

WOULD INCREASE RATE ON LEMONS

Suit Brought in Federal Court to Enjoin Action of Railroads.

SEVERAL LINES CONCERNED

Congress Placed Duty on Lemons to Protect Growers, and Railroads Take Up Difference.

The threatened increase on lemon rates by various transcontinental railroads is the cause of a suit filed in the United States circuit court Wednesday afternoon by the fruit growers of California in which an injunction is asked.

The complaint is in the hand of a bill in equity, forwarded here, and subpoenas were issued to compel the various defendants to appear and answer.

It is pointed out that in 1905 a complaint was filed with the interstate commerce commission by several California fruit growers to secure a reduction in rates from $1.25 per hundred pounds to $1 in car load lots.

It is alleged that the railroads have announced an increase in freight rates to take place on Nov. 15 and Dec. 6, and that this would increase the cost of shipment $20,000 for the season.

RAISED DUTY ON LEMONS

The complaint, which is very voluminous, says that Congress at its last session raised the duty on lemons and oranges imported from Sicily and Italy 25 cents a box, and that this was done to preserve the industry in southern California.

It is alleged that the railroads now endeavoring to place a rate that will consume all of the profit which would accrue to the fruit growers through the action of Congress in placing them in a position to compete with foreign growers.

ECZEMA LODGES IN THE SKIN

Not a Blood Disease—Cured by Oil of Wintergreen Compound. For many years eczema was supposed to be a blood disease and was erroneously treated as such, but now the best authorities agree that eczema is only a skin disease and must be cured through the skin.

To kill the eczema germ and at the same time heal the skin, Dr. Dennis compounded oil of wintergreen thymol, glycerine, etc. The remedy is a liquid, not a mere salve, hence it sinks right into the pores of the skin.

AMUSEMENTS

The New Shubert—Salt Lake entered upon another theatrical venture last night, and the old Lyric, rechristened "The Shubert," which has been the scene of several interesting experiments since its was metamorphosed from the St. James' hotel of ocean days, was the center of as busy and brilliant a gathering as the managerial heart could desire to behold. In the throng in the lobby were advance agents of other Shubert shows, newspaper critics, press agents of the other houses in town, and several of the leading managers, including Mr. Pyper, who enjoyed the novel sensation of seeing many of his followers crowded into the limited box and parquet accommodations of the new house.

The bill of the evening was quite up to the dollar and a half standard and the entire entertainment was voted an unqualified success. "The Gay Musician," which sparkles with some of the best work of the well known composer Edwards, is a merry conceit with just enough story to hang the music upon, but it is so well interpreted by an excellent cast that no one stops to criticize the plot.

The bill will run out the week and is sure to do heavy business, it will be followed by the famous American play "The Man From Home." George Derr, former treasurer of the Salt Lake theater is in temporary charge of the new house; Mr. Bacon is treasurer and press agent and Prof. McCellan will preside over the orchestra, though last night the company had its own leader.

The Shubert attractions include many of the headliners in the dramatic and musical world, but how far the new venture in Salt Lake can rely on the patronage of that part of the public which it must ask to pay $1.50 and $2 prices in a house where the accommodations, both for the audience and the players are so limited, only the future can tell.

The house has been thoroughly renovated, and the signs and odors of newness were much in evidence last night. One respect in which the audience needed guiding was in leaving the house, as all the exits were not used and it took a very long time to empty the building. But for a first night, everything in front went off fairly well, and the experience gained should result in improvement tonight.

Salt Lake Theater—The D. & R. G. depot was the scene of great activity this morning when the Shubert special train rolled in. It consisted of eight carsloads of people, scenery and baggage, and the journey was made from Denver under the supervision of Mr. Parrot, passenger agent of the D. & R. G. at Denver.

GEO. M. COHAN, Who Appears Tonight at the Salt Lake Theater.

The initial Salt Lake presentation of "The Yankee Prince," the story and music of which were written by Mr. Cohan, and the central character in which he plays, occurs at the theater tonight, and a great crush is already assured.

Orpheum—The week's bill is apparently mounting in public favor. Good business marks each of the daily and nightly performances.

Colonial—The strong presentations over Rex Beach's play entitled "The Spoilers," continues to attract interested audiences. The customary matinee will be given Saturday.

REAL ESTATE AND BUILDING.

Two sales, aggregating $20,000, were made yesterday in the skyscraper district on Fourth South street. Just west of West Temple street on Fourth South, G. Lavignino sold to P. A. Fawcett, 18 1/2 feet frontage on the latter highway for $5,300, about $200 per front foot. Property measuring $310 rods on Fourth South between Second and Third East streets was sold to Carrie A. Thomas for $10,000. The deals were made by the real estate firm of Burt & Carlquist.

A four-room brick cottage at 16 Caroline avenue has been sold by the Salt Lake Security and Trust company to Julius Motzkus for $1,550. The sale was made by Stockton & Co. The Sierra Nevada Lumber company is already beginning to rebuild the structures destroyed recently by fire. Ware & Tvegnaza, architects, have completed plans for a reinforced concrete mill building to cost $15,000.

THERE IS NO POLITICAL MUDDLE AT HUNTSVILLE

A correspondent who signs himself "C. C. R." writes The News from Huntsville under date of Nov. 17 as follows:

Editor Deseret News: In your Semi-Weekly issue of Nov. 15 we notice that you have copied an article from one of the Oregon papers dated Nov. 2, which is misleading and untrue. We had hoped that misinformation about Huntsville and its affairs would soon cease both locally and in the newspapers, without the necessity of making any reply thereto in print; but it seems otherwise.

We are not perplexed over our political status, as the results of our recent city election is plain and plain enough, inasmuch that a wayfaring man, though a fool, need not err therein, as the facts are that 123 votes were cast for disincorporation and not 23, and 122 cast against disincorporation and not 23, there being 275 votes cast at said election. The other 11 votes being scattered and six votes not being registered by the voting machine, cannot therefore be counted either for or against disincorporation. So there remains a plain majority of 10 votes for disincorporation, as canvassed by the election judges and confirmed by the city council in its canvass, and it is now, according to the direction of the law, for the district court to canvass said election returns, and we cannot see how it can do otherwise than canvass the returns and find the same results as found by the judges of election and the city council. So we fall to see the "uncertainty of the results," as it only requires a majority of the votes cast for and against disincorporation and not a majority of the votes cast at the election. (See Comp. Laws of Utah, 1907, page 229 and Sec. 294.)

On account of the policies pursued by former city officials, the people became very much dissatisfied with the city government. It being overburdened with debt and that too without the consent of the people. They therefore petitioned the court for the privilege of voting on the question of disincorporating with the above results.

VAUDEVILLE SKETCH AT WHITNEY HALL.

The above cut shows a group of players who will take part in the sketch entitled "The Italian Street Musicians," at Whitney hall tomorrow night at the vaudeville performance to be given for the benefit of the free kindergarten. Mrs. A. W. White, who has the leading role, is also directing the piece. Those assisting her are Dean Brayton, E. L. Fassett, Arnold Garner, Wallace Bredemeyer, J. C. Wild and Mr. Deming.

The necessary expenses. The men have comparatively little service to perform and much time in which to devote themselves to special work in which they may be engaged. The morning is intended to be wholly occupied in garrison duties, with possibly an hour or two in the afternoon; but the remainder of the time the men are, for the most part, at liberty to attend to personal matters.

There are garrison schools for privates in which the common branches are taught, another for non-commissioned officers for military subjects and one for commissioned officers. A regular grammar school is conducted for the benefit of such enlisted men as require that class of instruction. The chaplain
