

SIGN OF CIVILIZATION.

Indian Papoose Has cut One Source of Real Comfort.

If those who are fond of debating the decadence of the Noble Red Man had been present at the corner of East Temple and First South streets this morning and observed a little comedy that was played to a full house, they would have been forced to admit that civilization is assimilating the Redskins rapidly.

On the steps of the Deseret National bank sat a young, plump, blue-eyed squaw. Reclining against the railings and endeavoring to drown the monotony of a second edition of "mamma" was a young girl in the Gie substitute for a combination cradle and baby buggy.

Suddenly the papoose apparently felt aggrieved at something and promptly proceeded to endeavor to drown the monotony of the effort. It was a large, healthy and lusty howl, which left the common or garden baby with a pin sticking into him at the post.

The squaw's eye suddenly lit up with the fire of intelligence, and she apparently said, "Oh, the sweet little thing, diddums feel bad, then?" The papoose scorned such baby talk and let out another howl that made the old express horse dozing against the curb snort with astonishment.

Then it was that the squaw assumed a peculiar expression. She fumbled around among the wrappings of that aggrieved babe and produced—baby's comfort, a rubber affair with a celluloid attachment.

Papoose promptly exhibited his gums and the next instant the little lips closed over the rubber and an atmosphere of ponderous passivity hung over the bank steps.

"Did you ever?" exclaimed a young white woman who had witnessed the incident, while as the amused crowd broke, a base man murmured, "That's right, give the little sucker a show."

BOUNTY FRAUD CASES.

Will be Tried by Judge Howells, Judge Armstrong Being Disqualified.

The bounty fraud cases have been set for trial by Judge Howells on Dec. 11 and Judge Howell of Ogden has consented to try them. At the time the bounty frauds were perpetrated in this county, Judge Armstrong was a deputy in the county clerk's office and, as a former deputy in the office is implicated in the frauds, Judge Armstrong feels that he is disqualified from trying the cases.

MORE ARRAIGNMENTS.

Prisoners Appear Before Judge Armstrong and Enter P. Eas.

At the afternoon session of the criminal court yesterday five prisoners were arraigned before Judge Armstrong, making a total of 11 for the day. The case of the State vs. John Masters, charged with criminal conduct, was dismissed because of the insufficiency of the evidence. The other cases disposed of in the afternoon were those of Albert Allison, criminal assault, and Frank Rogers, grand larceny, who entered pleas of not guilty, and Joseph R. Smith, grand larceny, and R. A. Britton, grand larceny, who entered pleas of guilty. The case of John Green, assault, who were each given until Monday to plead.

VETERAN HONORED.

Friends Pay Their Respects to Bishop Thorn on His Ninetieth Birthday.

The residence of Bishop William Thorn was thronged with members of the Seventh ward last evening, to celebrate the ninetieth anniversary of his birth. Former residents of the ward were also present to do honor to this worthy veteran. An interesting program was carried out, under the direction of Bishop C. P. Margetts, and speeches were made by Elders L. Dahlquist, Angus M. Cannon, George G. Smith, President Wm. McLachlan and Bishop Thorn. A handsome bouquet was presented by Miss Maria Hill. The Bishop is bright and clear in his intellect for his years, and bids fair to celebrate several more birthdays of this kind. All present enjoyed themselves, and departed with best wishes for their honored host, after partaking of delicious refreshments.

Cures Winter Cough. J. E. Gaver, the N. Main St., Ottawa, Kan., writes "Every fall it has been my wife's trouble to catch a severe cold and therefore to cough all winter long. Last fall I got for her a bottle of Horehound Syrup. She used it and has been able to sleep soundly all night long. Whenever the cough troubles her, or she catches cold, she stops the cough, and she is able to be up and well." See Sec. 100. Sold by Z. C. M. I. Drug Dept.

LIBRARY OPENING.

Interesting Event Will Take Place To-night—The Public Invited.

Tonight at 7 o'clock the new Packard library will be thrown open to the public for the first time. The big building donated to the city by John Q. Packard as a permanent home for its public library, will then be dedicated to its intended use, with a special program, in which city officials and leading citizens will participate. The scheduled numbers are an invocation by Bishop O. F. Whitney; the presentation of the library by a letter from Mr. Packard; its acceptance by Mayor Morris; an address by Judge C. C. Goodwin, and a number of musical selections.

Absolutely Pure

A GRAPE CREAM OF TARTAR BAKING POWDER

It makes the most delicious and healthful hot breads, biscuit and cake

FREE FROM ALUM, LIME, OR PHOSPHATIC ACID

Alum baking powders are unhealthful. Do not use them for raising food under any circumstances. So detrimental are alum baking powders considered, that in most foreign countries their sale is prohibited. In many States in this country the law compels alum powders to be branded to show that they contain this dangerous acid, while in the District of Columbia, Congress has prohibited the sale of all food that contains alum.

