a number of depredations committed by negroes in Reno during the last few weeks. George Burns was the first offender. He attempted to assault a white girl and narrowly escaped lynching. He was sentenced to 15 years in the penitentiary. Other minor events followed, but the culmination came when a negro attempted to assassinate Officer Acres."

ON THE ISTHMUS.

No Alarm Felt Over Recent Occurrences. Washington, Nov. 18.—No alarm is felt at the offices of the Panama canal commission on account of the recent landings of marines. The members of the commission have been advised fully concerning the trouble and today received a cablegram from Gen. Davis, commander of the canal zone, saying that everything is now quiet.

SOCIALIST AGITATORS.

In Several Italian Towns They Have Been Arrested. Rome, Nov. 18.—The police in several towns have arrested socialist agitators who have been trying to distribute among the soldiers leaflets entitled "The Campaign" inciting them to rebellion. The most energetic action has been taken by the war office to check even an attempt to create disorders. The officers are supported by public opinion.

DRIVERS' STRIKE SPREADS.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—The strike of furniture wagon drivers which led to street riots yesterday, spread today to other branches in the Furniture Manufacturers' Association. Picket lines were established by the strikers and several hundred were practically in a state of siege, the striking unionists warning away drivers of lumber and coal wagons loaded with material and fuel for the beleaguered plants.

the officers recommended by the committee were elected. The executive committee was empowered to act as a committee on credentials at future meetings in order to save time and expedite the convention work.

NAN PATTERSON'S CASE.

New York, Nov. 18.—Although two full court days had been taken up in securing seven of the 12 jurors who will decide the fate of Nan Patterson, the former show girl, who is charged with the murder of Caesar Young, the incidents in the court room have tended to keep up interest in the case. The receipt of a letter telling of an important new witness and the finding, during the examination, of a witness of another person, believed to be an eyewitness were the principal incidents.

The letter which Mr. Levy received was written in German, and signed "L. Black." The writer claims to have witnessed the struggle in the cab, and says that he saw Young turn the revolver against his own breast and fire.

LESLIE CARTER'S NEW PLAY.

Written by Belasco and Long And Bears Title of "Adrea."

New York, Nov. 18.—Mrs. Leslie Carter's new play bears the title of "Adrea." It has been written by David Belasco and John Luther Long. In accordance with his custom, Mr. Belasco gives no definite idea of the subject or the story of the work, but he states that it is not an historical tragedy as some have supposed. While following the dramatic and emotional lines with which Mrs. Leslie Carter has become identified, her role of Adrea will be found a liberal departure from anything she has yet undertaken. The cast includes Charles A. Stevenson, Tyrone Power, B. D. McLean, Claude Gillingwater, H. H. Roberts, J. Harry Benrimo, Francis Powers, H. G. Carlton, Marshall Welch, Gilmore Scott, Taft Johnson, Louis Grimm, Louis Mill, Edith Crane, Maria Davis, Irma Perry, Cora H. Adams, Laura Osborne, Lydia Winters and many others.

According to present plans Mrs. Carter's first performance of "Adrea" will occur at the Belasco theater, Monday, Jan. 9.

AMERICAN FEDERATION OF LABOR CONVENTION.

San Francisco, Nov. 18.—Resolutions occupied the time of the delegates to the convention of the American Federation of Labor during the forenoon session of the fifth day of the meeting. An effort was made by Delegate Golden before the convention the conditions existing at Fall River, Mass., where a large number of textile workers are now out on a strike. This was considered so important a question that it was made a special order for 11 o'clock.

A resolution asking that the Milkera of California be organized into a state organization was presented by the committee without recommendation and submitted to the executive council for further consideration. One of the matters which has created great interest among the delegates is that of the exclusion of Mongolians from the United States. There seems to be an under-current of sentiment among all present that Congress be memorialized to pass an act of a nature which shall apply to Japanese and Koreans. A number of such resolutions have been presented, but so anxious are the delegates to make the petition as acceptable as possible that the committee has withheld the matter until a measure can be presented to the delegates that shall be acceptable to all. The delegates to the American Federation of Labor unanimously voted to levy an assessment of one cent per member per week for three weeks in aid of textile workers now out on strike at Fall River, Mass., and to confer upon the executive council of the federation authority to levy additional assessments if such a course in the judgment should be deemed necessary. This will immediately realize about $15,000 for the aid of the strikers. The vote was unanimous and was received with great cheering by the delegates, many of whom rose in their seats and tendered checks or even cash as their share of their organizations to John Gordon, representative of the United Textile workers of the United States.

