PIONEER DAY IN WEBER COUNTY

Ogden Canyon and Other Resorts Thronged—Programs in Principal Towns.

DELICATE WORK OF SURGEONS

Miss Decker Under Operation for Closed Esophagus, Resulting from Lye Poisoning—News Briefs.

Ogden, July 25.—Pioneer day was quietly observed in Ogden yesterday. No special program had been arranged in the city, but all the pleasure resorts had an abundance of attractions, and were well patronized.

There were horse races at the Inter-Mountain Fair associations' tracks. At Glenwood ball park a baseball game was played between the Ogden's and the La Valle teams resulting in a victory for the former by a score of ten to seven. In the evening at Glenwood the boxing contest between Pete Sullivan of Lowell, Massachusetts, and Cyclone Thompson, of Syracuse, Ill. It went 29 rounds and was a good one. The decision was given Sullivan. Hundreds enjoyed the various amusements at Sylvan Park. The principal place of attraction was Ogden Canyon which was thronged the whole day by hundreds of people who wanted a cool spot.

In several of the county towns Pioneer demonstrations were held. Among the best was the one at Hooper, which was witnessed by about 1,500 people. Prof. W. M. McKendrick delivered an interesting Pioneer life, six genuine Washakie Indians were present and took part in the exercises. Fortunately no accidents resulted from the days' pleasuring.

EXPERT SURGERY.

Miss Decker of Provo Undergoes Delicate Operation.

Ogden, July 25.—The 16-year-old daughter of Charles Decker of Provo was brought to Ogden this week for a surgical operation. She was accompanied by her mother and taken to the home of Joseph Decker on Twenty-fifth street. Drs. Rich and Osgood examined her and found that the esophagus was almost closed up so that she could not eat solid foods. The condition of her esophagus was caused by her drinking some lye when a child but about four years of age which nearly caused her death. From the effects of the lye she has suffered considerable ever since, but of late she has not been able to eat solid foods and her physical condition was weakening. Her parents therefore decided to bring her to Ogden, and the operation was performed this week. The obstructions in these places were removed, so that when the wounds are healed up she will be able to eat again without difficulty. The doctors expect that for a long time a tube will have to be used at times to open up the esophagus. The operation was a very delicate one, and was skillfully performed and that the girl will soon regain her strength and be able to take substantial foods.

WIFE VISITING—HUSBAND HURT.

Chief of Police Browning has been requested to locate Mrs. Claudia Shirley, of Butte, Montana, who is supposed to be in Ogden. She is carrying a telegram to the police read: "Find Claudia Shirley. Tell her to come to Butte at once. Husband seriously hurt. No money. Will send ticket."

HIGH PRIESTS OF WEBER STAKE.

The high priests' quorum of this stake will hold its regular meeting in the Third ward institute, on the 27th of this month, Saturday.

PIONEER DAY CELEBRATIONS.

At Kayville—Pioneer day was celebrated with a grand parade, a fine program in the meetinghouse, sports in the afternoon and dances in the evening. At the gathering in the morning, interesting speeches were made by Pres. Joseph H. Grant of the Davis stake, Andrew Jensen, Mrs. Susan Grant and Horace Drake. There are still living in Davis county 15 of the pioneers of '47, 13 of whom were present; namely, William K. Rice, aged 87; Horace Drake, 81; Silas S. Smith, 77; Andrew N. Callahan, 76; Thomas Abbott, 75; Susan Grant, 75; Mary Margaret Brandon, 71; Elizabeth Perry Hatch, 71; Amelia Smith, 69; William V. Halght, 66; Carlos L. Sessions 65; Joseph H. Evans, 62; and Caroline Harris, 62. Carlos L. Sessions is the son of Pioneer Perrigrine Sessions, who was the first settler of Davis county, coming there in the fall of 1847.

Spring City gave a splendid program in honor of the departed pioneers, G. A. Iverson, a recent graduate of Ann Arbor, was the orator of the day. Many citizens of Spring city are at Nephi in attendance at the Indian War veterans' encampment.

At Springville—Pioneer day was quietly celebrated under the direction of the Fourth ward Sunday schools, a program being given in the general meetinghouse with sports on the city park in the afternoon, finishing with a ball in the evening.

Mapleton had the best Pioneer celebration in its history. A splendid program was presented, followed by the usual holiday sports in the afternoon.

At Nephi between 4,000 and 5,000 people joined with the Indian war veterans now in state encampment here in celebrating Utah's natal day in a grand manner. A fine program was rendered in the park both in the morning and afternoon. The big features of the day's attractions were the horse races, ball games, and the Indian skirmish and sham battle given on the public square, depicting early troubles of the pioneers.

CARDSTON, CANADA.

