

CRIPPEN MATCHES WITS WITH MUIR

Piled With Questions by One of The Cleverest Criminal Lawyers in All England.

WAS EXAMINED FOUR HOURS

Admitted Letters and Statements to Belle Elmore's Friends Were All Lies.

London, Oct. 21.—Dr. Hawley Crippen, accused of the murder of his wife, known to the theatrical profession as Belle Elmore, matched wits today with Richard Muir, one of the cleverest criminal lawyers in England.

Before Crippen re-entered the witness box from which he gave his direct testimony yesterday, Lord Chief Justice Alverstone announced that his own request the jury would be allowed later in the day to examine microscopically the skin from the part which bears a scar such as Belle Elmore received from a surgeon's knife 12 years ago but that what appears to be a scar caused by a fold in the skin, although the steamer Montrose is at sea, the quartermaster who, Crippen testified yesterday, entered into a conspiracy to hide him during the voyage.

When Crippen was escorted to the witness box, he assumed the same attitude as when he was first brought into the witness box on the morning of Feb. 1. The witness refused to answer the question as to whether he had any contact with Crippen during the voyage.

WHAT CRIPPEN SUPPOSED.

He supposed she had gone to Bruce Muir, her professional acquaintance who lives in Chicago. That was the only guess he could make. He made no inquiries. The witness said he saw his wife between 2 and 3 o'clock on the morning of February 1, when they retired as usual.

That morning he prepared his will, which he found Mrs. Crippen had disappeared, as she had threatened to do. He made no inquiries regarding the passengers listed on the steamer, and he did not know any of her family.

Regarding the disposition of Belle Elmore's jewelry, the witness said he considered he was entitled to tell Inspector Dew he had not pawned his wife's valuables as these had been purchased with his money and he had used the proceeds of the sales to pay for advertising. He did not know what cash his wife had at the time she left him.

ADMITTED HE LIED.

Counsel took up the subject of the letters and statements to Belle Elmore's friends which the husband had made regarding her death. Crippen admitted that the letters and statements were lies and smilingly assented to the suggestion that he had to play the role of a bereaved husband. When Mr. Muir asked Crippen if he thought he had played the part well, the witness replied:

"That is for others to judge."

Lord Chief Justice Alverstone and Counsel Muir asked the witness a series of questions regarding his use of hyoscine, a poison, which the prosecution alleged was administered to Belle Elmore and caused her death. Crippen said he had not purchased any hyoscine before or after the occasion proved by the crown and on which he admitted buying the drug. He could not name any patient for whom he had prescribed hyoscine.

The witness suggested it was possible the human parts found in the cellar of his home had been placed there during a period of absence of himself and wife.

It developed in the cross-examination that no time was lost in establishing that the letters and statements to Belle Elmore's friends were lies and smilingly assented to the suggestion that he had to play the role of a bereaved husband.

When Mr. Muir asked Crippen if he thought he had played the part well, the witness replied:

"That is for others to judge."

GREAT WALK-OUT ON MISSOURI PACIFIC

Twenty-five Hundred Men in Mechanical Trades Quit Out of Sympathy for Machinists.

LIKELY TO EMBARRASS ROAD

Union Men Say Locomotives Cannot Be Operated Without Those Who Quit.

St. Louis, Oct. 21.—Approximately 2,500 men employed in the mechanical trades on the Missouri Pacific & Iron Mountain system walked out in sympathy with the striking machinists at 10 o'clock this morning. The exact number of men who quit work will not be known at the quit's headquarters until late in the day. The order to quit work was telegraphed last night to the boilermakers, blacksmiths and pipemen by the heads of their international unions after the machinists had failed to settle their trouble with General Manager Sullivan of the Missouri Pacific. Here less than 100 men were employed in the mechanical departments of the Missouri Pacific. The principal shops of the road are located at Sedalia, Mo., and Little Rock, Ark. Shops are also maintained at Kansas City, Jefferson City, Des Moines and Omaha, Mo.; Wichita, Holsington and Coffeyville, Kan.; Texarkana, Paragould, Van Buren and McGehee, Ark.; Lake Charles and Ferriday, La.; Omaha, Neb.; Pueblo, Colo., and Dupont, Ill.

