

E. T. JEFFREY WILL BE THE PRESIDENT

Head of the Denver & Rio Grande Is to Succeed Attorney Bartlett

ON THE WESTERN PACIFIC.

There is no Longer Any Doubt that Projected Road is a Gould Proposition.

San Francisco, Dec. 6.—It was formally announced today that at the next meeting of the directors of the Western Pacific railway company Attorney Bartlett, president of the corporation, will be succeeded by E. T. Jeffrey, president of the Denver & Rio Grande railway, who was recently elected a director of the former company.

University Railroad Class.

Chicago, Dec. 7.—A class for the instruction of prospective railway engineers in the University of Chicago has been organized by an advisory committee report of most of the western railroads entering this city. At a recent meeting at the Chicago club a plan was discussed for the instruction of engineering students who desire to become station agents and traffic managers. Among those at the conference were: Marvin Highitt, president of the Northwestern railway; S. M. Felton of the Alton; E. P. Ripley of the Santa Fe; Benjamin P. Fairbank of the Chicago Terminal; F. A. Delano of the Burlington, and J. C. Stubs and J. Kruttschnitt of the Southern Pacific.

PRESIDENTS CONFER.

Jim Hill, However, Was Absent at Big Banquet.

New York, Dec. 7.—A conference of railroad presidents has just been held at the Metropolitan club, where the real or official heads of nearly all the great railroad systems of the United States dined as the guests of Edward P. Ripley, president of the Atchafalaya, Tonka and Santa Fe. Nothing was made public as to the result of the deliberations which ensued.

There were 14 at the table and, beside the host, who represented his own road, there were: George J. Gould, representing the Missouri Pacific and Wabash systems; Edward H. Hartman, the head of the Union, Southern and Central Pacific systems; Marvin Highitt, president of the Chicago & North-western; Samuel Spencer, president of the Southern Railway; Roswell Miller, chairman of the Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul; B. L. Truesdale, president of the Pennsylvania; William H. Truesdale, president of the Delaware, Lackawanna & Western; William H. Newman, president of the New York Central; Charles S. Mellen, president of the New York, New Haven & Hartford; President Carling of Chicago, Milwaukee & St. Paul; B. L. Winchell, president of the Chicago, Rock Island & Pacific; Robert Mather, president of the Rock Island company, and F. D. Underwood, president of the Erie.

At some time, it is said Mr. Ripley has been convinced that there are certain matters relating to the running of American railroads and phases of what might, perhaps, be called political questions having a direct bearing on railroading that ought to be frankly discussed by the heads of the leading companies. With this object in view invitations to the dinner were sent out and Mr. Ripley came on from the west especially for it. Every man present had something to say and, it is understood, spoke his mind freely. The exact nature of the discussion could not be learned but one of those topics that comes out at a later date. It was added, however, that all those present had a more satisfactory feeling regarding certain great questions affecting American railroads when the conference ended.

LOST $16,000 IN WRECK.

This Sum Said to Have Been on Body of Fireman.

The Evanston News-Register states that Thomas J. Redmon of Craig, Mo., presumably a brother of C. E. Redmon, the brakeman who met death in the terrible Anson wreck, has offered a reward of $50 for the recovery of $16,000 in bills which the brakeman is alleged to have had with him at the time of the accident.

The coroner and undertaker at Evanston, who handled the body, state they know nothing of the matter and that if the theory that the bills were sewn in the lining of Redmon's clothes which has been suggested, is true, they were destroyed when the clothes were burned by the undertaker.

H. G. BURT'S HAUL.

Said to Have Received $100,000 from Russian Government.

With 100,000 Russian dollars in his pocket, Horace G. Burt, formerly president of the Union Pacific, is homeward bound from St. Petersburg and is expected to pass through Cheyenne about the first of the year on his way to New York, where he will assume the management of the Grand Trunk line. Mr. Burt left a year ago on a tour of the world ostensibly for rest, but on

AN INTERESTING ROOM FOR NAPOLEON ENTHUSIASTS. The cut shows the room in which the great Napoleon died at St. Helena. Longwood, the last residence of the exiled and wretched emperor, was in possession of the British for some time after Napoleon's death, and the room in which he died was left practically untouched. When it came into the guardianship of the French government Longwood was subjected to numerous changes. A railed in part of the great Corsican was placed in the room in which he died, and most of the few articles it contained at that time were removed to Paris and put on exhibition there. For a long time the French government refused to permit the spot to be photographed, but some of the restrictions have recently been removed.

LATEST TRIUMPH OF TRANSPORTATION. The cut represents the latest achievement in transportation, a trolley car to run without tracks. The first trackless trolley line ever built is now being constructed between Waverly, N. Y., and Sayre and Athens, Bradford county, Pa. In a short time, it is promised, the population of these three towns and persons living on the highway which connects them will see large omnibuses like that illustrated herewith propelled by power generated by overhead trolley wires. The first cars on the line will be for the use of passengers, but it is the intention of the company to put freight cars into service and to transport goods of every description at a greatly reduced rate.

