COL. ROOSEVELT'S NAME IN FRENCH

Ex-President Being Entertained Today as the Guest of City of Paris.

HIS RECEPTION FLATTERING

Extending Formal Welcome Mr. Carson Said He Looked Up to "What We Call a Man."

Paris, April 25.—Mr. Roosevelt was the guest of the city of Paris today in the magnificent hotel de ville, or town hall, which has played so conspicuous a part in French history.

In honor of Mr. Roosevelt's visit the hotel de ville was decorated with American and French flags. The former president, accompanied by American ambassador Bacon and M. Jusserand, French ambassador at Washington, was received at the entrance with great formality by M. Varon, president of the municipal council; Mr. Dessevelles, prefect of the Seine; M. Lampue, president of the general council of the Seine and Mr. Lepine, prefect of police.

At the luncheon which followed and for which 200 covers had been laid, Mr. Roosevelt met personally many persons prominent in official life of Paris.

Several speeches complimentary to the guest of honor were made and Mr. Roosevelt responded.

At the close of the luncheon Mr. Roosevelt was escorted to the streets and received by the former president as he entered and left the building.

From the hotel de ville Mr. Roosevelt went to the Carnavalet museum, which contains the most interesting documents of Paris relative to the history of the city and which were shown by George S. Caen, the curator, who is the author of a series of works on "Old Paris."

TOA WITH EDITH WHARTON.

Later Mr. Roosevelt took tea with Edith Wharton, the authoress. This evening he will be the dinner guest of Gen. Frugere, chief of the general staff of the French army, following which he will attend the opera.

Mr. Roosevelt has received an invitation from Count Zepplin to make a trip with him in his dirigible balloon, which will decline because of lack of time.

As honorary president of the academy of sports Mr. Roosevelt will accept the invitation of President Ribaud to receive his colleagues tomorrow afternoon at Issy-les-Moulineaux where several French aviators will make flights in honor of the American guest.

Mr. Roosevelt's reception at the hotel de ville was flattering.

Among prominent persons present were President Ribaud and other cabinet members, a representative of President Fallieres and members of parliament. The speeches of Mm. Caen, Dessevelles, Lampue and Lepine were tributes to Mr. Roosevelt.

Mr. Roosevelt's reception at the hotel de ville was flattering.

Mr. Lepine declared the demonstration of the French people in honor of Mr. Roosevelt showed that he had touched their hearts.

"It is a mistake," he said, "to believe Paris is skeptical and frivolous. The soul of the people is all that counts as in the most glorious days of our history. Paris respects in you the great trouble to which you belong and which is attached by indissoluble ties. Its heart goes straight out to the man you are."

Mr. Roosevelt replied in French, voicing gratitude for the expressions addressed to him, but protesting that they were too flattering.

"You make of me," said he, "an ideal which can only try to realize in the future."

The former president paid a high tribute to Paris and its past, saying that he agreed with M. Lepine that it was a mistake to regard Paris as did tourists, as a place of amusement.

"Paris," he added, "is a city of work, of science and of art whose industries are incomparable. It is the capital of a country radiating with the virtues of peace and war."

Mr. Roosevelt referred to the great statistics which France had given to the world, mentioning especially Pasteur and the academy of sciences and students from every country come to commune with the muses in the sacred woods.

After an evening spent in practicing their parts, the yeggmens and yeggmens hurried to the college bakeshop at midnight lunch. Still in their "tough" large pattern bags, a patrolman from the bakeshop a watchful patrolman from the wide street heard them rehearsing their lines.

"Jimmy, what you goin' do with de bag?" he heard one of them say. The bluecoat gave a leap and grabbed the bag, at the same time whistling for help.

At the station house, university officers gave satisfactory excuses for the two men.

CURTIS IS CHARGED LOOSE THIS MORNING

Jos. Davis, Street Car Holdup, Pleads Not Guilty and Held For Trial.

Joseph Davis, charged with holding up and robbing passengers on a Fourth North streetcar last Wednesday night, was taken before Judge J. M. Bowman, in the criminal division of the city court this morning on the charge of robbery. He entered a plea of not guilty and the case was set for hearing May 10. Davis was unable to furnish bonds in the sum of $1,000 and was taken to the county jail.

"Curly" Curtis, who was implicated by Davis as partner in the crime, was released from custody this morning. Davis at first declared that his partner was "Curly" Morgan, wanted for alleged complicity in the murder of George W. Fassell by Harry Thorne and James Hayes, but it developed that the man he referred to was Curtis, an ex-convict. The latter convinced the police that he had nothing to do with the streetcar affair or with the murder of the young grocer, and this morning he was released from jail. It is expected that Davis will have a speedy trial in the district court.

