

A BOY VISITS KINGS.

The Travels of Young Tello d'Apery, of New York.

GLIMPSES OF THE SULTAN.

Tello Was Kissed by the Queen of Greece—Khedive of Egypt a Promising Youth.

WAS IN Constantinople in June, 1894, on my way home from a trip around the world. Scarcely had I landed when I was taken to the home of his excellency, Ghazi Osman Pasha...

Many people want to see his majesty, the sultan, but few are permitted, for many reasons, chief of which is that his person is considered too sacred, and there is no court where the sovereign is more exclusive and secluded, except possibly the Chinese.

Things are not so now, but all who have tried to gain a glimpse of the sultan know how very difficult it is, and when I had to go, I asked the American minister if he could gain an audience, I was kindly but firmly told all the obstacles in the way.

On leaving Constantinople I returned to Athens, where I had been before. On my arrival at the hotel, Count Massala, the court chamberlain, came to the hotel to meet me...

DR. COMANOS PASHA. An elder son is a lieutenant colonel in the army, and the younger is Kemal Bey. He is also an officer in the army.

It took me several days before the final arrangements were made, and then, on Friday, the Turkish Sabbath, Ghazi Osman Pasha came down to the door glittering with jewels and decorations and his resplendent uniform as commander-in-chief of the Turkish army...

GHAZI OSMAN PASHA. Ghazi Osman took me to a private room in the palace, where I could see the whole route of the pageant, and left me there for the time. There was much bustle, and officers were dashing about on finely caparisoned horses, and then an open carriage was brought to the doors of the palace at Yildiz, with white horses and an immense driver.

MEHMET ALLI. I like the memory of the lovely queen of Greece among my most precious possessions. Some months later I returned to Egypt for a second visit, and I was anxious to see the young khedive, whose noble father, the late Ismail Pasha, conferred the Order of the Medjidieh upon me.

QUEEN OLGA OF GREECE. When the sultan reached the spot when he reaches the palace steps, they were obliged to secure in the most undignified manner. The horses came back at a swinging trot, and the officials looked warm and uncomfortable as they tried to reproach their hurried breathing.

When the sultan reached the steps and descended from the carriage, he turned and made a short salutation like a wave of his hand toward everybody in general, and disappeared from view in the palace.

foreign ambassador. His majesty graciously consented to allow his name to be placed among the list of patrons to be carried on through the interpreter and high chamberlain, so that it is rather depressing to be brilliant under the circumstances...

On my way back from Egypt I passed through Rome, and needed to have had an audience with the queen of Italy, but to my sorrow I found that she was out of the city for two months. I met the king, however, in the street, and he politely invited me to his palace...

PRINCE GUY DE LUSIGNAN. In the old part of Paris lives his Royal Highness, prince Guy de Lusignan, whose family dates from the crusades. In A. D. 900, this prince is hereditary prince royal of Jerusalem, Cyprus and Armenia...

ABBAS PASHA. Marie Godofroy Le Goupil, and has two children, one now being the Marquis de Nauroy. Prince Guy de Lusignan has received the highest honors and decorations from every sovereign of the Orient...

TELLO J. D'APERY. Why the British pay so much attention to the rights of slaves. The Shah Zada has simply served one purpose. He has furnished a novel spectacle to the gazing crowds of London.

KING EDWIN'S FEAST. There was feasting in the hall and the bears wagged all. Oh! the board was heaped with food and the flames lit a second time.

As they feasted in a row. All at once they were aware of a bird in the hall. It was a sparrow-crow. In between them and the flame.

It is for the purpose of pleasing the answer by favoring upon his son of impressing him with the power and greatness of England and the desirability of being a friend to it instead of a Russia.

trip around the world, saying it was hard to be a prince in some ways. He pointed out to me many of the beauties of the palace and surroundings. Egypt is a beautiful place, which is now a hotel, and it is like a dream of fairyland inside...

Two Cardinal Princes Left. The death of the princely house that was the head of the princely house that formerly held sovereign sway over Calabria, reduces the number of cardinals of princely rank to two—Cardinals Bonaparte and Farnese.

Count Tolstoi's Eccentricities. The following characteristic little story of that eccentric genius, Count Leo Tolstoi, is communicated to our press...

A Good Cheese. How true it is that fame and fortune both hinge on some trivial circumstance. The most successful artist at the annual exhibition of the French salon one year was a young gentleman named Baldwin Sowers.

King Menelik's Ethiopian Library. The "Zentralblatt Bibliothekwissenschaft" gives some interesting particulars about the library of King Menelik of Abyssinia.

NASRULLA KHAN'S VISIT. The Shah Zada has simply served one purpose. He has furnished a novel spectacle to the gazing crowds of London. Incidentally he has also made himself a dreadfully nuisance to his royal and official entertainers.

As they feasted in a row. All at once they were aware of a bird in the hall. It was a sparrow-crow. In between them and the flame.

As they feasted in the hall. "What is all this life of ours. With its graces and its powers? It is like the bird, which is lit in between us and the flame."