ARID FARMING. Utah embraces an area of 82,190 square miles, of which there are 938 square miles under irrigation. It is probable that with the extension of the canals the storage of water in reservoirs and the more economical use of water, that this area can be doubled, perhaps tripled. Even with the most optimistic views regarding the increase in water which can be brought under irrigation there will still be sixty to seventy thousand square miles, of which probably one half is mountain land, which can be used wisely for grazing. There remains, then, over 20 million acres of desert land, soils which among the most fertile in the world and it is these desert lands which constitute the great undeveloped resource of this state. There are a number of people in this state who believe that these deserts can be brought into successful cultivation, and can be made to produce profitable crops. The method by which this is done is not a mystery but simply the application of simple scientific truths to cultivation of soil, the selection of seed and method of planting.

THE RAINFALL OF UTAH. The rainfall of Utah averages about 12 inches. It varies from 5 to 29 inches, but most of the 20 million acres of desert land previously referred to receives an annual precipitation of at least 12 inches. Have you ever thought of what it would mean to Utah, if the young men, native sons of Utah, who have reclaimed the deserts of Idaho, Wyoming and Canada, had put the same energy and effort into reclaiming the deserts of our own state? 20 million acres, each one producing 20 bushels of wheat every year is a possibility dependent only upon the faith and enterprise of the young men of Utah.

THE METHOD. Select deep soil. The question as to the kind of soil is not so important as the depth of soil. After clearing the land from sagebrush plow the ground very deep, ten inches at least, and deeper if possible. If the land is to be sown the same fall the plowed ground should be double disked, and then harrowed, this not only to prepare a good seed bed, but also to make a mulch or blanket through which the water can not evaporate. In selecting the seed, use some variety that has not been grown on arid land, without irrigation as long as possible. Any of the following varieties of wheat may be selected: Turkey, Lofthouse, Kofoid, Forty Fold or Golden Coin, Odessa, Blue Stem, or many other varieties which have been adapted to dry land farming. The seed should be treated before seeding, so that you may not reap what the next year. Soak the seed, which is held in a burlap sack for ten minutes in a solution containing one pound of Fomalin in 50 gallons of water. After the seed is dry it is ready for use; success is not likely to be achieved even now if the seed is broadcasted instead of drilled. Use a small amount of seed, not more than three pecks to the acre and drill in as uniformly as possible. The shoe or wheel on the drill presses the soil around the delicate seed and at the same time leaves the ground loose and finely pulverized, a condition unfavorable to the evaporation of moisture. If a crust forms the next spring before the grain

THE CHEAPER WAY.

Col. G. C. Goodloe of the marine corps said recently, apropos of some philanthropic scheme of small utility: "This is the kind of help that a certain aristocratic family of Kentucky gives. There is an elderly widow, a poor relative of this family, who has a hard time to get along. She has three daughters, girls ranging in years from fifteen to twenty, and one day she applied to a friend of mine for help for them. "I'd like to get some winter dresses for the girls," she said. "Aren't there at your house some old woolen frocks that are not needed?" "Why, yes, I guess so," said my friend. "But I thought your rich relatives looked after your daughters." "The old woman sighed. "Only their morals, sir, only their morals," she said."

ANOTHER SUFFERING WOMAN ESCAPES PAINFUL SURGERY. A Woman's Praise For Pe-ru-na. Mrs. Sophia Calwell, box 337, Nashville, Tenn., writes: "After doctoring for a year and finding no relief from leucorrhoea resulting from prolapsus uteri, and which was sapping my life forces away, I finally tried Peruna, and when I found that it was helping me every day, it seemed almost too good to be true. "But, it not only helped me, it cured me and in a very short time, I am now enjoying the best of health. I am strong and free from pain, and I certainly feel that all praise and honor are due to Peruna."—Sophia Calwell. Mrs. Mattie Kline, 124 W. Bremer St., Cadillac, Mich., Noble Grand of the Rebecca Lodge, No. 189 writes: "Some time ago my health seemed to give way. The doctor said I had ovarian trouble and general weakness. There was a discharge and I had severe pains in the back and shoulders, while my stomach was so upset that my food nauseated me. "My physician said that I ought to be operated upon, but I strongly objected to it, and one of my friends advised me to try Peruna. "I am pleased to say that this medicine saved me from a painful operation and restored me to perfect health and strength in a little over three months. "I am very much pleased with the good your medicine has done me, and I trust that many suffering women may be benefitted through the use of Peruna."—Mattie Kline. It relieves, it soothes, it quiets, it strengthens. Most important of all, it cures the catarrhal condition of the pelvic organs which is at the bottom of all these other ailments. Dr. Hartman, who is eminently qualified by long years of experience in the treatment of catarrhal diseases, especially pelvic catarrh, will give any suffering woman who applies to him the benefit of his valuable advice gratis.
