

WARNING SENT TO THE CHINESE.

Mongolian Government Has Its Memory Jogged on an Existing Agreement With U. S.

MUST NOT VIOLATE TREATY.

America Will Insist Upon Full Observance of the Tien Tsin Compact of 1858

Shanghai, Aug. 11.—The alarm regarding the impending commercial crisis in consequence of the anti-American boycott is increasing now that the information has got abroad that President Roosevelt has instructed Minister Rockhill to warn the Chinese government that America will insist upon the full observance by China of article 15 of the Tien Tsin treaty of 1858.

Washington, Aug. 11.—Article 15 of the Tien Tsin treaty provides that "at each of the ports open to commerce, citizens of the United States shall be permitted to import from abroad and sell, purchase and export all merchandise of which the importation or exportation is not prohibited by the laws of the empire."

The state department some days ago directed the attention of Minister Rockhill to this particular article in view of the published article that it was the intention of those managing the boycott against American goods to interfere with the landing of American goods from vessels in Chinese ports. It is the opinion of the state department that any such act would be in violation of article 15, and Minister Rockhill was instructed to call the attention of the Chinese government to these representations and the treaty with a view of preventing any interference in the landing of American goods in China.

It is supposed at the department that the Chinese government has already taken action on Minister Rockhill's communication and officials at definite ports have been instructed to see that the provisions of the treaty are not violated. No complaints have been received at the state department indicating that the threats of interference with American commerce had been carried out, but it was to forestall anything of this kind that the instructions were sent to Minister Rockhill.

CALL ON ALICE

Manila Rough Riders Pay Homage to President's Daughter.

Manila, Aug. 11.—The rough riders now residing here, headed by Col. Alexander Brodie, ex-governor of Arizona, and now attached to the military secretary's department, and Gov. George Curry of the island of Samar, called upon Miss Roosevelt today and discussed the days they spent under her distinguished father. They presented her with a photograph of Manila's first launch, named the Bucky O'Neal.

Rear-Admiral Train and Rear-Admiral Foss, chairman of the house committee on naval affairs, who is naturally interested in naval matters, paid a visit to the Olongapo, and the University club held a reception. An executive session of the commission was held all day, the business being devoted to the report of the inquiry. Eighteen representatives of Grover have issued a call for data regarding the shipping question, which will be taken up next.

On the night of Thursday, July 10, the Philippine ladies of the city entertained Miss Roosevelt at a prominent native residence, where a brilliant reception was held.

PREACHER'S SON NOW.

Member of Clergymen's Family Mixed Up in Taggart Case.

Woonsocket, R. I., Aug. 11.—At the opening of court today in the Taggart divorce case Judge Egan, citing authority of the Ohio supreme court, ruled on the testimony of Detectives Mabro and Morris, by whom the plaintiff expected to show misbehavior on Mrs. Taggart's part. The ground was that the young man in question, son of a Woonsocket clergyman, had not been named in the pleadings.

On resuming his testimony the captain referred to the Matanzas champagne supper. The next morning he said he told his wife it would be better to send one of her visiting woman friends home to her husband if that was the kind of parties they expected to have. This was on Wednesday, Mrs. Taggart had not commented on the episode, though witness had told her it was most disgusting and expressed the hope that no one would find it out. Capt. Taggart then testified as to various improper actions of his wife, naming various correspondents and his inability to keep her away from them.

AMUSEMENTS.