Alum baking powders are sold to consumers at from 10 cents a pound to 25 ounces for 25 cents, or 25 cents a pound, and when not branded may generally be distinguished by their price.

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY.

(DO YOU REMEMBER?)

The sultan of Turkey massed 20,000 troops at Salonica. The situation in Bulgaria and Serbia was critical.

Gen. Negrier of the French army repulsed the "Black Flags" in Anam between Bambes Canal and Rapids Canal, Africa. The natives lost heavily.

TEN YEARS AGO TODAY.

The U. S. marshal for Wyoming went to Jackson's Hole, in that state, to place under arrest, the constable and his deputies, who, it was claimed, killed and wounded several Indians and caused the Bannock scare.

Dr. Rose was shot and killed by a sheriff at Mesa, Ariz., while the former was trying to murder his former wife and her parents, Dr. and Mrs. Williams.

AMUSEMENTS.

To an audience accustomed to the louder tones of the melodrama as in that which usually assembles at the Grand, the minor chords of "Sweet Clover" come as something of a surprise. The play received its initial performance at the Grand last night, and charmed a large audience. It is about to give her hand to why there is an immediate difficulty. It is not just like any other play which has been on the western boards, although it slightly recalls a large number of them. It is slightly pastoral, slightly melodramatic, slightly humorous, and in fact never takes more than a slight color of any particular hue. Mr. Dooley it was who said that a man cannot love his strongest unless he has at least one person he can hate with all his heart, and in "Sweet Clover" the novelty is presented of a play without a single character who isn't in every way lovable. There is no villain, or any trace of one, and there is no particular hero, although the roles of the old father and the trusting daughter border upon this province.

The story is not especially new. It is the fortunes of a country girl, unsophisticated, and rarely beautiful in temperament and features, who falls in love with an artist, visiting the neighborhood on a sketching tour. The girl's father has reared her in ignorance of who her mother was, as the mother ran away with another artist when the child was only three years old. She learns the truth as she is about to give her hand to the young artist, and also that it will kill her father if he finds she is following her mother's steps. He extracts a promise that she will marry a country boy, and the two are wed. All this happens in the first act, and after that for three acts it is the struggle between duty and love, in which the wife finally discovers that she doesn't love the artist after all, and ends it by falling in love with her husband just in time for the last curtain.

In the hands of a poor company, the play could easily fall, but it was handled last night with all the delicacy demanded. Miss Gertrude Bondhill made much of the role of the girl in the case, and won noticeable applause. As Jo-some Holcombe, the father, who loved the old farm, the one-eyed cat, and his little girl, Otis B. Thayer was successful. "Sweet Clover" should draw well till the end of its engagement, which comes Saturday evening after a Saturday matinee.

The sale of seats for the cartoon comedy "Buster Brown" began at the Salt Lake Theater today at 10 o'clock. Manager Pyper will present to every boy and girl who calls at the box office today between the hours of 3 and 5 a book of Buster Brown pictures, as long as the supply lasts.

"May Howard" known as the "queen of burlesque," opens at the Lyric tomorrow afternoon.

PERSONALS

The family of R. J. Jessup has moved from 124 S street to 116 O street.

City Councilman C. M. Neuhausen is afflicted with typhoid fever, and his friends are anxious about him.

The family of R. J. Caskey left yesterday for southern California, where they go for the benefit of Mrs. Caskey's health.

Rosemary Glosz Whitney, who left for New York several days ago, has just signed an engagement to sing in Europe and will sail from New York on Nov. 11.

Mrs. George Sutherland, wife of the United States senator, left for the east yesterday, intending to stop over briefly at Hot Springs, Ark., en route. She will be joined by the senator later, on the opening of Congress.

F. H. Buhl of Sharon, Pa., president of the Twin Falls Irrigation company, has arrived from the east, and is at the Knutsford. He will visit the Falls later, where he says the prospects are as bright as one could wish.

C. E. Brown of Toledo, O., known in the east as "The Little Iron Man" because he tried to put Carnegie out of business, is at the Knutsford. Mr. Brown failed to do up the great iron master, but is "still in the ring" promoting commercial enterprises.

CAMPAIGN WARMING UP IN NEW YORK CITY.

New York, Oct. 26.—Events of unusual interest marked today's developments in the three-cornered municipal campaign now being waged in New York City.

The Republicans have joined forces with Dist. Atty. William Travers Jerome, and at a new sitting of the county convention called for tomorrow will ask him to fill the vacancy on their ticket created by the resignation of Charles A. Flammer, the Republican nominee for district attorney.

Mayor George B. McClellan today received from ex-President Grover Cleveland a letter warmly endorsing the mayor's candidacy for re-election, and criticizing sharply "the evidences of rank hysteria" which have appeared in the campaign.
