SALT LAKE CITY, - SEPT. 14, 1906

CONFERENCE NOTICE.

The Seventy-seventh semi-annual general Conference of the Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-day Saints will assemble in the Tabernacle, Salt Lake City, on Friday, October 5, 1906, at 10 a. m.

THE GOVERNOR'S WARNING.

There appears to be quite a flurry in certain circles over the warning given by Governor John C. Cutler against rash speculation, and wild investments in mining stocks that have little if any substantial value.

It is true that the mining industry is, in some respects, different from many others. There is always an element of uncertainty about it, especially when a mine is in process of development, or a "prospect" is still awaiting the investment of capital to determine its status.

There is very great danger in the temptation offered by such speculations, to employ those who have the handling of funds belonging to their employers, and who are sometimes led to "borrow" means wherewith to invest, expecting fully to pay back the amounts when the stocks they purchase take a rise in the market.

Every young man, and every older person for that matter, should stand firm on the rock of right, by refraining under any circumstances from speculating with money that belongs to somebody else.

a large number of credulous folks here as elsewhere. There are different opinions among rational people as to the manifestations in so-called "spiritual" seances.

There have been so many "exposures" of those deceptions that it is really astonishing how many persons are still led away by them, and are ready to give their cash to the charlatans who profit by their credulity.

The present case is but one of hundreds of others when the "spirit" recognized by some deluded individual as the ghost of a dead relative, has been seized by a bold skeptic and proved to be a fraud in the flesh.

The only way to hinder the progress of that class of swindlers is to run them to earth, and then prosecute them with vigor, giving them the full penalties of the laws in such case made and provided.

The fakirs and fortune-tellers and mediums and other similar entrappers of the simple, ought to be followed up by the officers of the law and driven from their evil pursuits, either into honest means of living or into jail where they belong.

President Roosevelt's Cuban policy embraces the protection of Americans in the island, and preparations for any emergency. If intervention shall be thought to be necessary, the government will not shrink from the duty.

But, while waiting for developments in Cuba, our government should take the steps needed to prevent the insurgents from getting arms and supplies in this country.

"Newport, N. H., boasts a native resident who completed yesterday his hundred and fifth year, and has been 81 years a Mason.

In the district where a majority of the people are allied with the revolutionists, and a large part of the remainder are secretly favorable to the insurrection, the fact that the government forces do not meet with open resistance in the field is not a reason for predicting an early termination of the revolt.

It was the expertness with which the rebel conducted this kind of warfare that led the Spanish governors to establish the "trochas," or military lines, and later to send the entire population of certain districts into concentration camps.

the old superstitions that have ruled the masses in China for thousands of years, we are determined to do it. One of the most significant features of the present movement is the cutting off of digitalis, which have always been worn in our country.

The Chinese are coming to the front, and the rapidly with which Japan emerged from obscurity to military prominence, proves that the Asiatics are capable of progressing with wonderful speed.

These are dull days for the Icemen. Santos Dumont's latest aeroplane has fallen flat on its first trial.

W. R. Hearst has ceased to be an eligible quantity in New York politics. So little is heard from Oyster Bay these days that it must be under a reformed "spell."

The Cuban rebellion seems to thrive almost as well as when Butcher Weyler was in control. Mr. Bryan refuses to switch his position on the government ownership of railroads question.

That Hearst is running for governor of New York, shows that he does not expect to win in a walk. The price of diamonds continues to advance. The purpose of this is to keep up with the advance in wages.

Coach L. O. Gellesby of Northwestern University plans to have twelve football teams. This is genuine university extension. Samuel Gompers claims a moral victory in Maine. Mr. Littlefield claims a political one, and believes that a bird in the hand is worth two in the bush.

Canned roast beef will continue to be on the label "roast beef" notwithstanding the fact that in reality it is only boiled beef. What kind of a label would boiled beef bear?

"A good many people in Maine are for the prohibition law, but they are against its enforcement," says Speaker Cannon. And what is true of Maine is true of the people of most of the prohibition states.

William H. Newman of the New York Central railroad holds the record this year for directorships and trusteeships. He represents the Vanderbilt interests in 106 corporations. Frederick Underwood, president of the Erie road, holds 72 directorships and trusteeships. These gentlemen put Senator Dewey completely in the shade.

"Newport, N. H., boasts a native resident who completed yesterday his hundred and fifth year, and has been 81 years a Mason. There is no guess work about the age of James Bellows MacGregor, who was born in that place, the son of Joel MacGregor, who had been a Revolutionary soldier and lived to be 101 years old. Mr. MacGregor was 14 years old before he saw a wagon, one that was brought by his father from Connecticut, and the first one used in that part of New Hampshire.

The old man has just had his first ride in a large automobile, in company with Ezra T. Sibbey, his spry young neighbor 50 years old, says the Springfield Republican. May Mr. MacGregor live long and prosper! He deserves an old age pension.

IN CUBA. Pueblo Chieftain. the reclamation service of the United States, declares that eventually each acre of land under irrigation in New Mexico will support one person. As there is enough water in this territory, even in dry years, to irrigate anywhere from a million and a half to two millions and a half of acres, it does not take much figuring to fortell the coming greatness of this commonwealth.

Joe Jefferson Anecdote. The late Joseph Jefferson was well known for his kindness of heart, a kindness which extended to the smallest of animals; but nothing annoyed him more than affectation in this regard.
