The chief event in fraternal circles the past week was the session of the Washington State Society of the Sons of the American Revolution. Efforts looking to that end had been made for several months previously, and the formation of the society is a matter of much congratulation among the members. In order to join the Sons of the American Revolution proof of lineal descent from the first soldiers of the republic is necessary. The society is a matter of much congratulation among the members. Sons of American Revolution.
In conformity with the call issued last week, the Washington State Society of the Sons of the American Revolution, organized Monday evening in the office of James B. Howe, in the Haller block. More than forty names of those who can trace their ancestry back to Revolutionary days were enrolled on the charter list, which will be held open a short time to permit a few more to secure their papers and establish satisfactory proof of their eligibility. One of the members of the society, speaking of the Sons of the American Revolution, said: "Among the many patriotic societies known to our country, none has reached the influence and prestige of the Sons of the American Revolution, either in point of numbers or number of achievements. The national society now numbers thirty state societies, with new ones in Alaska, Arizona, Mississippi, Paris, France, and Honolulu. The aggregate membership May 1, 1895, was nearly 6,000, every one of whom has had his ancestral record carefully examined by the officers of both his state and national society; in fact, it is the rigid examination of applicants and the thorough Americanism of the Sons of the American Revolution that has caused so many men distinguished in the political, social and business life of their country to join it in preference to any other as rigid in their examination or ancestral records.

HE TALKS OF THE PERSECUTED.
Miss Cummings Tells of Japanese Missions—Bishop Barker Preaches at St. Mark's.

Rev. Allen W. Whaley, until recently pastor of the Jones Street African Methodist Episcopal church, preached last night a good sized congregation at the Young Naturalists' hall, on the university grounds. His subject was "The Glory of Persecution," and he handled it in a way to draw forth the sympathy of the audience. He spoke of the object some wicked people have for carrying on persecutions. Sometimes it was because they were afraid of the truth, and sometimes it was because they were not willing to see others above them. In speaking of his former congregation after the services were over, Mr. Whaley said: "You see before you the cream of the congregation of the Jones Street African Methodist Episcopal church. Tonight night a good sized congregation of the church, as you see, followed me to this place. They know that I am being persecuted for no cause, and they come to hear me preach and support me even when those who are temporarily in charge of the church act in the un-Christian manner you have witnessed. I have nothing to ask of you but to support me morally and financially, as many half dollars and quarters clinched in the collection box. It is stated by an advertising agent of the city that he will be better supported now than he ever was before, and if necessary he can build a church of his own here."

MISSIONARY LIFE IN JAPAN.
Miss Cummings, companion of Mrs. Carpenter, at First Baptist Church. Miss Cummings, who has been for eight years in Japan, delivered an interesting lecture last night at the First Baptist church on missionary work in Japan. Miss Cummings is a native of Seattle, 27 years of age and has a sweet voice and easy delivery. She is perfectly at home with her subject, and evidently an enthusiast in her work. She is a member of the First Baptist church, and her husband, Mr. Carpenter, is a missionary in Japan. She has spent many years in Burma, deciding to spend the remainder of her life in doing missionary work in Japan. She finally heard of Nemeru, where at that time no missionary work had ever been done, and finally landed in the place. It was 20 miles away from the nearest missionary station, and in less than a year Mr. Carpenter died. Mrs. Carpenter, assisted by the Japanese who, though not yet Christians, were kind and helpful, buried the remains of her husband. After that she took a short trip, but soon returned to her work.

HAWAIIAN NEWS.
President Dole Reaffirms Annexation Policy—Ex-Queen Ill. Honolulu, June 23.—The annexation of Hawaii is the subject of the Hawaiian policy until it is accomplished. The settlement for Princess Kalanikouli is to receive $4,000 a year from the government, commencing April 1 of the present year. This money will be paid to her as long as she does not meddle in politics.

THE PROVIDENCE OF GOD.
Foundation of Religious Belief—Bishop Barker at St. Mark's. The Rev. Dr. Barker, bishop of Olympia, preached at St. Mark's Episcopal church last night, taking his text from Matthew 11:2-3, "Behold the fowls of the air, for they sow not, neither do they reap, yet ye Heavenly Father feed them. Are ye not much better than they? Therefore, if God so clothe the grass of the field, which today is and tomorrow is cast into the oven, shall He not much more clothe you, O ye of little faith?" Bishop Barker said that the thought of God's providence was at the very root of religious belief. Even a glance at the Bible showed this. God's thoughts for man were for him as an individual rather than collectively.

A PROGRESSIVE CHURCH.
Rev. Mr. Shanklin's Work Warmly Commended. The session of the fourth quarterly conference of the First Methodist Episcopal church was held last Monday evening in the church parlors. The usual routine business was transacted, and the pastor, Rev. W. A. Shanklin, made his annual report, some of the statistics of which are as follows: Within the past nine and one-half months there have been 200 accessions to the church, and during his pastorate of twenty months 41 persons have united with the First church. The report of R. H. Denny, treasurer, shows the church to be in excellent financial condition.

WILL APPEAL TO ROME
Bishop Bonacum, of Nebraska, Denies Satolli's Authority, AND AGAIN SUSPENDS PRIESTS.

Authoritative Denial of the Statement That the American Bishops Have Sought the Delegate's Removal.

Omaha, June 23.—The dispatch published Wednesday, announcing the revocation by Mr. Satolli of the order of Bishop Bonacum dispensing with the services of Father Fitzgerald, of South Auburn, was confirmed by the bishop. In a letter to the clergyman, dated June 14, Bishop Bonacum recalls the order, but supplements it with another, withdrawing their previously function at noon July 15 unless they comply with certain conditions imposed, these being of a financial nature. Should they refuse compliance with the conditions imposed, the bishop says, in addition to the above penalty: "I shall take the proper steps to remove you from your mission, and with the consent of the sacred congregation of the propaganda, to disperse your services in this diocese."

HAIR CUTTING BY ELECTRICITY.
To have your hair shined off by electricity is the latest development of the tonsorial art. The apparatus to perform this stretched over a comb. By pressing a button in the handle of the comb current is applied to the wire, and it is heated to a white heat. The comb is passed through the hair, and as the wire comes in contact with the hair it is burned off at the end of each hair being cauterized as cut, which process prevents the loss of the oily substance with which the hair is filled. The apparatus is connected by flexible cord and attachment plug to a lamp socket, and can be used by any barber of ordinary skill.