Charles Jones, charged with robbing the Crabbe Hardware store, and who was captured in Ogden, pleaded not guilty to the charge and the case was set for preliminary hearing, May 9.

North Sydney, N. S., April 25.—A collision off Portuque bay, N. F., of two Newfoundland schooners, the Edna Carter and the Victoria, by which the former vessel was sunk, was reported today. The two vessels crashed in the darkness five miles off Brunette Island. For two hours they hung together with their rigging entangled, and in the heavy sea which was running, it was feared both would found. After they were cut apart, the Edna Carter went down. Her crew escaped to the Victoria, but lost all their effects.

CONGRESSMEN'S WIVES TO HAVE A BLUE BOOK

Washington, April 25.—In imitation of their husbands whose names and deeds are recorded in the Congressional directory, the members of the Congressional club, which is composed of the wives of the national lawmakers, intend to have a blue book of their own. The idea, originated with Mrs. Champ Clark, better half of the minority leader of the house of representatives. Each member of the club has been asked to furnish a brief biography of her husband, and among other questions asked: "If thrown on your own resources, what would you do to win a living for yourself?"

The blue book is to be a record of personal and family achievements is requested. Mrs. Clark believes that the book not only will lend dignity to the club, but that it will act as a stimulant between the members. Each new session of Congress will see a new blue book.

Negaunee, Mich., April 25.—Lands have been drained and towns have been removed to new locations in order that the iron ore deposits of the Lake Superior iron region might be mined. Now an interesting event in the same category is about to be recorded at Negaunee, Marquette range. It is the removal of the Protestant and Roman Catholic cemeteries to a new site, together with the many hundreds of human bodies interred therein. A large body of earth is being excavated and a portion of the present burial grounds and the deposits to be mined.

PRESIDENT TAFT WILL ATTEND GAME WITH "DOUBLE"

Pittsburg, April 25.—The president of the United States may figure in a "dubiously" in the baseball game here between Chicago and Pittsburg this evening. The president, such a "double" as has never been seen in baseball. President Taft is to attend the game, but however, well known are his features and figure, it is likely that the crowds in the grandstand will turn their eyes before they make sure that they see straight, for it is said to have been arranged that beside the chief executive shall sit Thomas Morley, president of the grandstand. The latter is a perfect double of President Taft, in height, weight and features.

A Pittsburg friend of the president several days ago mailed Mr. Taft a picture of the chief executive dressed in his princely attire and wearing his hat. The president was so amused at the remarkable likeness of himself that he is said to have expressed a wish to meet Mr. Morley and have him sit beside him at the ball game.

Mr. Morley relates a story of having been followed through the streets of Philadelphia by a crowd several months ago and that he had appeal to the police. He found it necessary, he says, to call the president of the United States—just plain Tom Morley, police sergeant of Pittsburg.

STRENGTHENING TONIC AS NOT HARMFUL

So Testified Druggist Gentry. Who Filled Prescription for James Moss Hunton.

INDUCED SWOPE TO TAKE IT

Sold Hunton Many Kinds of Medicine, None Containing Cyanide of Potassium.

Kansas City, April 25.—There was nothing harmful about the strychnine tonic which Col. Swope was accustomed to take, testified O. H. Gentry, an independent druggist, in the Hyde murder trial today. This druggist filled the prescription for James Moss Hunton for many years. Hunton induced Col. Swope to take the medicine.

"This tonic," said Mr. Gentry, "is a general one for building up the system and adding red corpuscles to the blood. It contains a small amount of strychnine, but it is harmless."

As he talked he held in his hand a six ounce bottle of the medicine. Proof that he had faith in his own goods was not lacking, for occasionally he uncorked the bottle and took a drink of the contents.

Besides compounding the tonic, Mr. Gentry said he sold Mr. Hunton many other kinds of medicine which went into the Swope house. One of them contained cyanide of potassium, or other poison in dangerous quantities, he said. Dr. Hyde wrote some of these prescriptions. On December 1, however, said the druggist, he sold some member of the Swope family two tubes of hypodermic strychnine.

The testimony of Mr. Gentry was generally conceded to be a hard blow to the defense. By proving the colonel's expectation of strychnine in the body. Dr. Hyde faced the most serious charge of poisoning her.

No witness that has been before the grand jury has interested Dr. Hyde. Dr. Hyde faced the most serious charge of poisoning her.

The testimony of Miss Swope this morning was interesting in the main. She had just begun her conversation with the witness when court adjourned for the noon recess.