BUMPER CROPS IN ALBERTA.

Irrigation Convention—Promotions in Customs House—News Briefs.

Cardston, Alberta, August 12.—Mayor J. A. Hammett, accompanied by his daughters, Amy and Alta, left the first of this week for a trip to Utah and Idaho. Councilman, F. Brown is acting mayor. Many people will be pleased to learn of the promotion which came to F. D. Shaw, for he has been promoted to local at St. Mary's River, and later at Cardston. Mr. Shaw takes charge of the office at Letbridge, which is a part of entry.

E. N. Barber is receiving the congratulations of numerous friends, upon his appointment as collector of customs at Cardston. Mr. Barber is a pioneer in Alberta and at the time the late President G. C. Card was in office he was a resident on what is now a part of the townsite.

Through sickness H. Manly Brown, one of the town council, has been forced to retire from the position he occupied and a by-election held this week placed Thos. Bruce once more in that honorable position.

Much interest is manifested in the first irrigation convention to be held in Canada. It is to be convened at Calgary next week; a number of the leading farmers of the district expect to be in attendance. It is also anticipated that leading agriculturists and irrigation authorities from some of the western states will be there to give instruction and advice.

Some of the largest private irrigation undertakings are now being inaugurated in western Canada, where the water supply seems to be unlimited.

Crops in general never looked better. The only complaints to date are that in many places the grain is so rank and heavy that it is being lodged, which will make it more difficult to harvest. Haying is already begun in many localities. Favorable indications for the best crop in years.

Summer holidays have their devotees, notwithstanding the busy season. A party of young people left this week for Vancouver and coast cities, while a number are attending the exhibition at Winnipeg, and many others have affairs of as to spend the vacation at the lakes in the mountains.

The Waterton Oil, Land and Power company, which has a sawmill located just at the outlet of the Kootenay lakes, has built a launch for towing the logs from the head of the lakes and no doubt excursionists will be able to get much pleasure this summer because of the boat ride afforded; also better opportunities for fishing, etc.

Elder Charles Burt leaves Cardston this month to visit his mother in Great Britain, while Mountain View furnishes a representative in the person of Elder G. Hartley.

TURNER WAIVES EXAMINATION.

Boston, Mass., July 25.—Paul B. Turner, arrested in Newark last Friday, upon the charge of embezzling $78 from the postoffice at Oakland, Cal., where he was formerly a clerk, waived examination when arraigned before U. S. Commissioner Hayes yesterday and started for California this morning in the custody of two U. S. deputies.

"BIG BILL" RISHEL IN A NEW ROLE

It's always the same old story in the same old way; an array of repentant followers of Hachus; "vags" who want to leave the city, although they have been given a dozen chances to do so; families involved in complicated disputes; petit larcenists and reckless riders of bicycles, autos and wagons. The batch of business laid before Judge C. B. Diehl this morning was ground out quickly. The docket contained few sensational features.

W. D. Rishel, "Big Bill," Salt Lake's famous sporting editor, occupied a reserved seat on the mourner's bench. Spectator Grey remarked to him this morning and swore to a complaint charging him with violating the bicycle ordinance. "Bill" was hurrying home, after filing the "If It Happens" page, on a bicycle, as is his custom, and his path led him over the crossing on Fourth South and State streets into the city and county building grounds, where a bicycle path runs along the inside of the hedge through the park. This path is for bicycles exclusively. Patrolman Grey saw the rider coming through the darkness with no light or bell on his machine. He commanded the rider to stop, and Mr. Rishel stopped.

"What for?" asked the newspaper man.

"Violating the bicycle ordinance," answered the man with big star and with the big stick.

An argument followed—a peaceable argument—in which Mr. Rishel displayed a thorough acquaintance with the ruling of the new ordinance. He told the policeman he was mistaken but that zealous person insisted upon taking the big writer to the station. Mr. Rishel accompanied him and was in court this morning when his name was called. After the policeman had told his story Mr. Rishel again displayed unusual composure in discussing the meaning of the new ordinance on the stand. It was his belief he had committed no offense in crossing the walk to get from the street to the "bike" path and after some thought the court thought likewise. Mr. Rishel was dismissed.

"I want to know if I am to be arrested every night," he announced as he left the court room.

"You seem to know what your rights are and how to get them," answered the court, with a smile as he glanced at the six feet and more of man before him.

"That's sufficient," said Mr. Rishel significantly, as he left the room.

Frank Byers, a deaf and dumb transient, was shown a complaint charging him with drunkenness. He read it and scribbled guilty on his pad of paper. The court then scribbled "30 days in jail" and what Byers would do as he resumed his seat would wreck a linotype machine.

