Y. M. C. A. DIRECTORS SEEK CONTRIBUTIONS

Accountant's Report Shows a Deficit of $69,000—Trying to Save The Institution.

At Tuesday evening's meeting of the Y. M. C. A. directors, it was decided to canvass the business section of the city for monthly subscriptions to defray the current expenses of the association. In the meanwhile the Commercial club committee, of which P. J. Moran is chairman, is camping on the trails of subscribers to the relief fund who have not paid up. The directors say if relief is not forthcoming, the fine home of the association will have to be if relief is not forthcoming, the line home of the association will have to be sold to satisfy the long standing indebtedness which has for several years been piling up, so that when the new general secretary, Mr. Wright came, he found one of "the seven labors of Hercules" confronting him. The directors say the loss occasioned by fore-closure would be a public calamity, to be avoided by all possible means.

Accountant J. W. Edmunds reported to the directors the condition of the association, as he finds it. His report showed the deficit to approximate $69,-600, of which $17,000 is in current expenses. In the recent campaign to raise funds to pay off the debt $150,000 was pledged, of which about $115,000 was pledged, of which about $115,000 was pledged has not been paid, and through death and other reasons this amount, of course, has been somewhat decreased. Hence, if the full amount of the pledged sum were paid there would still be a big deficit, which must be made up if the Y. M. C. A. is to be saved.

At Tuesday evening's meeting there were present, President L. C. Miller, W. V. Rice, M. H. Walker, F. B. Stephens, George D. Keyser, T. W. Boyer, F. W. Francis, H. W. Sherman, O. A. Honnald, Spencer Clawson, John D. Spencer and General Secy, W. E.

lem of the conservation of our natural resources, In the broad meaning of conservation, as applied to the nation's resources, an almost limitless field for co-operative action on the part of our citizens has been opened. Conservation which means not only the preserving of our natural resources, but their development and prudent and provident use, finds almost unanimous support. In many instances the consumption of our resources necessitates the activities of development and growth; and development and growth are better than conment and growth are better than con-servation and preservation. Con-servation aims at the estoppal of wan-ton waste; it strikes at the "skimming over" process which has held sway in the destruction of so many of our valuable resources; it aims to preserve for the public use and benefit of the great natural assets of the nation as against their monopolization by the favored few; it has in view the restoration, so far as possible, of such of our resources as have been pillaged by the unscrupulous, and destroyed because of a lack of proper safeguards that have been padd necessary by the abstract as it. made necessary by the changed condi-tions resulting from increased popu-lation and growing demand. In a word, the conservation movement means care, discretion, frugality, and judiciousness in the handing of our resources as against improvidence

In the sense that conservation is development, the maintenance and upholding of the conservation policy is peculiarly within the province of the weather bureau. Precipitation, prevailing winds, temperature—these are all important considerations in the restoration of forest growth, and the controlling factors in the production of crops to serve and conserve the useful purposes and needs of man.

In the reclamation and development of the arid areas the weather bureau statistics furnish a substantial and sure basis upon which capital and energy can be invested. Warnings as to extreme weather conditions that endanger fruit crops, as furnished by the bureau, are invaluable to the horticulturist. As the scope and purposes of the work of

DUE TO NATURAL CAUSES.

That Mae O. Taylor, the woman who lied at the St. Mark's hospital under died at the St. Mark's hospital under rather unusual circumstances, came to her death by natural causes, was the verdict of a coroner's jury yesterday. The verdict was reached after all the physicians who had attended the woman had testified as well as the women who conducted the places where she lived. It is probable that the body, which has been at the O'Donnell undertaking establishment pending the action of the authorities, will now be shipped to Minnesota.

for proposed buildings must first be sure that the competition is in accordance with the rules and regulations of the association governing such contests, or otherwise they will find themselves charged with unprofessionalism, and on conviction of such may be excluded from the club.

This action of the association, it is understood, was brought about by the recent stir between the Ladles' Literary club and several local architects who submitted plans for their new club house to the building committee. While officers and members of the association did not wish to talk last night about the business that was transacted at the meeting, it was learned that the whole matter of the submission of plans to the building committee of the Ladles' Literary club, was fully gone over and it was decided to drop the matter concerning the club, but to see hereafter that the rules of the association be strictly adhered to, as outlined above, in future competitions.

DR.PRICES Gream Baking Powder

Its superiority is unquestioned Its fame world-wide Its use a protection and a guarantee against alum food

The low-grade powders are made from "phosphate alum," or "sodium aluminum sulphate," which is also alum, a mineral acid, and that makes the food unhealthful.

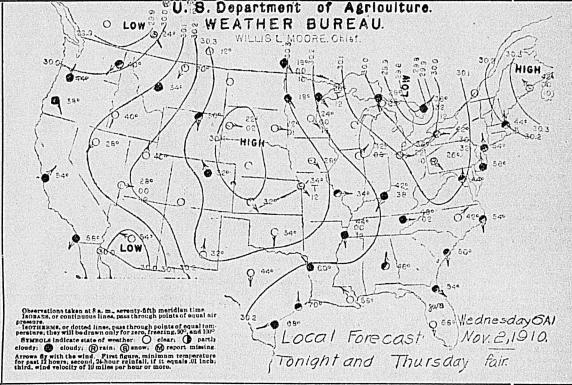

One pound of the imitation (25c.) powders contains five ounces of alum, a mineral poison.

Food baked with alum baking powders is found to contain a portion of the alum unchanged.

The continued use of alum made food impairs digestion, causing dyspepsia. The careful housewife when buying baking powder, will examine the label and take only a brand whose label shows the powder to be made from cream of tartar.