Members of the unions also are employed at the 52 division and terminal points of the two lines. The union men say that the road will not be able to operate their locomotives more than a week without the men who quit work today. They say they are necessary to keep the engines in running order. If the trouble is not settled within a reasonable time the heads of the unions are expected to cause a walkout on all the Gould lines. These include the Denver & Rio Grande, International & Great Northern, Rio Grande, Union Pacific, Santa Fe and Cotton Belt railroads. The machinists' trouble was caused by a demand for a change in the working conditions.

WENT OUT AT KANSAS CITY.

Kansas City, Oct. 21.—All the union boilermakers, blacksmiths and pipemen of the Missouri Pacific Railroad company struck at 10 o'clock this morning in sympathy with the machinists of the road who have been out for several months.

Fifteen hundred men are involved in the strike called today. The strike order was issued by the Missouri Pacific president of the local unions of the boilermakers, blacksmiths and pipemen.

Local officials of the railroad said this morning that the strike had not affected the train service. It was stated at the office of the local superintendent of machinery that the road was in a state of emergency because of the pleas of the strikers and that it was not expected that train schedules would be changed on account of the strike.

QUIT AT SEDALIA.

Sedalia, Mo., Oct. 21.—Promptly at 10 o'clock this morning the union boilermakers, blacksmiths and pipemen, numbering 188, employed in the local Missouri Pacific shops, struck in sympathy with the striking machinists at other places. There was no disorder.

CONDEMNED MURDERER RESCUED BY FRIENDS

Seventy-five Armed Mountaineers Descend on Nelson County, Va., Jail and Liberate Him.

Livingston, Va., Oct. 21.—Mountaineer friends of John Moore, under sentence to be electrocuted for the murder of Frank Howell, descended upon the Nelson county jail at 1 o'clock this morning, stormed the building and rescued the prisoner. It is supposed he will be taken to the mountains and liberated.

At an early hour, 75 armed men from the mountain section where the crime was committed proceeded to the county jail. Admission was gained and the guards awed into non-resistance. Moore was then released.

Precautions had been taken by the mob to prevent an alarm. Almost as quietly as they entered the town they closed the gates of the jail. It was not until some hours after the rescue that the news spread and deputy sheriffs were on their way into the mountain district to try to locate Moore. It is feared that bloodshed will result from the attempt.

The only telephone wire leading into the section of the country where the crime was committed, and where Moore's friends live was cut before the rescue.

Moore was condemned to death at Richmond on May 25, after being convicted of murdering Frank Howell in Nelson county last May.

Given in a calm, well modulated voice, and at no time did he lose his composure. This was not without an effort on his part and when he returned to the prisoners' dock he was deathly pale and appeared to be almost collapsing.

Crippen clung to his original story: His wife's fondness for another led to an estrangement; she threatened frequently to leave him and finally made good her intention; he had no idea what became of her.

MARK TWAIN'S LITERARY TREASURES ARE TO BE SOLD

New York, Oct. 21.—Literary treasures of the late Samuel L. Clemens (Mark Twain), are to be sold at auction in this city and among them will be many manuscripts and documents the contents of which have never been published. Mr. Clemens' house, Stormfield, near Redding, Conn., is to be sold and his daughter, Mrs. Joseph Gabriellotti, has decided to sell the bulk of the library retaining only such books as have intimate family associations and signed volumes from living authors which were presented to her father.

What Possible Good Can Come of It?

What possible good can come to the progressive people of Salt Lake City from raking up old, time-worn, thread-bare, threshed-out stories of the Mormon leaders' alleged disloyalty of the past? They lived their lives in the day thereof. They fought their battles, with their enemies of their own time. They made their mark for good or ill. They have finished their labors, and their works do follow them.

Daniel H. Wells, mayor of this city for 10 years, counselor in the Mormon Church for nearly 35 years, gave his life to the public service. He had the love and respect of those who knew him best, universally among those of his own faith; and more widely than most men among those who differed with him. Those he came in direct conflict with respected him for his sincerity and courage. One of these, the late O. J. Hollister, collector of internal revenue, used to say to him and to him, "We are enemies, but I respect you, for I always know where to find you." Gen. Wells replied, "I rather like you, Hollister, too; for you know our ancestors, way back in the Colonial and Revolutionary times, were derived from the same town and fought together, and I can't think you are quite so contemptible as some of the sneaks, who make a business of lying about my people, and misrepresenting their every action for outside effect."

