

WATER RIGHTS WORTH MILLIONS

Judge Morse to Adjudicate One of the Most Stubborn Suits Ever in Utah Courts.

ACTION BEGAN A YEAR AGO.

Affects Every Property Owner Along Little Cottonwood Creek—Over 200 Witnesses Examined.

Water rights worth approximately $10,000,000 will have to be adjudicated by Judge Morse and the final adjudication of these rights will terminate one of the most stubborn water right suits that has ever been before the Utah courts.

The controversy was over water-rights in the Little Cottonwood creek and in the canals taking water therefrom. The suit affects every owner of property along these water courses.

MEAT PRICES DROP.

It is Butte, However, and Not Salt Lake That Gets the Benefit.

Since the advancing market was broken at Butte, Mont., on account of the partial shut down of the big copper mines, meat prices have dropped very materially over the prices previously maintained, which in turn were lower than the Salt Lake figures.

The finest Big Horn basin steers are offered at the following prices per pound:

Table with 2 columns: Meat type and Price per pound. Includes items like Prime rib roast, Shoulder roast, Pot roast, Short ribs, Beef, Sirloin steaks, Porterhouse, and Shoulder steaks.

The reduction is not confined to beef. Mutton steers is advertised for 2 1/2 cents, roast mutton for 3 1/2 and leg of mutton for 12 1/2 cents.

Veal, pork, and poultry prices run at about the same figures, and all of them rarely equal the prices in preference to paying 25 cents for one tomato sliced, that costs the restaurant man 1/4 of 1 cent, and for other orders in proportion is growing rapidly.

Evidence taken to submit to a local grand jury still goes on. Today a case was reported of a wagon repairing firm which attempted to justify extortion bills by submitting a schedule showing that they were the prices fixed by an agreement among such institutions.

BARBER SHOP LOOTED.

Burglars Enter Matt Lyon's Establishment and Take Things Up.

Matt Lyon's barber shop, under the Templeton building, was entered by burglars some time last night, and this morning the place looked like it had been struck by a cyclone.

In all, some four or five dozen razors were taken away by the thieves, one barber alone losing 25 valuable razors, belonging either to himself or his customers.

The shop is headquarters of a laundry, and a large number of packages were stacked up, ready to be called for by customers.

Entrance was gained by the burglars breaking a glass in the door, by which means the lock was turned. The matter was reported early this morning to the police, but as yet there is no clue to the guilty parties.

WOODPERSINS MAKE DIFFERENCE

"Gunplay" Maxwell's Attorneys Paint Bad Man With Whitewash.

SAY REIDLE SHOT FIRST.

Rather Warm in Vicinity of Helper So Bliss Makes Charge for His Health.

"Gunplay" Maxwell, bad man, whose right name is Charles L. Bliss, reached this city last evening from Price. He has been in the jail of that city as a result of a pistol duel between him and L. T. Reidle, a railroad man of Helper.

Through his attorneys, M. P. Braffett and S. King, the "bad man" has told his story. There is a wide difference between the version of the two participants in Sunday's battle. The attorney for Maxwell says Reidle shot first and their fight when the affair comes to trial will be made upon a plea of self-defense.

Maxwell was taken before Justice of the Peace Mathis to answer to a complaint of newspaper editor Max Erbe, a deadly weapon with intent to commit murder Monday; he was asked to put up $5,000 as bail for his liberty between now and Oct. 14, the date of his preliminary hearing.

This amount was promptly furnished by M. P. Braffett, general counsel for the Utah Fuel company, and Maxwell then came to Salt Lake. Feeling is running high against him in the neighborhood of Helper and it was thought safer to remove the cause of irritation—the "bad man."

"PUSHED" THROUGH WINDOW.

Upon reaching Salt Lake Maxwell immediately was arrested by a police officer. His attorneys did not dodge the press at all and had a lengthy and detailed story to tell of the whole affair.

First thing Maxwell said when he was taken to jail was that he was not as badly hurt as was thought at first, even in jumping through the window—he was pushed, he says—he scraped his nose. This was thought to be a bluff, but it was not.

Dr. Frank Fisk started to attend to Maxwell's injuries but when the patient learned his physician was president of the company publishing the newspaper men and blamed last Sunday's shooting scrape to the stories printed recently about him.

A hair pulling episode in the marital experiences of Eliza P. Trotter and James Trotter is the basis of an action in divorce brought in the Third district court yesterday by Mrs. Trotter.

REFORMED "BAD MAN."

Differences are pointed out by Reidle's friends in the story Maxwell's attorney has now telling and the one told by Reidle's attorney. Both lawyers told right after the affair.

SOME PEOPLE DON'T LIKE HIM.

Mr. King said the shooting affair Sunday night, Sept. 23, was a case of a man starting three weeks ago when Maxwell came back from Nevada, where he had been doing guard for the mining companies.

TWO SIDES CONTINUED.

Next in the regular order of events are the stories of Reidle's appearance. Maxwell's attorneys say the whole affair was a conspiracy to start the trouble and take a hand. The defense says Maxwell turned suddenly to find himself looking down the barrel of an automatic revolver in Reidle's hand.

WARD ENTERTAINMENTS.

Farewell Entertainment—A farewell entertainment will be given in honor of Joshua S. Becham, at the Nineteenth ward meetinghouse, Friday evening, Sept. 27, prior to his departure on a mission to Great Britain.

MADE HIMSELF OBNOXIOUS.

The whole trouble was the result of labor for the stories for his sides indicate. Maxwell was employed by the Utah Fuel company to do general duty during troublesome times and made himself obnoxious by getting out on his feet during a party.

PECULIAR FEATURES.

A peculiar feature is that Sam King says is now defending him appeared against Maxwell during his trial for robbing the Springville bank.

JURY COMPLETED IN BORAH CASE

Government Counsel Arraigns Late Gov. Steunenberg as The Central Figure.

SENATOR WAS AN ATTORNEY.

Prosecution Claims His Case Comes Under Head of Misdemeanor And Not a Felony.

Boise, Ida., Sept. 24.—The government today revealed its charge in the case of United States Senator Borah, charged with timber land frauds. The jury was completed at the morning session and during the afternoon Judge M. C. Burch of Detroit, Mich., special assistant to the attorney-general, made the opening statement of the prosecution.

He arraigned the late Gov. Frank Steunenberg as the central figure in the alleged conspiracy by which it is claimed that more than 17,000 acres of virgin forest lands, thick with towering pines, were fraudulently taken to the possession of the Barber Lumber company, a Wisconsin corporation operating a plant in this city.

Mr. Burch connected Senator Borah with the land transactions only as attorney, first for Steunenberg and then for the lumber concern. He declared that Senator Borah interested himself in all matters having an outward bearing on the lands claimed by "dummy" entrainers, turned over to "dummy" trustees and by them deeded over to the Barber company.

At the close of the day the senator's office and staff in the county clerk's office as being recorded at his request. It is claimed Senator Borah procured the register of the land office to be changed in several claims which were held up and warned by that official that the claims were fraudulent and should be let alone.

The jury as completed is as follows: Jules C. Miller, farmer; J. E. Yates, president of the Boise bank of Commerce; Thomas B. Green, wool grower; Boot, printer and publisher; Ora C. Cox, carpenter; T. W. Randall, farmer; C. E. Bilbaker, president First National bank of Emmett, Ida.; Peter Heth, rancher; Albert Beck, rancher; and E. S. Cushman, retired rancher.
