

FOUL MURDER OF YOUNG WOMAN

Body Found in Pond in Hackensack Meadow, in Town of Harrison, N. J.

NO CLUE TO THE MURDERER.

Two Girls Thought They Heard Cries Of "Spare Me" and "Help" from Direction of Pond.

Newark, N. J., Dec. 26.—Murder, combining the elements of mystery and deliberate cruelty, was committed in Hackensack meadow, in the town of Harrison, early today, and the mangled body of the victim, a comely woman of perhaps 30 years, was found nearly submerged in the icy waters of a little pond. Only the feet protruded when chance passerby broke the ice in which the exposed portions were incased and dragged the body ashore this afternoon.

The dead woman was finely featured, her hair and nails gave evidence of a recent and scrupulous toilet, and such of her clothing as was subsequently found suggested in texture and style an owner of refinement rather than one whose habits might lead her to frequent the vicinity of the crime. The pond in which the body was thrown is made by the overflow from the Passaic river, and is directly across a river from this effect projected when night, and it was pretty well established that it was not that of a resident of this city or Harrison. Its description does not correspond with that of any woman reported to the police as missing. Two men who occupied a yacht moored near where the body was found are detained by the police, but the most important clue obtained was furnished tonight by Peter Coogan, a watchman employed by the Marine Engine company, who recognized the body as that of a woman whom he had seen crossing the meadows in company with a man early today. Later he saw the man alone. He then carried a bundle in his arms. The man was short and stout, Coogan, whose duties keep him in the neighborhood of the murder, told the police:

"While outdoors at 2 o'clock this morning I saw this woman in company with a man cross the meadows, going in the direction of the pond. They passed so near me that I am able to recognize the woman's features. Some time later, perhaps an hour, the man returned and again passed me, this time going in the direction from which the two had come when I first saw them. This time the man was alone. In his arms he carried a bundle which he had not had before. In build he was short and thick-set."

Coogan could not give a better description of the man. Two girls returning to their home in Harrison long after midnight this morning heard a woman's cries floating over the meadow. They seemed to come from the direction of the pond to the startled girls sounded like "Spare me" and "Help."

Nearer home the girls were approached by a well dressed stranger, who accosted and followed them until a policeman was met, when he turned and fled. The girls had a good view of the man under an electric light, and while he was well and neatly dressed his hands showed either that he was accustomed to manual labor or had recently been engaged in work that soiled his fingers.

Life was extinct, the coroner says, about 10 hours when the body was found. A mark on the neck indicated that strangulation was the manner of death. Scratches on the leg, and trunk, and pieces of cinder forced into the flesh showed that the body had been dragged along a cinder path which skirts the pond. Along the path the police picked up a white silk waist, slashed up the back, a skirt and a pair of silk garters. Following the path, the police came upon the yacht Idle Hour, which was tied up at a point on the Passaic about 300 feet from where the body was found. On the yacht the police say they found a scrubby muff and a fur neck piece.

The occupants of the yacht were Albert Thompson, 41 years of age, of Elizabeth, a boatman, and Frederick Kirkman, 33 years of age. Both men were employed on the boat. Thompson said he found the fur pieces near the cinder path this morning. The police found on the boat a dish and enough for three diners. There were three

FATHER THOUGHT CHILD WOULD DIE

Suffered with Cuban Itch, and Sores Covered Body from Head to Foot—Would Claw Himself and Cry All the Time—Could Not Be Dressed—Mother Advised to Try the Cuticura Remedies.

CURED BY CUTICURA AT EXPENSE OF 75c.

"My little boy in the Spring of 1901, when only an infant of three months, caught the Cuban Itch from one of my neighbor's babies. Sores broke out from the head to the bottom of his feet. He would itch and claw himself and cry all the time. He could not sleep day or night. I had to wash him in his carriage most all the while, but he was still. He could not bear to have his clothing washed, and only a light dress is all he could wear. I can't begin to speak in words the suffering the poor child had to go through. I called one of our best doctors to treat him, and he said he had the Cuban Itch, and his treatment did not do any good. He seemed to get worse. He suffered so much that my husband said he believed he would give up hope almost given up hope. When a lady friend told me to try the Cuticura Remedies, she said she cured her little girl's case, which was nearly eaten up with the sores. I got a box of Cuticura Soap and one box Cuticura Ointment, and I washed him all over with the Cuticura Soap and applied the Cuticura Ointment and he fell into a sleep, and he slept with ease for the first time since two months. When he awoke, he said he felt much better, and after three applications the sores began to dry up and improve. I began to wash him in a few days and he began to crawl. I only used one box Cuticura Soap and one box Cuticura Ointment to complete the cure of the dreadful disease, and I feel safe in saying that the Cuticura Remedies saved his life. He is now a boy of five years, and is as well as any child you ever saw. Mrs. James Miller, Union City, N. H., No. 1, Branch Co., Mich., May 17, 1906."