"Governor" Allen, a negro, confessed he was drunk yesterday. "I got out day before yesterday," he further confessed. "Governor" will spend 10 days in jail unless he has $10 to pay the fine imposed upon him.

Jennie Steele, who is before the court unless she is in jail serving sentences for drunkenness, pleaded guilty to being intoxicated this morning.

"I thought you were going away," said the court, sternly. "I thought I could scare you away, but I see its useless."

"Now, your honor, I started out to borrow money for train fare and I drank a little, but I was so weak it upset me; but I want to leave town judge, honest. I will ride in the patrol to the station if you will give me another chance."

"Why if we were to put you on the train you'd fall off and get back," answered the judge. "The sentence of the court is that you pay a fine of $40 or spend 40 days in jail."

"You want to keep me in jail until

I draw my last breath," whimpered Jennie as she was taken towards the cell in which she has spent so many weary hours.

Frank J. Gleason, charged with vagrancy and begging, explained he had asked a friend for money. H. D. Lyon, the arresting officer, swore the man touched had said he did not know Gleason. The defendant was fined $30 or sentenced to spend 30 days under Jailer Wilkinson's care.

Nicholas Wilson was found guilty of battery and will be sentenced tomorrow morning.

A charge of battery against Press Jackson was dismissed upon request of Millie Williams, the waitress, who swore to the complaint. "I had satisfaction yer honor; I had satisfaction," she explained.

MILFORD

GAMBLING SUPPRESSED.

Loss of Miss Minona White Keenly Felt in Beaver County.

Special Correspondence.

Milford, Beaver Co., July 25.—Bad news seldom comes in isolated order. Tragedies are rife hereabout. Omitting extended mention of the recent drowning of Ole Johnson in the Beaver river here, attention is directed to the death of Conductor Adams of the San Pedro, because of the circumstances having previously been given out, the announcement is not the death of a young woman of Beaver City, which is another source of sorrow keen and deep. She was the daughter of President C. D. White of that stake; was named Winona and was a most lovable member of society. She had followed the occupation of school teacher very efficiently and in that capacity was in attendance on the school convention lately concluded at Loa, Angeles. Having gone with the others on the ill-fated Columbia excursion, she became one of the hundred who went down to rise no more.

GAMBLING SUPPRESSED.

Milford is no more a wide-open town, albeit as wide wide as ever. The inhabitants of the places where frisky roulette, elusive faro and philosophic poker were erstwhile on tap, must for the nonce seek other pastures in which to gamble, or gamble. It all came about through one of the players who claimed to have been victimized by a sure-thing game going over to Beaver and swearing out a complaint for grand larceny against the proprietor of the resort and his chief lieutenant. The sheriff promptly put in an appearance, the persons referred to were hauled over to the county seat, and placed under bonds of $2,000 to answer to the district court. The officer, having broken the ice, went on in his reform work and gently notified the boys that the jig was up or words to that effect, and now the rattle of the dice-box and the rhythmic spin of the wheel are hushed, while the sounds of revelry attendant upon the gaming have also evaporated into the clouds, and a silence like unto that of Dean Maltland prevails around the thirst parlors one and all. It is a new experience here for sure.

Milford is now reveling in home-

STATE NEWS BRIEFS.

Fire at Dewey, Ida.—The Dewey hotel (Owyhee county) was destroyed by fire July 24, entailing a loss of $15,000 to the W. H. Dewey estate. No insurance. Mark Colburn, the lessee, will also lose $4,000.

Incediarism at Hyrum.—Very early Sunday morning Mrs. C. C. Shaw was awakened and discovered her barn on fire, starting from the second floor, where a board had been wrenched off. She and her daughter formed a bucket brigade and thus prevented the destruction of barn, stables, buggy shed and chicken coop. Mr. Shaw, having carried fire insurance on his residence, immediately placed a similar one on his outbuildings. Similar incendiary attempts have been made to destroy S. S. Winge's shoeshop.

Sad Accident at Nephi.—A very sad accident occurred at Nephi Friday last when the 3-year-old grandchild of Charles Hall, little Ivan Ludwick, wandered off into the grain field where Mr. Hall was cutting grain. Without noticing this fact the binder was run right on the child before the team could be stopped. The knife on the binder cut the large bone on the right arm and made several other large lacerations in the arm. The doctors were called in and dressed the injured member and expressed the hope that the arm might be saved.

Cache County Jurors.—County Clerk Larsen has just drawn the following names of those who will serve as jurors for the August term of the district court for Cache county: Joseph B. Kent Wheeler; Benjamin Carlisle, Logan; John A. Johnson, Logan; Joseph Hardman, Mendon; Alfred Guehn, Logan; W. T. Hopkins, Logan; William H. Bestor, Wellsville; David Crookston, Hyrum; Charles T.
