

WAS SHOT DOWN IN COLIC BLOOD

Tom Downs, a Wyoming Oil Driller, Killed Fellow Workman At Evanston.

UNDER INFLUENCE OF LIQUOR.

Both Men Were Employes of Salt Lake And Pittsburg Oil Co.—Thought To Be Woman in Case.

(Special to the "News.")

Evanston, Wyo., Oct. 16.—Tom Downs, an oil driller in the employ of the Salt Lake & Pittsburg Oil Co., shot and killed Ira Taylor, a fellow worker, yesterday shortly after the noon hour, on the company's works at Spring Valley, a place about 15 miles from here.

Downs recently came from Florence, Colo., to work for the oil company at Spring Valley. He was under the influence of liquor yesterday, and when the men assembled to partake of their midday meal, he seemed to be rather quarrelsome, arguing with the men about politics and other subjects that the others would talk with him about. After the dinner was over, they went to the bunk house and it was here that Downs shot and killed Taylor, seemingly in cold blood.

DOWN'S DENIES ACT.
Downs claims Taylor killed himself, but everything is against this theory, as a postmortem examination revealed the fact that it was impossible for him to have shot himself.

Downs is in the county jail here awaiting a hearing. There may be a woman in the case and it is perhaps the only motive for the killing.

REGARDING RUM SHOPS.

They Must Keep Beyond Three Hundred Feet of School Houses.

Atty. Gen. Breeden, in a letter to County Atty. J. G. Jorgensen, publishes the following opinion to the effect that no barroom can be licensed to sell liquor closer than 300 feet from a schoolhouse.

"In reply to your favor of the 7th inst. you are advised that section 1245, Revised Statutes of 1895, provides that no liquor license shall be granted to any establishment, except a hotel, located within 300 feet of any public school building being used for that purpose. The purpose of this law is to protect and guard the school children from the evil influence surrounding open saloons where men congregate and loiter about and indulge in the evils of the drink habit.

The legislature very wisely prohibits the saloons and the sale of liquor within less than 300 feet of a building used for school purposes. The meaning of this law is, I take it, that no bar-room or place where men commonly congregate and drink liquor shall be within less than 300 feet of a school building used for that purpose. I understand that if the only entrance to the bar is beyond 300 feet from a schoolhouse and there is no back or side entrance closer than the distance mentioned, the law is satisfied. It must be distinctly understood, however, that the place where the license authorizes the liquor to be sold and drunk must be fully 300 feet or more from the nearest point of the schoolhouse. The actual barroom used for that purpose and the place where the license authorizes the liquor to be sold and drunk must be fully 300 feet or more from the nearest point of the schoolhouse.

NEW REMEDY FOR BURNS.

Dr. Stanley H. Clawson Claims to Have Discovered An Infalible One.

Dr. Stanley H. Clawson has discovered what he claims to be an infalible remedy for burns, and wishing to give the public the benefit of his discovery, he asks that the "News" publish the same.

Dr. Clawson made the discovery by accident. One day while using a soldering iron he burned his fingers with the hot iron, and rushing upstairs to find some turpentine, took from the shelf by mistake a bottle of eucalyptol, a medical preparation consisting of liquid extracted from the eucalyptus tree. The soothing influence of the liquid on the burn was remarkable and instantaneous, and with a few more applications he was able to use the injured members. The liquid was also used with like healing effect by an electrician who burned the side of his face and neck in a terrible manner, also by other members of Dr. Clawson's family; eucalyptol has now become a household remedy with him, and he strongly advises everyone to carry this item out and paste it up where it can be seen in time of need. The fluid is harmless, and the injured parts may be impressed in it without danger. It is used as a germicide in dentistry, and may be had at any drug store.

CHANCES ON 'OLD HOSS' SALES.

Buyers of Auction Express Packages Take Considerable Risk.

While the recent old hoss sale of the Pacific Express company was well attended, and the bidding brisk, the receipts fell short of the total of charges checked up against the packages. And then there is a chance of the owners for a number of the parcels auctioned off turning up and demanding pay for their goods. The law allows four years for reclamation of lost packages, so the express companies preserve their records for that length of time before destroying them. Whether the auction price of a parcel balances the express charges marked up against it, depends largely upon the initial point of shipment. Two packages of equal value may be put up for auction, one from New York and the other from Brigham City, sold at the same price, the former would be far behind the charges marked against it, while the other would be a heavy gainer on account of the difference in the distance traveled.

SUCCESSFUL TRYOUT.

Rebuilt Pine Organ at First Congregational Church Gives Satisfaction.

The trustees of the First Congregational church and invited friends were present at the trying of the rebuilt organ, before formal acceptance after its reconstruction. Prof. A. H. Peabody, organist of St. Mark's cathedral, officiated at the console, as Prof. Shepherd could not be present owing to the bereavement in his family. The instrument was found to be even in better condition than when it was built in 1892. The new radial concave pedals proved a marked improvement over the old time box, the manuals were easier of manipulation, the response of the organ to the touch of the keyboard was much quicker than before, the various swell pedals and all of the mechanical accessories were in perfect condition, the pipes that had sounded harsh, were toned down, the tuning was perfect; in fact there was nothing about the organ that did not commend itself to the audience. Mr. Grant of Boston, representing the Hutchings-Votey Organ company, was congratulated on the thoroughness of his work.

WORK ON S. L. & O.

Completed to Ogden With Exception Of One Big Cut.

Senator Bamberger is very hopeful over the prospects of the Salt Lake & Ogden road. While the road is doing a traffic business only to Layton, the rails are laid to the Weber river, around the cut that is being completed for the permanent track to run through. The cut is 1,000 feet long and 60 feet wide, and is quite an undertaking, but Senator Bamberger, with characteristic energy, is pushing the work along, so that he is confident the Salt Lake & Ogden road will be opened for operation by the first of the year. At that

DIPHTHERIA CAUSES ALARM.

