MARCH OF THE KNIGHTS

The Most Splendid Pageant That Boston Ever Saw.

FIVE MILES OF MOVING KNIGHTS

Hundreds of Thousands of People See the Magnificent Spectacle.

It Required Four Hours and a Half for the Templars' Army to Pass a Given Point - Banquets, Receptions and General Merrymaking - The Conclave Opened.

Boston, Aug. 27.-All Boston is tonight discussing the greatest gala day the city has ever seen. For more than five hours the principal avenues were occupied by plumed Knights Templars, and hundreds of thousands of spectators obligingly crowded upon the sidewalks to give them room.

The day was a fine one. Somewhat cloudy at first, the sun came out brightly in the afternoon, but at no time was the heat great enough to cause much discomfort. Every one seemed to enjoy himself, from the grinning urchin who had climbed an electric light pole, to the proud bearer of the handsomest banner in the line. There were more than 100 grand stands to accommodate the immense throng that clamored for seats, although most every foot of available space along the line of march had been covered with platforms and seats.

The 25,000 Knights presented a splendid appearance on parade, and with very few exceptions completed the entire line of march. As they passed the reviewing stand before Grand Commander McCurdy and Governor Greenhalge, and later before Chief Marshal Lawrence and Mayor Curtis, many of them executed intricate military evolutions which won the admiration of the thousands who witnessed them.

These tactics were also introduced by the more proficient commanderies at intervals along the line of march. Great admiration was expressed by the appearance of the California and other Western delegations.

The evening has been given up by the Knights in general merrymaking. There are banquets and receptions galore, and at every headquarters open house is the order. The conclave was officially opened by exercises in Masonic Temple, immediately after the close of the parade.

It was shortly after 6:30 this evening when the conclave was officially opened at Masonic temple. Most eminent Sir Hugh McCurdy, Gov. Greenhalge, of Massachusetts; Mayor Curtis, of Boston, and Right Eminent Sir George Clarence Lawrence, proceeded to the temple, where they were greeted by a large audience of Sir Knights and Masons. Sir Knight Lawrence acted as master of ceremonies and introduced Mayor Curtis, who welcomed the Knights Templars to Boston as brothers, and paid a tribute to Grand Master McCurdy.

Albert Hansen, Mayor Curtis, Gov. Greenhalge, and other guests who spoke as follows: "The welcome is so great that the sound waves will carry it from Boston to San Francisco, and from Canada to New Orleans."

Francisco, and from Canada to New Orleans. Events of this kind bring together citizens of a true republic—one people, one purpose, one cause. The event today has been an inspiring spectacle, inspiring in numbers, inspiring in character and inspiring in significance.

The usual delay consequent to the formation of the great procession, but all was in readiness shortly after 10 o'clock, and by 10:35 the long line was in motion, the signal for the start being greeted by the cheers and salutes of 10,000 people. As the great body of Knights moved down Commonwealth avenue the spectacle was inspiring. The music of a hundred bands and the applause of thousands of people filled the air.

FOUND IN INDIANAPOLIS, WHERE HOLMES KILLED HIM.

Enough of the Charred Skeleton Was Left, However, to Testify Against Holmes, Who Can Be Positively Identified as the Occupant of a House Just Discovered by Police.

HORRIBLE EVIDENCE OBTAINED

The Boy Was Murdered and His Body Burned in a Stove.

Indianapolis, Aug. 27.—Indianapolis will claim the right to try H. H. Holmes for murder. The claim will be based on the horrible developments of today, which include the finding of the charred remains of a 5-year-old Howard Pitzel and evidence which before any jury in the country would convict Holmes of having murdered him and then partially burned his body in a stove.

Detectives Gov. of Philadelphia, Richards, of Indianapolis, and Inspector Gary of the Fidelity Insurance Company, have been at work for weeks hunting for traces of the boy's body. He was traced here with Holmes and disappeared. The city was scoured, and the work was begun in the suburbs, hunting for a house rented by Holmes on October 10 or 12 of last year.