It is a slander of the best blood of the land to charge Daniel H. Wells with disloyalty to the flag. Though he found himself in armed opposition to the government troops, when the government had been misled by liars and hypocrites into a false and untenable fight, he always fought under the flag of his country. He was a patriotic man, a lover of the flag, a defender of the Constitution. He served his country, as a pioneer and colonizer, as his forefathers had done before him, and he taught his children to be loyal citizens after him. His sons and his grandsons have worn the uniform, in active service against the enemies of his country, and have served the people and are doing so with integrity and honor in civil and ecclesiastical and commercial positions of the highest trust. One of these was the governor of this state for nine years. What political exigency is it that calls for the defamation of this pioneer family? The memory of Daniel H. Wells is revered by his descendants, who glory in the high character, patriotism and courage of their sire. The contempt they feel for those who slander him and seek to perpetuate lies against his memory, in the vain hope of some political advantage, is shared by thousands who never agreed with him in matters of religion; but who know that he is vilified and maligned when he is accused of disloyalty, or his love of the flag of his country is questioned.

Poor old Martin Harkness, he lived his life and has gone to its reckoning. He told the story so long, that he saw a flag trailed in the dust and trod upon by the procession that honored the release of Gen. Wells in 1879 that he almost came to believe it himself; but not being quite sure, was induced by some consideration from some source, as late as last October, a few months before his own death, to bolster up the hourly vision by an affidavit.

Than Daniel H. Wells, no truer man to his God, his country or his people ever drew breath.

Under authority of the postoffice department of Washington, D. C., Arthur L. Thomas, postmaster, is engaged today working out a re-arrangement and enlargement of the delivery service for Salt Lake City. Four additional mail carriers will be employed at once which will bring the regular force up to 90 men. The most important change will be in the business district where three deliveries are made daily, with the exception of Sunday. The business area will be extended on account of the growth of Salt Lake. As near as can be ascertained, the department found that Salt Lake was entitled to more mail carriers on account of the increase in the volume of business handled by the local postoffice department.

ROOSEVELT HAS NEW EXPERIENCE

At Meeting on New York East Side Man in Audience Asked Him Questions.

QUOTED HIS FIRST MESSAGE

When Through Questioning Colonel Bade His Questioner Sit Down.

New York, Oct. 21.—One of the most strenuous incidents of Col. Roosevelt's present stump campaign occurred shortly after midnight last night, when he stopped at a hall in the upper East Side for a brief address. His appearance caused a riot, so enthusiastic were his auditors. Fully 25,000 persons had gathered in the narrow streets and through these the police had literally to fight for the colonel's automobile.

When he tried to alight for a dash into the hall the crowd surged about him and only a football rush, with 50 stalwart police reserves assisting, landed him inside the doors. There he had to rest several minutes to regain his breath before going on the platform.

On the way back to the automobile an even larger crowd cheered and applauded but the police had been able to clear a narrow lane, through which he ran to the car.

Hustled and hustled as he was, the worst annoyance of the evening came to the colonel from the persistent interruptions of a man in the audience which he addressed earlier in the evening. The man insisted on his right to ask questions, "as an American citizen."

"Put him out," yelled the crowd and for a moment the hall was full of noise.

"I challenge you Mr. Roosevelt," persisted the interrupter, "I challenge you on your own ground."

"I want to hear that man," shouted Mr. Roosevelt, waving his arms to command silence.

"I recite to you, your first message to Congress," retorted the man on the floor. "You went to Pittsburgh on the fourth day of July before that message and speaking to 25,000 people, you told them that special legislation to control the trusts had become a necessity. And then in your first message to Congress, you said that the men who constructed our railroads across the continent, filled up our commerce, built up our manufacturing and our industries, should not be tampered with at that time. You, the same colonel who is here tonight,"

"You have asked your question, now sit down," said the colonel. The crowd wanted to hear more.

"I shall answer him," said the colonel. There was some jeering, but the colonel demanded silence and got it.

"I am delighted he asked the question and delighted to answer it," said Mr. Roosevelt, "because it so well illustrates the absolutely consciousnessless misrepresentation that is so prevalent. The trouble is with gentlemen like you and others of his kind that they do not draw any distinction between rendering honest service and swindling. For the honest business man, he is big or little."

ALARMED FOR FATE OF BALLOONISTS

St. Louis, Oct. 21.—Alarmed at the prolonged silence of three balloon pilots and their aides, who left here for the International race, the Aero club of St. Louis today asked the Canadian government to begin a hunt for them. The three balloons are as yet unreported. They are the America II, Arizona, a Swiss entry and Dusseldorf II, a German entry.

