A COMMON COLD.—We claim that if catching cold could be avoided some of the most dangerous and fatal diseases would never be heard of. A cold often forms a culture bed for germs of infectious diseases. Consumption, pneumonia, diphtheria, scarlet fever, and typhoid are of this class. The culture bed formed by the cold favors the development of the germs of these diseases that would not otherwise find lodgment. They are dangerous, however, of any of these diseases being contracted when a good expectorant cough medicine like Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is used. It cleans out these culture beds that favor the development of the germs of these diseases. That is why this remedy has proved so universally successful in preventing pneumonia. It not only cures your cold quickly, but minimizes the risk of contracting these dangerous diseases. For sale by all druggists.

AN EXPLANATION.—The reason for the popularity of the Fleur-de-Lis chocolates is that they are absolutely pure and of the very best quality. For sale at Williams-Horse Drug Store, Smith Drug Store, Brigham Street Pharmacy and Holiday Drug.

L. D. S. U. BASKETBALL EXCURSION.—To Provo Saturday, Feb. 20. Special train leaves D. & R. Co. Depot at 1:00 p. m., returning leave Provo at 10:30 p. m., arriving at Salt Lake 11:30 p. m. Championship game. Everybody invited. Come along, and be a winner. Fare $1.25 round trip.

BILLY SUNDAY STRONG AUDITORS

FURIOUS BLOWS AT SALOON.

Describes the Run Shop as the Sum of All Villainies—Extorter of the People.

I wouldn't sit in the legislature with a saloon collar around my neck locked with a brewery padlock and the devil carrying the key—Evangelist Billy Sunday.

"What's that, papa?" "That's beefsteak and sirloin roast; the kind that rich folk that ride on automobiles fling through the stuff that we have been feeding saloon-keepers on. You have never had any, and now we are going to hit your little stomach with it. This is the time when your pa has got more sense than the saloon-keeper's water wagon. Bill helped him get there."

Collarless, coatless, with sleeves rolled up to elbows, and with perspiration pouring down his face, he used to very gently lead the ring that pulled the vehicle. Now he runs it by motor power and is a chauffeur that does not fear to turn the throttle to full speed and let the machine loose and vibrate and make the earth tremble.

"I am the sworn, unrepenting enemy of the liquor business," he said to the 5,000 people gathered to hear him. "I am not against the Jews, but against their business. I ask you, quarter and I give none. About twenty years ago I unsheathed my sword, and it will never be sheathed again; till the undertaker squirts the embalming fluid through the hole in the back. Then I want my wife to take my hide, have it tanned and made into a big bass drum. Then I want her to go about beating that drum and declaring: 'The saloon-keeper's hide hasn't quit fighting the liquor traffic!'"

PLACE FOR WHISKY.—"I challenge any man to show one bit of benefit that has accrued from the liquor traffic. Whiskey is all right in its place, but its place is in hell, just as quickly as you can get it there. I defy any man to show me a community where they have saloons where the rate of taxation is lighter than in a city town. There is just one whole reason why the saloons have not been knocked into hell and that is the false statement that they are needed to help lighten the taxes. The saloon business has never paid its cost. It has cost more for the saloon than for the revenue derived from it.

"In New York City, at Five Points, there is a spot that was as near like hell as any spot on earth. There are five streets that run to the point and right in the middle was an inn, a brewery and all about the streets were lined with grog-shops. Then came a wave of reform, and before they got through with it they had to buy that business. Now it is a decent, respectable place.

SUM OF VILLAINIES.—"The saloon is an outlaw. There is no law of God or man that the saloon respects or cares for the snap of your finger for. The saloon is the sum of all villainies. It is worse than war or pestilence. It is the crime of crimes. It is the parent of crimes and the mother of sin. It is the source of misery and crime in the land. It takes a great part of the taxes to pay for the harm done.

"To license such an inhuman fiend of hell is the dirtiest, now, the most damnable business on earth. There is nothing to be compared with it.