This morning the detectives went to Irvington, a pretty suburb of this city, and the seat of Butler college, and before they had been an hour their attention was called by a real estate dealer to a small vacant cottage situated in the woods at the edge of town and far removed from the ordinary dwellings. The party went to the house, and a few minutes later the officers found beneath the side porch the missing trunk which was taken from the side door of the Circle house after the fire on October 10 by Holmes, and which was thought to contain the body of the boy. Great excitement followed, and hundreds flocked to the scene.

In a barn connected with the house was a large stove of cylindrical shape, of the same pattern as Holmes bought in Cincinnati. He rented the house under the same alias. The stove had been moved from the house to the stable by the owner of the house after the fire on October 10. It was concluded that the body had been burned in the stove, and search was begun for the remains. Late this evening Dr. J. F. Barnhill's attention was called by a small boy named Walter Jenny to the stove hole, where the stove had been. It was filled with refuse. This was pulled out, and the remains of the body found. In this refused charred bones were found. The teeth showed that the body was that of a boy between 8 and 10 years of age, and all the other bones confirmed this. All were charred, and parts of the flesh clung to some of them. The skull bones and pelvis added the same convincing truth. The boy had evidently been burned in a cold fire in the huge stove found in the barn.

Howard's overcoat was found at a grocery store near by, where Holmes had left it before the fire. The overcoat was found in the huge stove found in the barn. The overcoat was found in the huge stove found in the barn.

NO MORE DERRANT JURORS.

The Special Panel Exhausted—Collapse of the Prisoner's Alibi. San Francisco, Aug. 27.—In Judge Murray's court this morning opposing counsel concentrated all their energies to securing a twelfth juror to try Theodore Durrant. After a number had been excused for cause the remaining about forty names in the jury box, from which it was hoped to complete the panel. The morning was spent in a fruitless attempt to get an impartial citizen to serve. The panel was finally exhausted, so adjournment was necessary, as the 3,000 veniremen selected in the beginning of the year to serve in the various twelve departments of the superior court had been exhausted.

Durrant looked on with the calm and imperturbable demeanor which has characterized him from the beginning, and even from the time of his arrest. The young man's perfect self-control under all circumstances is beginning to attract some admiration. He is now in custody for securing only eleven of the twelve jurors required. Judge Murphy ordered the sheriff to collect seventy-five citizens to appear in court tomorrow to serve as jurors. Attorney Deuprey took formal exceptions to everything that had been done.

Durrant's alibi in the Minnie Williams case, so unexpectedly built by Marcus Burnett and Edward McGrover, has been shattered. Judge G. C. Grossinger, upon whom the young man depended for corroboration, declares positively that it was on the night of Thursday, April 11, and not on Friday, that the young fellow saw Murray in company with him at all. "I do not know," said Judge Grossinger, "that I did not meet Burnett and McGrover on Friday night, April 12. It was on the night before that I met them. I do not wish to be in this case as a prop to the defense in this way. In the first place, Burnett and McGrover have not given a true account of what happened when I was on Market street. I have known them for some time, having been connected with the militia. About 9 o'clock on Thursday night I met both of them on Market street, near Powell. It was very near the Baldwin Annex, and not in front of the Elliot gallery, as they have asserted."

Easy As Can Be

—washing with Pearline. Just try it and see. None of the rub, rub, rub that made the old washboard hateful. None of the old washboard, either. Nothing but common sense washing of clothes, paint, dishes, anything in the house—with something that takes out the dirt, instead of making you rub it out. It's a big difference. There's a saving in the labor—but, besides that, there's a saving in the wear.

Washing with acids and chemicals is easy, too—but it isn't safe. Washing with Pearline is.

Beware Peddlers and some unscrupulous grocers will tell you "this is as good as" or "the same as Pearline." IT'S FALSE! Pearline is never peddled; if your grocer sends you an imitation, be honest—and if it is, JAMES PYLE, New York.