LYNCHING MAY RESULT IN DEADLY RACE WAR.

Henryetta, Okla., Dec. 26.—With every available fighting man, several tons of ammunition in the town, Henryetta is fearing a deadly race war as the result of the lynching of James Garden, a negro. Reports of armed negroes advancing upon the town have been received from both the Wild Cat and Clear View settlements. The firing of a small negro shack, owned by a white man, near the Frisco station, this morning, caused a call to arms. Within five minutes after the fire alarm was given nearly 100 armed men were prepared for action. They are now patrolling the town. Three citizens' patrols have been established. Thirty-five negroes, heavily armed, passed through Wild Cat today, including the blacks to revolt. They are camped near the river within 10 miles of Henryetta. More than 30 armed blacks have gone from Weleska to Clear View, one of the thickest negro settlements in the coal fields. About 20 stands of small arms were purchased by negroes in Weleska before the hardware stores quit selling to blacks. Many negroes have left Okmulgee and headed toward Wild Cat to join forces with the band that passed through that town early in the evening.

He built the monitor "Cannon," which was in the bombardment of Fort Fisher in the Civil war, and as late as 1890 built the United States ship Marblehead, which was with Dewey in Manila bay.

COTTON MILLS CURTAILING.

Boston, Dec. 26.—The Arkwright club, which represents the cotton mill interests of New England, at a meeting here today formally voted to curtail production 25 per cent between now and March 1 in order to relieve conditions in the cloth markets of New York, Chicago, Boston, and other large centers. It was stated several days ago that a committee previously appointed by the club to canvass the situation among the mills had found sufficient sentiment to insure the success of the curtailment plan, and that a restriction of production was regarded as a certainty. The cotton mills of New England employ about 185,000 persons under normal conditions, and it is expected that at least 45,000 will be affected by the short time. The curtailment agreement became operative today, although numerous mills have been shut down since Tuesday night.

N. Y. SAVINGS BANKS.

New York, Dec. 26.—Today was the date of the expiration of the most of the sixty day withdrawal notice required by the savings banks at the height of the panic in October, but scarcely a depositor called for his money. The banks reported few demands as they were convinced the feeling of financial stress was practically over. In most cases today's withdrawals were more than offset by deposits.

MINERS HAVE DECIDED TO FIGHT

Mahoney, Vice President of Western Federation, is Bold And Defiant.

WOULD IGNORE INJUNCTION.

Those "Who Fancy Goldfield Miners Will Tamely Submit to Such Procedure Are Greatly Mistaken."

Goldfield, Nev., Dec. 26.—Late this afternoon officials of the miners' union and C. E. Mahoney, vice president of the Western Federation, who is here to effect a settlement of the strike, learned of the plan of the mine owners of Goldfield to obtain an injunction through the federal courts preventing picketing and bringing about the dissolution of the Goldfield Miners' union.

Asked tonight what the course of the miners would be in face of this latest move of the opposition, Mahoney said: "An injunction of this kind, if issued, will mean that there is nothing left for the miners to do but to go jump into the sea. Had the petition been for a writ restraining the miners from picketing or boycotting, I would not have been surprised. In the bill of complaint, however, as I understand it, there are two new points: One, the prayer for an order of the federal court prohibiting the miners from continuing their organization on the ground that it is a nuisance, the field miners' union be dissolved. Any judge and set of men who fancy that the Goldfield miners will tamely submit to such procedure are greatly mistaken. I would favor ignoring any such order from any court in existence. Injunctions have come to be a mere joke to the American people, and this one would be the biggest joke of all. We shall fight it with every weapon at our disposal. There would be nothing else for us to do.

"I assume that the watchers or ex-aminers suggested in the bill of complaint mean deputy United States marshals. These would tend to embitter the elements to this controversy more than federal troops. Charles S. McKinnon of the local union declared the union would fight such an injunction. Residents of Goldfield are expecting to hear at any moment that Gov. Sparks has decided to call an extra session of the legislature to adopt new laws looking to the organization of a body of state rangers or police to preserve law and order in case of trouble over the outcome of the dispute which now threatens to be long drawn out.