NURSE CROSS-EXAMINED

When Atty. Frank P. Walsh reopened his cross-examination of Miss Anna Houlihan, a nurse, in the Swope murder trial today he was well provided with ammunition furnished by Mrs. E. C. Hyde, wife of the defendant.

The defense delivered telling blows to the story of Miss Houlihan Saturday, and this spurred her on to give testimony that further progress might be made today.

There is not a circumstance connected with the illness in the Swope household that Mrs. Hyde is not conversant with. She has proven invaluable to her husband in planning his battle for life.

Mrs. Hyde is constantly at her husband's elbow listening and suggesting. Court hours were lengthened today by Judge Latah, because of his desire to free the jury as soon as possible. The morning session is now from 9 to 12 o'clock and the afternoon session is from 1:30 to 6 o'clock. Night sessions will be held if the court thinks them necessary.

The subject of the hypodermic injection which was given Margaret Swope by Dr. Hyde was again touched on in the cross-examination of Miss Houlihan today.

"Is it not true," asked Mr. Walsh, "that a hypodermic injection of 10 causes a hard lump to raise on the arm?"

"Sometimes," Miss Houlihan answered.

"Margaret's arm was sensitive to these injections and you had been ordered to cease giving them to her, I believe?"

"The arm was sensitive."

"You gave her injections made under the direction of Dr. Hyman?"

"I can't remember."

"Her heart action was weak and intermittent?"

"It was weak."

The nurse told of a visit she made to Dr. Hyde's room in the Swope home one night when the patient's temperature began to fall rapidly.

Margaret's temperature fell from a fraction more than 102 to 98 and I went to call Dr. Hyde," said the witness. "I told him about this. He did not arise, but told me he had done all he could do."

That Dr. Hyde reprimanded her because she did not give the girl her medicine at the proper time, was admitted by Miss Houlihan.

He spoke sharply and seemed greatly put out about it," said the nurse.

ANOTHER ENGINEER EXAMINED TODAY

Charles P. Moore Only Witness Who Testifies in Silver King Coalition Case This Morning.

Charles P. Moore, formerly an engineer employed by the Salt Lake Route, was the only witness called this morning by the Silver King Consolidated Mining company against the Silver King Coalition Mines company in the hearing before John W. Christy, special examiner. Mr. Moore was on the stand less than an hour. He testified in regard to the accepted rate of the expansion of rock. The taking of testimony will be resumed at 10 o'clock Tuesday morning.

Frank Anderson, surveyor for the Consolidated, and C. P. Brooks, engineer for the Coalition company, are now in Park City, it is understood, making a joint survey of the Parson's stope which is in dispute. According to reliable information, they have not been heard from by either party involved in the suit. It is probable that they will return the latter part of the week and submit the result of the survey at the hearing.

On the editorial page of this issue appears a statement regarding a previous report in this paper with reference to the Swope case. A man employed by the Kearns interests to survey the underground workings in dispute.

EXAMINING BUSHEL OF GOLD, GEMS AND SILVERWARE

New York, April 25.—With the help of an appraiser Canon William Sheaf Chase engaged today in the interesting process of examining a bushel of gold, gems and silverware, the proceeds of a lottery taken over yesterday at Christ Episcopal church in Brooklyn. The collection was taken to raise a fund for paying off the debt on the rectory. Ushers carried big baskets down the aisle and on these, yesterday, silverware dropped bits of precious metal in the shape of jewelry and coins, each article being wrapped and sealed. A sale will be held later at which those who gave up cherished pieces of jewelry and silverware will have an opportunity to bid them back again.

The silverware and gold which cannot be sold will be disposed of at the assay office and the rest of the proceeds will be divided among the donors. One of the baskets accidentally became unsealed and a $10 goldpiece fell out.

SEVEN COUNTS AGAINST F. A. HEINZ DISMISSED

New York, April 25.—Seven of the 14 counts in the indictment found against F. Augustus Heinz last month in connection with his handling of the Mercantile National bank's funds while he was its president were dismissed by Judge Fought in the U. S. district court today. Judge Fought sustained the remaining seven counts.

This indictment was included in a consolidated indictment on which Heinz's case was called to trial today. A number of counts in various indictments against him have been previously dismissed, but two other indictments still held good. One was found in January, 1909, containing 15 counts for over certification and 15 for misapplication; and another in May, 1909, containing one count for misapplication.

The last, or 1910 indictment, was at once stricken by Heinz when he was called today. The panel of jurymen which had been summoned was excused and the court heard the arguments on the motion to dismiss. It was urged that the indictment was based on statements of facts sustaining the allegations of criminality in connection with loans to Otto Heinz & Co., and to himself, as charged in the last indictment. Judge Fought, in sustaining seven of the counts in the 1910 indictment, said the ground they covered was essentially the same as that covered by the seven others which he sustained.