Everything is in readiness for the mighty game of tomorrow. Both the big eleven are trained to the finest of fettle. The rooting sections are assigned, the crimson and silver banners of the U. of U. are ready for the West rooting section, while the purple and white of the Agriculturists are due at noon tomorrow in bulk. The team from Logan comes down tonight, in order to escape the excitement of their campus. A special train bearing the Logan delegation, six hundred rooters strong, is expected tomorrow at noon. There will be much to celebrate besides a football victory, when the sun goes down on Cummings field, and much to mourn for. The two colleges, unfortunately, do not waste any love on each other in any branch of college life from securing appropriations in the Legislature to fighting for victory on the football field. The apparently justifiable action of the Agricultural college's president in refusing certain offers of the University of Utah's hospitality has given unintentional recognition to the spirit of animosity running rampant through the student bodies. It will be a source of great regret for either side to lose, and both are cocked and primed for victory.

DEPENDS ON WEATHER.

The question now is, on what side will the storm now play? The worse the weather the better for Logan, because the game will then be one of weight, and not of skill. If the wind blows with a storm, a great advantage will be gained for the side with the wind. His punts can then be handled with deadly effect in gaining ground. There are chances for a fluke tomorrow, and for bad weather, Utah should win, provided her team is able to get the jump on the Aggies in the line. The Logan team outweighs its opponent nearly five pounds to the man, average weight. It may play either very good or very bad ball, for no one outside of its coach has any definite idea of the present status of its players. Reports of the Stanford game state that most of the Logan men were out of condition at that game, and held down places in the side line. It is understood that at Logan the team has had to do no college work since its return from the coast, and that practice has been held both in the afternoon and evening.

THE TWO LINES.

Roberts, Kadletz and Mortensen are said to have developed into good men while on the coast. Kadletz will play against Anderson, at right end, and will have to play a good game to outclass him. While Anderson is light he is a sure tackler, and quick on his feet. He is a developer of this season, and while not one of the team's stars, plays good football. Olsen, Logan's tackle, faces Hope, a man from whom much is expected, provided his lame shoulder does not bother him. Hope was showing excellent promise in his sophomore year. He ought to easily handle his opponent. What Mortensen at guard can do against Barton, it is hard to judge. Barton is playing in much better form now than ever before, he has had much of the special attention of Coach Maddock, right tackle, is a solid player, pure and strong, and is looked to to hold down his position. Together with Robbins and Carlson, the other two men of Utah's center trio, he forms a critical place in the line.

THE WEAKEST SPOT.

What Maddock fears most is that with superior weight they will drive through the center of his line for short but continued gains till they score a touchdown. Carlson is a star man at his position while Robbins has had every attention from the coach in the past week to improve his defensive work. Peterson, Logan's center, received severe criticism on the coast. However he is claimed to be better now and in condition to play a hard game. On the left side of the line Logan's men are unknown quantities, while Utah's players are not over-skilled. Peterson, right tackle, is a solid player, pure and strong, and quick. Nelson will have to prove himself a wonder to outdo him. At end Pitt is a new player. He has been moved into the position from his old place as half back in order to get Russell, the former end, back of the line. Pitt is a half was a brilliant but streaked player. He was a bad fumbler and often lost his interference. His speed and star plays, however, have kept him in the lineup. There is a rumor that Logan is to spring two new ends to replace those given in the lineup—Tuttle and Finley. Who they are or where they come from is a mystery, as they have not appeared up to date in an Agricultural college lineup. They may prove to be powerful players saved out for the big game.

UTAH'S STRONG BACKS.

In the back field Utah is strong. Russell, Bennett and Brown are her famous ground gainers, while Wade is one of the swiftest men in the team, and when in good form can be counted on for splendid work. Russell is a bull, can stand any amount of work, and is a difficult man to down. His open field work is especially effective. Bennett, at fullback, is undoubtedly as good a man as the Utah team has. His kicking, which has improved steadily during the season, is a sure asset to fall back on in case the goal line is crowded. Wade works at quarter in passing work but is sure and faster than ever seen before on Utah campus. The Logan back field is not definitely selected. Coach Campbell refuses to pin himself down to a statement of just who will fill each position, and he may have some big surprises to spring.

TEAMS WELL TRAINED.

In the matter of physical condition there seems to be little chance, as both teams are apparently in fine fettle. Utah has had to fight overtraining, while Logan has had to recover from the damages of her hard series of coast games. Hope is the only injured man in the Utah lineup, and for several days he has been in good shape. Glancing at the scores which the two teams have made during the season, it is evident that Utah has played much better football. Logan has crossed a goal line but once and has been scored against an even 200 times. Utah has scored 165 points, and been scored against 33 times. Added to the inferences here drawn, the fact that Utah plays on her home field, and will go in with added fervor on this account, the only conclusion is that barring accidents, Utah should win. Her big scores will probably come in the second half, when Logan is exhausted.

MADDOCK'S TASK.