It is for the purpose of pleasing the answer by favoring upon his son of impressing him with the power and greatness of England and the desirability of being a friend to it instead of a Russia.

the case is that the Shah Zada is not to visit England. The reason doubtless is that the British will not let him do so. He will not be able, therefore, to draw comparisons between the two countries, which might not be to England's advantage.

The death of the princely house that was the head of the princely house that formerly held sovereign sway over Calabria, reduces the number of cardinals of princely rank to two—Cardinals Bonaparte and Farnese.

The following characteristic little story of that eccentric genius, Count Leo Tolstoi, is communicated to our press...

How true it is that fame and fortune both hinge on some trivial circumstance. The most successful artist at the annual exhibition of the French salon one year was a young gentleman named Baldwin Sowers.

The "Zentralblatt Bibliothekwissenschaft" gives some interesting particulars about the library of King Menelik of Abyssinia.

The Shah Zada has simply served one purpose. He has furnished a novel spectacle to the gazing crowds of London. Incidentally he has also made himself a dreadfully nuisance to his royal and official entertainers.

As they feasted in the hall. "What is all this life of ours. With its graces and its powers? It is like the bird, which is lit in between us and the flame."

It is for the purpose of pleasing the answer by favoring upon his son of impressing him with the power and greatness of England and the desirability of being a friend to it instead of a Russia.

It is for the purpose of pleasing the answer by favoring upon his son of impressing him with the power and greatness of England and the desirability of being a friend to it instead of a Russia.

THE SODA FOUNTAIN.

Has Stimulated the Industry of Extract-Making to Vast Proportions.

Since soda water became the regular drink of the moderns, the extract-making industry has assumed enormous proportions. Where once vanilla and lemon were used by housewives and chefs a dozen years ago gallons are now consumed in the cooking stores.

Vanilla comes almost entirely from Mexico in the form of long, brown, snaky bunches, which are tied up in half-pound bundles and kept in hermetically sealed receptacles, so that the extract is not dissipated in the air.

After the beans are picked and their value determined, they are exposed for several months in the sun to dry. They are packed in little bundles and shipped to the United States, which is the greatest extract-making country in the world.

Artificial extracts with the exception of those made by the process of distillation, are entirely chemical and the flavors produced are really stronger than the fruits themselves.

How true it is that fame and fortune both hinge on some trivial circumstance. The most successful artist at the annual exhibition of the French salon one year was a young gentleman named Baldwin Sowers.

The "Zentralblatt Bibliothekwissenschaft" gives some interesting particulars about the library of King Menelik of Abyssinia.

The Shah Zada has simply served one purpose. He has furnished a novel spectacle to the gazing crowds of London. Incidentally he has also made himself a dreadfully nuisance to his royal and official entertainers.

As they feasted in the hall. "What is all this life of ours. With its graces and its powers? It is like the bird, which is lit in between us and the flame."

It is for the purpose of pleasing the answer by favoring upon his son of impressing him with the power and greatness of England and the desirability of being a friend to it instead of a Russia.

MERCURIAL POISON. RHEUMATISM. For which S.S.S. is the most reliable cure. A few bottles will afford relief where all else has failed.

DO YOU THINK. This is intended to illustrate where the greatest nerve, system builder and blood purifier on earth is sold?

WILL POWER. STRENGTH. "That tired feeling," insomnia, or if your system wants a "bracer" in any part, a case of DR. HENLEY'S Celery, Beef and Iron will work wonders for you.

MANHOOD RESTORED. "CUPIDEN'S" This great Vegetable Vitamine is the prescription of a famous French physician, will quickly cure you of all nervous or diseases of the generative organs.

DR. SANDEN'S ELECTRIC BELL. Nature is aided by Keeping the System Always Charged With Electricity.

INDIGESTION, ALL STOMACH AND LIVER TROUBLES. Want of Vitality in Any Form of the Body Find a Sure Cure in DR. SANDEN'S ELECTRIC BELL.

WE SELL Postage Stamps. OPEN All Night. STEWART & HOLMES DRUG COMPANY. 703 Front Street, Seattle.

Take It at Night. YOU'LL FEEL BETTER NEXT MORNING. Moore's Revealed Remedy. Nature's Best Medicine. $1 a Bottle.

GLASS. Window Glass, Mirror Plates, Glazed Sashes and Doors, Paints, Oils, Varnishes, Brushes, Etc. F. W. Devine & Co.'s Celebrated Mixed Paints.

MORAN BROS. CO. Foundry, Machine and Boiler Works. Irrigating and Drainage PUMPS In Stock or to Order.

M. LEVY & CO. Importers and Jobbers of CIGARS and TOBACCO, SMOKERS' ARTICLES, ETC. Telephone 207. LEO'S BUSINESS COLLEGE—short-hand, Typewriting, Book-keeping, Penmanship and Commercial School Branches. Individual instruction. Day and night sessions. Occidental Block.