Freezing Weather Extended into Louisiana—Atlanta for First Time Had Snow in April.

Washington, April 25.—The last of the wave of frost and storm which has been sweeping eastward, leaving destruction of crops and fruits, has not yet spent itself, the observers in the weather bureau believe.

Tonight the indications are there will be heavy frosts or even freezing temperatures in the Ohio valley, the interior of the east and south Atlantic states, and it is not improbable a light frost may be felt even in northern Florida.

"A moderate secondary disturbance" is the official description of the weather conditions. It was over the northeastern Mississippi valley early yesterday when it suddenly shifted east.

Temperatures ranging from two to three degrees below freezing to three degrees above freezing were reported from all points in Kansas, Missouri and northern Oklahoma. Frost was reported from points as far south as Louisiana. A Louisiana freezing temperature prevailed at Memphis and killing frosts were reported from western Kansas points.

Snow fell in eastern Iowa, in Nebraska the weather was clear but freezing temperatures were reported from all parts of the state.

RECORD BREAKING TEMPERATURES.

St. Johns, N. F., April 25.—Record breaking temperatures have accompanied a hot wave that has been experienced on the west coast of New Foundland for the last few years. At points where the usual temperature at this season of the year would be below freezing the thermometers have registered as high as 55 degrees in the shade. These figures are unprecedented in the history of the colony.

MERCHANDISE INVESTIGATION

Washington, April 25.—When the house committee today resumed its investigation of charges in connection with ship subsidy legislation, Secy. John A. Penton of the Merchant Marine league took the stand to continue his testimony.

The investigation adjourned Saturday when Secy. Penton was being questioned about pecuniary interests which members of the league might have in ship subsidy legislation.

MIKE MAYS CHARGED WITH PADDING PAY ROLLS OF UTAH COPPER COMPANY.

Mike Mays, an Italian, for five years in the employ of the Utah Copper mine at Bingham as foreman, is a much sought man, since coincident with his hurried flight from Bingham Saturday it developed that during his years of service he had padded the company and workmen out of nearly $15,000.

Sheriff Sharp and the force of local deputies, assisted by Detectives J. L. Forbes and P. Cook from Bingham, have been making a thorough search of the city since Saturday night. It was reported that Mays had been seen at Lake Saturday, but all efforts to locate his whereabouts have so far been futile.

Mays is alleged to have induced the workmen employed in his gangs, and to have skillfully padded the payrolls of the company as well as borrowing money on fictitious securities. It is believed that he realized at least $17,000 through his smooth methods.

LITTLE WAS DOING AT CAMP JEFFRIES TODAY

Ben Lomond, Cal., April 25.—Little was doing at Camp Jeffries today as the fighter did not indulge in either road or gymnasium work but contented himself with an hour and a half of hard baseball practice, which work he regards as his most enjoyable.

On account of the light morning work it is expected that the next period of training will be strenuous. Joe Choychski, who has been doing light work since his arrival, is ready to get into the ring with Jeffries.

Tex Rickard, Clarence Berry and other week-end visitors have returned to San Francisco, so that the training camp is down to its usual quota of trainers and assistants. The weather which has been excessively warm for the past week, is again pleasant.

FOOD PRICES. Combination Exists to Prohibit All Competition in Them.

Chicago, April 25.—A special from Washington to The Tribune says: "A recent admission of officers of the Chicago board of trade that they are parties to an agreement prohibiting the course of trade establishing a 'cold foodstuff' during 20 out of 24 hours of every week-day, is what started the investigation of the grain exchanges of the country by the department of justice. Under this arrangement prices of commodities are fixed for 20 hours a day."

Revelation that free trading in grain, provisions and other articles of food is restricted by an artificial device has suggested to Atty. Gen. Wickens the suspicion that therein may be a part of the cause of the increase of cost of foods in the last few years. He now purposes to ascertain whether the agreement of members of the Chicago board of trade not to compete with each other except during a specified hour of each day constitutes an actual restraint of trade and whether as such it is a violation of the Sherman anti-trust law.

The attorney-general's attention has been directed to the alleged case of restraint of trade by the testimony of John C. F. Merrill, vice president of the Chicago board of trade, before the agricultural committee of the house of representatives a few weeks ago. Mr. Merrill explained the rule of the Chicago board of trade establishing a "cold foodstuff" during 20 out of 24 hours of every week-day, and asserted that the rule does not act in restraint of trade."