Maddock's task has not been an easy one. If the student at large knew how near he had come to quitting time after time during the first month of the season, and how hopelessly he considered the outlook for a winning team, they would never again allow such indifference as characterized the beginning of the work this year. Utah's aim was to bring the championship home, and tomorrow the climax of her season is reached. With this victory lost all others are of secondary consideration. It is a case of only that he will which ends well. Maddock did not have good players. They play well today because they are adept at a system—it is Maddock's system that is winning out. With a poor line, he has a system of defense that hedges a player in and prevents big gains. With a ragged back field he had had a system of interference that made it impossible not to gain. Now at the end of six seasons he has both good players and a system in which they are skilled till it works like the clock. The key-note of the coaching has been detail. Maddock had to begin at fundamentals, and gradually train the team up into the finer points of the game. Not until last week was the method to be used tomorrow tried on the team. It means that the game when Utah has the ball will be spectacular, rapid and surprising even to close students of the team.

RALLIES TODAY.

West Side High School and University Prepare for Games Tomorrow.

Rallies were held today at both the University and the West Side High school. They were to make final preparations for the big games tomorrow. At the High school Mr. Reens presided and speeches were made by the men of the faculty and team. At the University a dress rehearsal was held on the bleachers by the rooting sections. It was found that the students filled the entire west section. With six hundred seats reserved in the east rooting section for Logan, the capacity of Cummings field will be severely tested tomorrow. The High school game occurs in the morning in order to enable the players to witness the big game in the afternoon.

FIVE CAMPO INDIANS.

Steps Have Been Taken for Their Immediate Relief.

San Diego, Cal., Nov. 18.—The reports which have come from the mountain regions in the southern part of this country, telling of the destitution and starvation of Indians on the Five Campo reservations, have resulted in the taking of steps in this city for the immediate relief of the sufferers. The first effort will be that of sending food and clothing at once to the Indians to meet their immediate needs. It is intended to raise a fund sufficient to make the Indians comfortable during the winter and to provide them with seed, which should be sowed now in order to produce crops for next year. Successive years of drought have created the present condition of destitution, while the barrenness of the land to which the Indians have been pushed makes it impossible for them to get far away from want at any time. This has been the hardest year they have ever had, and the old men and women especially are in a sad plight.

EXPLOSIONS KILL FORTY PEOPLE.

Purifying Tanks in Chicago Explode, Spreading Death and Destruction.

They Were Fearful That the Two Big Tanks Holding Millions of Feet of Gas Would Go Off.

FAMILIES DESERTED THEIR HOMES.

Fled With What Valuables They Could Seize—For Blocks Around Windows Were Broken.

Chicago, Nov. 18.—Twenty-two gas tanks in the big railroad gas charging station at Seventy-third street and South Chicago avenue exploded today. This afternoon eight dead bodies of employees had been removed from the ruins and it was said that about 10 more employees were missing. The tanks were of the style attached to railroad cars for lighting purposes. Eleven of the tanks exploded in rapid succession and were followed at short intervals by the other tanks. The fire spread among property of the People's Gas, Light & Coke company, and threatens to reach the large storage tanks of that company. Policemen were sent about for a mile radius warning people to move from their homes. To prevent the explosion of the gas in the mammoth tanks, Superintendent Ralph Wells ordered the waste pipes opened. These pipes run outside of the plant and in a short time the big tanks were discharging the gas into the air. This was a dangerous undertaking, but in was changed and proved successful, preventing a larger destruction of property. Across South Chicago avenue directly opposite the gas storage buildings was a large coal shed stored with coal used in the manufacture of the gas. The huge coal pile was ignited and in a few moments was beyond control. When the danger of the larger tanks exploding had been reduced to a minimum Chief Engineer Eustace with several assistants entered the grounds and shut off the supply pipes from the ruined building to the large tanks. He said it was almost miraculous that the fire had not entered the larger tanks. Many lives are believed to have been lost and a number of men were probably fatally injured in the explosion of five small purifying tanks leased by the People's Gas & Coke company at Seventy-fourth street and South Chicago avenues today. There were from 12 to 20 explosions. It is reported that a brick building containing five tanks and twenty workmen completely collapsed, burying them and crushing them to death. The explosions were so forceful that for a radius of half a mile windows were blown out of plumb, buildings thrown out of plumb. For fear that the explosions might continue and cause the explosion of the two big tanks which hold millions of feet of gas, no one would venture near the ruins of the plant. Calls were sent for patrol wagons and ambulances to every station on the south side, and a general alarm of fire was sent in. At the first explosion many of the employees in the plant fled to the street. They escaped with slight injuries. Persons living in the vicinity deserted their homes, and storekeepers fled with their wares. One of the workmen, after the disaster, expressed a belief that at least 40 of his companions lost their lives. Eight bodies have been removed from the ruins.