Health Board Stops Sale of Suspected Milk—Family is Quarantined.

The spread of diphtheria in milk is alarming the board of education and the city board of health. The owner of the cows in question has been directed to cease selling milk. The alarm to the board of education is occasioned by the fact that two children were attending the Jackson school up to the time that diphtheria was discovered in the home of the children.

At the home of Mrs. P. T. Miller, 27 north Fourth West street, she and her two children, Francis and Margaret, are quarantined with the malady. Before it was known that the disease was present in the home, the children were attending school. The board members are optimistic, however, and expect no spread of the disease.

REPAIRS ON THIRD WEST.

At Intersection of North Temple Great Activity Prevails.

The intersection of Third West and North Temple streets is the center of a good deal of activity. The intersection is being repaired in the first place. Then the Short Line engineers have just completed the rebuilding of the City creek conduit under the street, and cemented the banks between the street and the park where the conduit passes under the tracks to emerge just beyond North West street. At the northwest corner of the street intersection, the old Wingar adobe house, said to be 60 years old, is being demolished to make way for the Lyne warehouse. The heavy concrete footings for the warehouse walls are now being laid, operation being made by dumping the concrete from ore cars which are filled at the machine mixer, and then run along on an improvised railway to where the mixture is to be deposited. Close by, a tall mill elevator is being completed.

WOOD DAVIS GOES FREE.

Case of Attempted Grand Larceny is Dismissed Today.

Wood Davis, arrested some time ago on the charge of attempted grand larceny, will not have to stand trial for the alleged offense. The case was set for tomorrow morning for preliminary hearing, but this morning the matter was dismissed by Judge C. E. Diehl on motion of the prosecution, because the evidence failed to establish that Davis tried to steal from John Jimison a diamond stick pin valued at $29.

GREEK LABORERS STRIKE.

Bunch of Street Railway Employees Did Not Like New Boss.

Sixty-four Greek laborers, employed by the street railway service in finishing up the Waterloo line improvements, struck at 11 a. m. today, because they did not like their new boss. The one formerly set over them had been laid off because his services were unobtainable, and the new one has been unable to get on "the high side" of his men. The open rupture came today, and the strikers picked up their buckets and marched up to the West Temple street main offices where they were paid off and discharged.

TUNNEL MONEY IS ALL ASSURED

Colorado Anxious to Take Up Bonds for Moffat Road Project.

INVOLVES A SIX-MILE BORE.

Hole Through Continental Divide to Bring Denver Twelve Hours Nearer Salt Lake.

Financial preparations in the project covering the driving of a tunnel through Continental divide to shorten the distance between Salt Lake and Denver are assuming satisfactory shape. Pledges for bonds are being received in surprising number and from the eagerness displayed by reliable men for them, preliminary work can be started as soon as necessary papers can be drawn up. The tunnel will be a six-mile affair for the use of the Moffat road and the bonds are to be redeemed within ten years by the Moffat road, which will then own the tunnel. The Moffat road will be surety for the Continental Tunnel company; Charles J. Hughes, attorney for the Moffat road and Attorney James H. Hood for the tunnel company are now drawing up all papers such as contracts, blank forms etc. This is being done rapidly.

CUT TIME IN TWO.

Subscriptions to the tunnel fund will reach $5,000,000 and the work alone will cost every cent of this big amount. Interest at 6 per cent on the bonds, paid semi-annually, will amount to $900,000. To investors they look as good as government bonds. The brains connected with the project are not putting themselves on the pay-roll at enormous salaries, they all receive men and in being such are willing to work for their state and west—and not worry about the salary end of the proposition. The minimum temperature of the tunnel, of James peak will cut through the divide, cutting out 20 miles running on the one divide and the running time—about 12 hours—will be cut just in half. This proposition is one of the most important new railroad ventures Salt Lake has to congratulate herself on.

BROTHERS WANT INQUEST.

Tremayne Boys Say Brother Was Allowed to Bleed to Death.

An inquest on the death of Fred Tremayne has been requested by the dead man's brothers, A. C. and George Tremayne. Fred was the man run over at Wood's Cross Oct. 11, by an O. S. train. He died later in the L. D. S. hospital. They allege he was allowed to bleed to death when he could have probably survived being run over had medical attention been obtained at once. Tremayne got off one train to transfer to another. He sat between the tracks and another was thrown over the tracks. A freight thundered up, mangling the member terribly. This was a half hour past midnight and it is said Tremayne was kept in a caboose for three hours, after which he was taken to a resident of Wood's Cross offered to take the young man to the nearest doctor in a buggy but the offer was not accepted. The inquest will be held Friday afternoon in Judge Smith's court.

DOUBTS ANNOUNCEMENT.

Reno Resident Says Western Pacific Can't be Finished by 1909.

A. A. Hibbard of Reno in an interview printed in the Reno Gazette says 25 steam shovels are now at work between that city and Quincy. Mr. Hibbard, continuing a loop similar to the Tabachapi loop is being constructed to take up the grade. At this place the grade comes back at the end of the loop 25 feet lower than it began, being about one mile long. A mile above Spring Garden, on Squire creek, the cut one of the long tunnels is about 2,500 feet and is giving great trouble by the settling character of the soil in the hill. There is talk of building a temporary switch-back to connect the tunnel with the middle fork of the Feather river to tunnel the hill, which is a branch, and thus lead the railroad to the north fork of the Feather river. Although the Western Pacific expects to have the trains running through Nevada before 1909, the opinion prevails that the immense work will take a longer time. The line is three and one-half miles north of Quincy at its nearest point, and the opinion prevails that the immense work will take a longer time.