The Germania landed yesterday 50 miles from Halleybury, Ont., according to today's messages. Col. Theodore Sennack in the Helvetia landed Wednesday evening at the same place and the Germania is reported to have come to earth.

SENATOR ALDRICH KNOCKED DOWN BY A STREET CAR

New York, Oct. 21.—United States Senator Nelson W. Aldrich of Rhode Island, has quite recovered today from the slight bruises received last night when he was knocked down by a Madison avenue car at sixty-fifth street. Early reports had that Senator Aldrich was in an automobile accident and had been severely hurt.

Senator Aldrich was crossing the street when the car struck him a glancing blow, knocking him down. The senator, unassisted, rose to his feet and, disregarding a few slight bruises, walked to the home of his son, Winthrop Aldrich, on Park avenue.

Senator Aldrich was as well as ever this morning.

CRUCIAL GAME IS STOPPED BY RAIN

Fourth Game of the Series Will Be Played Saturday at Chicago.

ATHLETICS ARE BEST BATTERS

If Sixth Game Is Necessary It Will Be Played at Philadelphia Tuesday.

Chicago, Oct. 21.—Wet grounds and a drizzling intermittent rain caused a postponement today of the fourth scheduled world's championship game between the Philadelphia Athletics and the Chicago Nationals. It will be played off here tomorrow. Should Chicago win (?) the fifth game will be fought out on the local grounds also.

Chairman Herrmann made the announcement after an examination of the grounds. The umpires found the whole field saturated. There was likelihood the official prediction that more or less rain would fall throughout the day and there was nothing to do but to order the postponement. The forecast for tomorrow is "fair and cooler." Forecaster David Cuthbertson said that the weather probably would begin to clear tonight and there might even be a bit of sunlight tomorrow.

About 200 persons, including a number of women, were lined up in the rain waiting for the ticket windows to open when the announcement was made. There also were many boys who had hoped to sell their positions to late comers.

If there is any advantage to anybody in the postponement it is said to accrue to Chicago on the theory that any possible change affecting the local players in their present gloomy position can be only for the better. 35 days rest, however, can do Philadelphia no harm.

In the unexpected event that Bender should be hit freely tomorrow (Coombs, who has a day's recuperation to buy him up, could be used again. Brown and Cole, either of whom may pitch for Chicago, are in no great need of a vacation. Cole has not pitched so far and Brown has not worked since Tuesday when Philadelphia drove him from the box.

CHANCE SEES GOOD OMEN.

Capt. Chance said that the day of idleness might be the turning point in the series. Connie Mack accepted the incident as a mere delay of 24 hours in a battle which the world's championship baseball is expected to last for several weeks.

Averages of players and teams based on the three games already played show a big margin in favor of Philadelphia. The latter have scored 25 runs to their opponents' 9. They have hit 35 hits for a total of 53 bases against Chicago's 17 hits and 24 bases. They have batted an average of .356 compared with .189 by their rivals. In fielding the Athletics are 59 points under Philadelphia, their respective percentages being .891 and .860. Philadelphia has won her games with the use of only 10 men, while Manager Chase has used 44.

Following are the batting and fielding averages of the players today:

Player	Fielding	Batting
Baker	.944	.600
Collins	.900	.455
Davis	.900	.455
Coombs	.300	.460
Archer	.300	.460
Barry	.100	.363
Bender	.100	.333
Furphy	.100	.250
Thomas	.100	.262
Lord	.100	.231
Strunk	.889	.231
Team average	.850	.336

The national commission decided that in the event it was necessary to play a sixth game, it shall be played on Tuesday at Philadelphia, allowing Monday for the clubs to make the trip from Chicago.

MONS. TONTI QUITS PORTUGAL.

Lisbon, Oct. 21.—Monsignor Tonti, the papal nuncio at Lisbon, today left Portugal. His destination was not announced. It had been rumored that the pope had decided to recall the nuncio as a protest against the anticlerical attitude of the republic. Antonio Almeida, minister of the interior, today returned from Coimbra and reported that the trouble at the university there was confined to the tearing up of royal portraits and the wrecking of furniture by the ultra-republican students.

The government is investigating the affairs of the national mint, the director of which, Jose Lima, recently committed suicide.

Further matters, the Jequit editor of an anti-republican newspaper, who was believed to have been killed, is alive and unharmed, according to announcements from his home.

New adhesions to the republic are reported daily. Many wealthy citizens are contributing to the liquidation of the national debt. Government employees, soldiers and sailors are offering to donate a part of their wages for the same purpose.