The Theater last night presented a spectacle like that in the height of the season; Madge Carr Cooke may take it as a decided personal tribute that in perspiring midsummer, an audience would throng the house as it did last night to see through any heat of presentation. Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabage Patch as a book, has had a tremendous vogue in Salt Lake, and the city decided that it had been dramatized, allied to the fact that so rare a favorite as Mrs. Cooke was to be featured in the title role, induced everyone to banish all thoughts of the thermometer and to surge towards the Theater. Mrs. Cooke had a great ovation on her entrance, and it was almost a tribute before the audience allowed the play to proceed. As the familiar character developed, she fully caught the fancy of the house, and though under a tremendous strain for her part must be as long as that of Hamlet, she carried her auditors with her, and after the second act was given an amount of enthusiastic curtain calls. Mrs. Cooke retains her old comely gifts, and needless to say, they are given chance for their full play in this respectable part. A piece of character, acting which rose to the height of a triumph was the Miss Flazy of Helen Lowell. She fully shared the honors bestowed upon the leading character, and from first to last showed that she has most admirable powers as a character artist. Every other role was made to stand out vividly. Mr. Carter in the part of Stubbins was most effective. The Lovey Mary of Miss Barricade was a charming creation, and the character parts by Helen Raymond and Anna Fields were wonderful in their way.

Mrs. Wiggs as a play would hardly stand serious criticism, and to those familiar with the book, it is full of little shocks, notably the appearance on the scene of Mr. Wiggs. But all this was necessary to form a thread of sentiment, and the sentiment—slight as the thread was—gave the needed contrast to the comedy. The whole performance is a delight and no one should miss it.

End of Noted Murder Case.

Turin, Italy, Aug. 11.—The jury today found five persons accused of the murder of Count Ron Martini guilty, with extenuating circumstances. Tullio Durri, the victim's brother-in-law, and Dr. Naldi, an accomplice, were each sentenced to 30 years' solitary confinement. Countess Thes II Linda Ron Wrong Address Given When Alarm Was Sent Into the Fire Department.

SO MUCH TIME WAS LOST.

Not Known How Blaze Started—Attention Given to Save Nearby Buildings—Little Water.

Fourteen pounds pressure in the available water supply and a fierce blaze in an oil-soaked paint shop combined to give the fire ladders a hard fight last night at the Oregon Short Line yards. To make things a little worse, there was a mistake in sending the alarm, the fire department first lined up on First West and Fourth North instead of Fourth West and First North. This gave the fire the start that made the work hard.

So low was the pressure that the engines took in more wind than water and the resulting stream would hardly suffice for a good sized garden. With these conditions confronting them, the firemen were of necessity forced to turn their attention to the buildings near by and protect them, leaving the main blaze to work its own plans. The primitive methods were brought into play in order to save these buildings. With this the fire gained a hold on the two buildings nearest to the paint shop and also on the building on the roof of the warehouse in the vicinity.

After about an hour, the water department having been notified, the pressure was concentrated on this line and the firemen were able to do more effective work. The actual loss being about $100. The paint shops were burned to a pile of ashes.

Six Miners Overcome.

Mullan, Ida., Aug. 11.—Six miners at the Morning mine were overcome today by smoke which was blowing over the workings from a forest fire burning at the mouth of one of the tunnels. The men were carried from the mine in an unconscious condition, but they were revived upon reaching the surface. It is believed all will recover. The forest fire burned its way up the mountain side and destroyed a number of buildings at the mouth of the tunnel.

Must Check Forest Fires.

Missoula, Mont., Aug. 11.—Under orders from the department from the Interior L. L. Sharp, special land agent, has left for the forest district surrounding Clinton with a party of men. Mr. Sharp's orders from Washington are to do all he can to check the destruction of timber caused by the fires now burning.

MONEY FOR SINGING.

Miss Mona Thompson Would Have Made a Fine Singer for Her Services.

Frank Maltese, the well known local theatrical manager, has been made defendant in a suit filed in the civil division of the city court to recover the sum of $20.45 alleged to be the balance due Miss Mona Thompson for services rendered by her as a singer in a dramatic production of the American Mercantile & Reporting Agency to which Miss Thompson assigned her claim. The complaint alleges that in July of this year Miss Thompson entered into a contract with Maltese to sing for him a salary of $2 per week. She rendered said service for a period of three weeks and during that time defalcated her $3.45 on account, leaving a balance due
