

THE PULPIT VACANT. Formal Severance of Dr. Alison and His Pastorate. HE WILL NOT TAKE AN APPEAL.

Warning to Sons—Rev. Mr. Shanklin to Remain in Seattle—Kindergarten for Babies.

The last formal act in the dissolution of Dr. Alison's pastorate took place yesterday morning at the First Presbyterian church, when Rev. Calvin W. Stewart, D. D., president of Whitworth college, appeared in the pulpit to declare the pastorate vacant. Dr. Alison was conspicuous by his absence.

By the direction and authority of the Puget Sound presbytery, I hereby declare this pulpit vacant. It is filed again by a pastor of your oil it is filed again.

WARNING TO THE YOUTH.

A sermon to sons at Plymouth Congregational church.

Plymouth church was again crowded to its utmost capacity last night when Rev. W. H. G. Temple preached the sixth sermon in his heartstone series, by which he has succeeded in arousing a profound and abiding interest.

"We may interpret Solomon as saying that a wise son is one who has the wisdom of a respectful parent. Some boys are constitutionally sassy. No matter how well you dress, that plain man who calls himself your father deserves your respect.

The last characteristic mentioned was integrity, and it is the one which Mr. Temple dwelt upon most fully.

The next characteristic of a wise boy, according to Mr. Temple, is care in the formation of his habits.

ALL BRICK OR STONE Houses of New York Without Lawns or Flowers.

A SEATTLE MINISTER FAMOUS. Rev. Mr. Banks, Who Faced the Mob, Now at Hanson Place Church—Letter From the Metropolis.

The man who said "I'd rather be a lamp post on Broadway than a bank president in the West" was deeply impressed with the satisfaction of living in the American metropolis.

"There are no houses here like we have in Seattle, with all the green lawns and flower beds. Even there is relief at home in seeing the different colors of houses; but here they are either of red brick or brown stone, both very commonplace.

"I Do Nothing"

For my cold; let it wear itself out," you say. It is more likely to wear you out unless you make haste to free yourself from its clutches.

NO ABSOLUTE PROPERTY IN TROUT

Though Tame, They Cannot Be Taken in One's Own Land.

The full bench of the supreme court of Massachusetts has held, in the case of the Commonwealth vs. Richard E. Pollett, that public statutes, chapter 91, section 51, prohibit an owner of land, on a stream not navigable, from taking trout from the stream with a net on his own land, as well as they prohibit other persons from doing so.

The defendant is the owner of a trout hatchery at Sheffield. He owned the trout he caught in the net, and took them, in that part of the brook under his control, for the purpose of stripping them of their spawn. They were then to be turned back into the brook alive.
