

IN SOCIAL REALMS

The observance of Mother's day will be a leading note in next week's entertainments. Probably the largest social affair of the early spring season will be the ball to be given at Odson hall on next Friday night, when a number of popular young girls and patrons will promenade, and many features add to the pleasure of the evening. A bridge tournament will be one of these where those who do not care for dancing may play cards, and will be under the charge of Miss Edna Dunn. Others who neither dance nor play bridge will give balcony parties where they may view the dancing as spectators. The ball and various rooms will be decorated in pink, plants and flowers and the affair promises to be a tanner event. Among those in charge of the various affairs are the Misses Edie Parsons, Margaret Waldon, Rose Evans, Isabelle Shiffer, Marjorie Jacobs, Lucille Clark and Gladys McConaughy. Miss Evelyn Clayton, Alice McMillan, Louise Parks, Mildred McMillan, Minnie Mason, Edna Dunn, Eleanor Stewart and Jay DeCamp. The proceeds of the affair will be devoted to the children's playground and orphan's home. Twelve of Salt Lake's matrons will act as hostesses for the dance. The complete list will be announced later, but among those who will be selected to act are Mrs. W. S. McCorrick, Mrs. David Kott, Mrs. M. H. Walker, Mrs. E. S. Ferry, Mrs. J. Frank Judge, Mrs. R. W. Salsbery, Mrs. Willis Ulme, Mrs. Ernest Hamberger and Mrs. C. H. McMahon.

An Ideal Library Arrangement

Snap Shot of Pretty Window Display in Show Window of Dinwoodey Furniture Company--Competing for the Fifty Dollars Prize Offered by the Globe-Wernicke Company of Cincinnati.

The reputation of this big furniture concern as expert decorators for interior furnishings is equally well established in their art of displaying office and library furniture. When the firm of Globe-Wernicke of Cincinnati, manufacturers of the best makes of office furnishings, asked that the local dealers make special displays of office and library furniture, the decorators of the Dinwoodey Furniture Company began at once to demonstrate their skill as expert decorators. As a result the show window presents a cozy library—attractive in every detail.

The units are arranged to suit the demands of this particular space. By observing the accompanying photograph you will note how the book cases vary in size and shape. Even the space under the window is utilized, allowing a neat little window seat to add to the attractiveness and utility of the library. These units are in fumed oak and mahogany. These furnishings are taken from the immense stock which represents the newest ideas in office and library furniture not equalled elsewhere, for scope and variety, this display will give many happy ideas to prospective purchasers of this pretty, useful furniture.

PARIS FROCKS ARE EXTRAVAGANTLY TRANSPARENT.

While this simply cut little dress by Doucet is apparently high about the throat, the real effect almost is an exaggerated décolletage, the yoke material being extremely transparent and the lines of throat and shoulders being frankly revealed. The material of this frock is changeable voile in cream and rose shadings, and below the metallic trimming on the skirt is a hem of rose velvet. The high collar, by Lewis, has a black velvet crown and a simple trimming of roses which trail, wreath fashion, all around the hat.
