BUILDING BOOM SUSPENDED BY STRIKE

Activity at Its Height Until Walking Delegate Comes in—Workmen Sufferers as Usual.

OGDEN, June 11.—No settlement has been made thus far in the dispute between the carpenters and contractors and from the present outlook it will be some time before satisfactory adjustments have been made. Building activity was at its height and on every hand homes were springing up and an air of prosperity and progress seemed to possess the town. Then one day the walking delegate of the union called a halt and men who were receiving $4 every day for honest labor were compelled to cease work. The situation as it has been for more than a week and judging from the result of several parties, no solution is yet in sight. In the meantime the workmen, as usual, are their families are badly in need of their wages. It is understood that the contractors are willing to grant a gradual wage scale from $3 to $4.50 per day but the union demands a $4.50 flat scale for every workman, regardless of his ability.

PRONOUNCED SUCCESS OF PROHIBITION LAW

Ladies' League Listens to Splendid Report of City Marshal Williams—Another Reform Suggested.

(Special Correspondence.)
 PROVO, June 11.—Yesterday afternoon the beautiful home of Mrs. Jesse Knight was the place of meeting of the Women's Prohibition league, which met mainly to hear reports of the practical workings of the prohibition movement. There were about 100 ladies present, Mrs. J. W. Aird presiding.

City Marshal J. T. Williams, who had been invited to give his views on the prohibition status of the city, was the first speaker. Mr. Williams spoke at some length on the work done by his department, and of obstacles in the way of its success. Today there are no saloons, and the drug stores are practically obeying the law, much more so than they were under the license ordinance. There is one "blind pig" in the city, the marshal stated, and some little liquor is sold, which would probably always be the case, but he felt safe in saying that the liquor sold now did not exceed 5 per cent of the quantity sold before the license ordinance went into effect.

Mr. Williams took occasion to mention another reform movement, to which he urged the attention and influence of the meeting. It was that of permitting young girls—in fact, children—to attend public dances unescorted by some responsible person. This practice, and the attendant consequences were graphically described by Mr. Williams, and condemned by him as resulting, if in nothing worse, in lowering the self-respect of the girls, and in their losing the respect of others.

Rev. J. Challen Smith, who has been a tower of strength in the prohibition cause, corroborated the statements of Mr. Williams as to the conditions existing on its backbone in enforcing and keeping in force the prohibition ordinance, and City Marshal Williams on his conscientious and effective work, in which he had, in some quarters, been denied the support to which he was entitled. Mr. Smith complimented the city on the success of the prohibition movement, which to date, was all that could be expected, and which Mr. Smith believed would be maintained and increased and become a part of a wider and more effective movement.

Councilman J. M. Jensen also expressed satisfaction with what had been accomplished. He reviewed the local legislation on prohibition: The ordinance had been passed on the petition of a large number of citizens, enough to satisfy the council that a majority of the citizens favored prohibition. After the election a largely signed petition asking for the repeal of the ordinance had been presented; but the ordinance had not been repealed, because the council knew that a majority was in the city, and that being so they had a right to have the traffic stopped.

City Marshal Williams was the recipient of many compliments at the close of the meeting for his integrity and ability in enforcing the ordinance; and his views on the dance hall evil were generally commended and support promised in an effort to minimize it.