"The city of Rochester, N. Y., has 50 saloons. Last year there was in that city four times as much drunkenness as in any other city in the state of Maine. More of the working-men own their homes in Maine than in any other state in the Union.

"You hear a great cry up and down the land about personal liberty. Has liberty fallen so low that you have to go into the hell hole of a saloon to hear its name spoken? I tell you there is a vast difference between personal liberty and civil liberty. Personal liberty is not for the broken-hearted wife, or innocent children, or the sober, industrious citizen who has to pay his taxes. Personal liberty is for the fellow who has 10 cents and has never had a personal party. Has liberty fallen so low that you have to go into the hell hole of a saloon to hear its name spoken? I tell you there is a vast difference between personal liberty and civil liberty.

"That trade argument. "But you say that if we do not have saloons in the towns we will lose the trade of the farmers. You're a stinking liar. Ninety-six per cent of the farmers are against the drink traffic. There is no class of men who will do the grogshop-keepers' cold feet like the old-fashioned Rube.

"In some means asylums when a new inmate is admitted, he is set to scrubbing a floor on which is running a stream of water from an open faucet. If the man turns off the water before mopping the floor, then he is put in a higher class of patients. If he does not turn the faucet off before mopping, he decides that he will scrub the floor and classify him accordingly. We have in this country been trying for 100 years to mop the floor.

TAPE WITHERS. "Hey! Mr. Whiskey! What the American sovereignty people gave you last January 18th was your young men, 4 come as a representative of the mothers and the churches and the schools. Give me back my boys! "What have you got? One hundred and sixty-five thousand puking, vomiting drunkards. I say 'march them out. Let me count them.' And they come out. "You are 110,000 short. Where are they?" "One hundred and ten thousand men die drunkards every year—12 per hour, 300 per day. One man will throw his hands over his head and his life will go out like a burnt match. Another in a rage, 'Mother! Mother!' and stagger in to hell. Another will leap in front of a train; another will jump from a bridge; another will start a pistol on himself; still another will stab his own heart with a dagger and the body will lie in the snow and in the spring the buzzards will find it. "On goes the damnable trail of infamy and iniquity.

MURRAY BURGLARY ENDS IN MURDER

Jacob Sorenson Dies of Wounds Inflicted by Unknown Thieves in a Lonely Home.

At 11 o'clock last night Jacob C. Sorenson, the aged man who was beaten into insensibility in his own home near Murray Wednesday evening, died at Holy Cross hospital. His condition from the first was considered hopeless, and he never regained consciousness from the time that he was discovered and by young Alfred Nelson who lived with him.

Nelson had attended a dance in Sandy, and upon returning found Sorenson in a drunken condition on the floor, with his head and face badly beaten. A club was lying near by and things in the house were turned upside down, showing that the crime had been done by burglars, who evidently thought that Sorenson, who was a victim of a ruse, was possessed of considerable money.

The sheriff's office worked all day yesterday on the case, but obtained no clue. Sorenson was unmarried and is survived by three sisters, namely, Mrs. Anna Rasmussen of Levan, Utah; a Mrs. Anderson of Copenhagen, Denmark; and Mrs. Mary Christensen of No. 7 M. Donald's court, this city. He formerly lived in the Second ward, and conducted a dairy on Fourth East between Eighth and Ninth South. The body is at the undertaking establishment of Joseph William Taylor awaiting funeral arrangements.

THE EARNING PERIOD.

of a man's life is his season of plenty—his harvest time. It is then, if ever, that he must lay aside the stores for the winter of his life.

You—what are you doing with the proceeds of your harvest? Do you waste it all, or are you wisely saving a portion? These are pertinent questions—not impertinent. Let us help you to save. Make this bank your granary and keep safe the golden grain of your industry.

It eradicates scrofula and all other humors and cures all their inward and outward effects. Take Hood's.
