

and I was 1,600 miles away from Mount Culler and was accused of being her murderer because we had had quarrels. If I had committed a murder I would have drawn the $500 which I had in the Hibernia bank of New Orleans and make my escape. I consulted my brother at Hartford, Conn., and he told me that he had seen a man who was the citizen of Colorado was preparing to lynch me, so I fled to Australia with Nilda, where I played poker most of the time.

Andrew then states that Mrs. Roworth was murdered Aug. 2, 1904, at New Britain, Conn. "I was all that summer in Denver, taking treatment of Dr. Sherman Williams," he says. "We traveled under the name of G. Bouton and wife."

STORY OF HIS LIFE. Andrew then goes into a history of his life, touched in somewhat sarcastic terms speaking of the Ellis affair, when he attempted to murder the latter in Berkeley after his arrival here from Australia, he says that his assault was made as the result of a gambler's ruse in which Nilda was the bone of contention.

"I told Nilda," says Andrews, "that it was his life or mine, and I would kill him for two reasons: First, what he had done to her, and second, because he would tell the police if he had another quarrel, as I had told him in confidence that I was a fugitive from justice. A man who makes money at gambling, as I do, and who has a murder charge against him, is a nuisance to the police for a few hundred dollars."

RELANDS WITH ELLIS. He recalled at length the story of his crooked methods of gambling in which Ellis was a partner, and of the big winnings which he claims to have made. He further claims that the alleged attempt to shoot Ellis at Diamond Hill, Honolulu, on the way up from Australia, was his saying, "As I was too sick to climb the mountain and Ellis wanted revenge for the crack I gave him on the head." He then says: "After I am cleared of my trials, I would like to see the judge who sends a divorce to my unmarried Holyoke wife, so I can marry Nilda. Nilda is to be entirely free of any charge in case I surrender and no charge is to be brought against her and no sweating of any description. The people who are aiding us are not to be prosecuted."

DIAMOND RING FOUND. An examination of Andrews after the bodies were taken to the morgue brought to light the large diamond ring he was known to wear, also the oval-shaped ring of a cluster of small diamonds which he wore on his left hand. The woman wore in a purple was found by the police and an English sovereign. An emblem of a fraternal order and a gold watch chain completed the property found on Andrews.

No property of importance was found in the room, where the pair had been concealed and where they had evidently lived from hand to mouth and on the scale of poverty. There were evidences too that they were prepared for flight when the end came.

CAREER IN HOLYOKE. Holyoke, Mass., Nov. 7.—Milton Franklin Andrews, who killed himself and his companion, Nilda Olivia, in San Francisco last night, resided in this city for some time and was well known by the frequenters of pool rooms and similar resorts. He seldom had trouble with the police, although on one occasion he was charged with molesting a small boy, and was placed under arrest. Andrews was engaged in any permanent employment while here, but devoted a large part of his time to placing wagers on races and other sporting events. He married a Miss Welch of this city, and she still resides here.

Andrews was last seen in Holyoke about two years ago. When the Colorado authorities issued circulars for his arrest on a charge of murder, he fled to his early life here. Andrews, who was responsible for the death of a gambler named Bowler in New Britain about a year ago. Search was made but Bowler's murderer was never found. A man answering Andrews' description was seen in New Britain shortly before the Bowler murder and a friend of Andrews was positive that he saw him there. His brother, Alvin E. Andrews, lives in this city.

A Second precinct voter was in a quandary this morning as to which of two warm personal friends to turn down in voting for councilman, and finally decided by "flipping up" a dollar—"heads I win tails you lose."

The outlook is for a Republican city ticket, except in the case of the mayor, and his chances are not so favorable.

Most of these were for the Republican ticket, although it is understood that the race between Thomas Webb, the Republican candidate for mayor, and G. N. Childs, the Citizens' candidate, is quite close. This is also the case as between George Evans and Henry East, Republican and Citizens' candidates respectively for city marshal. The socialist vote is rather light.

ELECTIONS AROUSE GREAT INTEREST

IN CHICAGO. Chicago, Nov. 7.—A comparatively light abnormal "split" vote was predicted for the setting in judicial election in Chicago and Cook county today. Estimates of the total vote run from 165,000 to 235,000. The prediction of a split vote is based on the factional character of the campaign and on the trading which has been in progress.

Flurries of snow during the night turned to a cold rain this morning. Both the Republican and Democratic candidates are seeking an early hour start in the morning. The Republican candidates are in the superior court, the candidates for the four full term positions on the superior court bench—Republican, Democratic, Prohibitionist and Socialist. And the last are running against each other as candidate for trustees.

BOSTON. Boston, Nov. 7.—The voters in this state were today generally favored with fine weather and the indications in early forenoon pointed to a large total vote. In Boston and nearby cities and towns a large percentage of workmen voted before 8 o'clock. In this section it was estimated that nearly the whole Democratic strength was favoring Henry M. Whitney, the party candidate for lieutenant-governor.

SAN FRANCISCO. San Francisco, Nov. 7.—Unusual interest is being taken in the municipal election here today. The weather is perfect and as the registration is the heaviest on record a heavy vote doubtless will be cast. The polls will close at 3 o'clock p. m. and a voting machine is being used the result will be known early in the evening. The betting odds remain in favor of the re-election of Mayor E. E. Schmitz, the Union party candidate for mayor, and John S. Partridge, the nominee of the Republican and Democratic parties.

PITTSBURGH. Pittsburgh, Nov. 7.—Despite threatening weather an unusually heavy vote was being polled this morning. There was much interest. Much excitement was caused shortly after 10 o'clock by the firing of shots into a crowd surrounding the Allegheny county jail, where a polling place is located. Fraudulent voting was alleged and a fight started. No one was injured, but there was a panic among the voters. County Detective George Warren was arrested, charged with the shooting, but was later released.

VIRGINIA. Richmond, Va., Nov. 7.—With fair and cool weather the prospects were for a good, though not heavy vote. This was the first state election under the new constitution restricted to the negro vote. The Democratic will elect their full state ticket and a clear victory in the general assembly which will elect Senator Martin to succeed himself. There was no excitement. It was expected that the Republicans would make some legislative gains in the Ninth district. A conservative estimate was that the state would go Democratic by 25,000 majority.

OMAHA. Omaha, Neb., Nov. 7.—Election day opened with cool, cloudy weather. Many voters cast their ballots early and the indications are that there will be a heavy vote polled.

PRESIDENT GOES TO OYSTER BAY TO VOTE. Oyster Bay, L. I., Nov. 7.—There were only a few voters at the railroad station when President Roosevelt arrived here to vote as it was not generally known at what hour he would reach here. After shaking hands with everybody at the station, the president placed in the first district. This was a hall over a laundry and a fish market. There was a good sized crowd and the president shook hands with everyone. He received ballot No. 31 on which he voted for assemblyman, on six constitutional amendments, and on returning to the street the president stopped and chatted with some ball where Secy.
