

TOMORROW THE VOTE.

Citizens Will Decide Whether to Incur Deeper Debt AND CHOOSE 15 FREEHOLDERS.

The Polling Places and Election Boards—The Ticket—Specific Instructions to Electors.

At the special election to be held tomorrow the qualified electors of Seattle will vote for the approval or rejection of ordinance 3599...

The registration is less than half the voters in the city, aggregating 5,507, and as there is only one ticket for freeholders and the vote on the water question will be simply "Yes" or "No," returns are likely to be in unusually early...

There are forty-five polling places, as at the last election held in the city and county, and the polls will be open from 9 o'clock a. m. until 7 o'clock p. m. The election is the first to be held under the old laws of 1855, which have amended the old laws by providing that in precincts where the registration is less than 100 no clerks shall be employed...

The Freeholders' Ticket. The ticket to be placed in the hands of the voters tomorrow embraces both the water proposition and the fifteen freeholders nominated for charter commissioners. An outline is given below:

CITIZEN'S NON-PARTISAN TICKET. Table with 2 columns: Vote For Fifteen, Freeholders for Charter Revision. Lists names of candidates for both categories.

IN FAVOR OF the proposition as set forth and detailed in section 2 of ordinance 3599 of the said city that the city of Seattle make certain additions to the existing water works...

AGAINST the proposition as set forth and detailed in section 2 of ordinance 3599 of the said city that the city of Seattle make certain additions to the existing water works...

Instructions to Voters. The city clerk has issued specific instructions for the guidance of voters. The most important are as follows:

"Obtain an official ballot from the judges. Any voter desiring to vote shall give his name to the inspector or one of the judges of election; if found to be a qualified elector, he shall thereupon be entitled to receive one ballot.

"The voter shall forthwith, on receipt of his ballot, without leaving the polling place, retire alone to one of the apartments provided to prepare his ballot.

"If the voter desires to vote for all the candidates of any political party he may mark a cross 'X' after the name against the political designation of such party.

"If the voter desires to vote for any particular candidate of any other political party, he may do so by placing after the name of such candidate a mark 'X', provided that if two or more candidates for such office are to be elected, the voter shall place his mark 'X' after the name of each of the candidates for whom he wishes to vote for that particular office, and in such case such voter shall be deemed to have voted for all the persons named as the candidates of the political party after which he shall have made his mark 'X', except those who are otherwise designated.

"Each voter may prepare his ballot by marking a cross 'X' after the name of every person or candidate for whom he wishes to vote.

"If the ballot contains a constitutional amendment or other question to be submitted to the vote of the people, the voter shall place a cross 'X' after the question for or against the amendment or proposition, as the case may be.

"A voter may write in the blank spaces or vases for that particular office, and in such case such voter shall be deemed to have voted for all the persons named as the candidates of the political party after which he shall have made his mark 'X', except those who are otherwise designated.

"The instructions also give the statistics governing elections, and afford complete information, so that voters will have no difficulty with their ballots.

"WHEN WILL WE GET WORK?" Topic for Discussion at Workingmen's Meeting at Turner Hall Tonight. The premises held forth to workingmen as an inducement to vote for the proposed increase of the city debt for the construction of the Cedar river water supply system...

Among the citizens of Seattle who will vote "No" on the ordinance to build a gravity water system from Cedar river, and thereby throw the city $2,500,000 deeper into debt, are R. H. Calligan and W. T. Chalk, each an ex-superintendent of water works...

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U.S. Gov't Report

ABSOLUTELY PURE. THE POWER COMPANY. A Card of Explanation to the People of Seattle.

To the People of Seattle: The Seattle Power Company has been of late so much misrepresented that it desires to address to each of you a few words as to its character and purposes.

If it is an offense to be a corporation, it pleads guilty. In this respect it enjoys good company, for there is hardly any important business of any kind of business, in this city which is not carried on by a corporation.

Corporations, however, should be operated by their acts, and for that reason the acts of the Seattle Power Company should be known before it is condemned.

This company is neither a myth without a basis, nor does it design to deprive Seattle of its water rights, as has been alleged on other occasions. These two descriptions are not only inconsistent, but neither of them is true.

The company was organized about two years ago to utilize the fall of Cedar river for power. At that time it was not aware of the fact that the city of Seattle owned the water rights of the river.

At a later period it seemed practicable to combine a gravity water supply for Seattle with the electric power of our enterprise. About eight months ago, the city prospecting committee for the construction of the gravity system, confirmed the belief that efforts in this direction would be encouraged.

At no time have our movements been secret. We consulted the city engineer on several occasions as to our plans and estimates, and were assured by him that the city, although frequently urged by the engineering department, had failed to adopt any plans looking to securing the Cedar river water supply.

Our projects were well known to a great number of prominent citizens. The work has been carried on openly, with no desire to avoid publicity, and in the belief that efforts to bring capital here for investment in important enterprises would be heartily welcomed.

We have never intended, nor do we think it possible for any body to deprive Seattle of its water rights, nor of anything else that may be deemed useful or beneficial to the people.

Our proposals to construct a gravity system for Seattle were in fact, a supply of water at its lowest cost than the water from Lake Washington, and to give the city an option to buy the whole system at any time, on terms to be fixed by arbitration.

We offered to submit our proposals to a board of engineers, with the stipulation that if we had not made terms satisfactory to the city, we would try to make them so. It is plain that the city can make its own terms, and we cannot dictate.

These proposals have been assailed by many who, as we have reason to know, have not read them. Others have misrepresented them as much as if they had not read them.

We are ready to construct a gravity system and furnish power to Seattle cheaply. The cost can be had in any other way, with the provision that the city shall have and own its water supply system absolutely and completely. The volume of water available at its lowest cost is abundant for all possible city wants for generations.

The surplus saved by storage, or what would otherwise be wasted, is all we want, and is ample for our purposes. We offer the city to monopolize the water of Cedar river beyond its own wants, present and future, would be as extraordinary as to seek to monopolize the air or the ocean.

If the ordinance is approved and the warrants held legal by the courts we shall be in a position to make a bid for the contract with the city on the terms set forth. If the ordinance is not approved, the proposition will be before the council for discussion and modification, to meet the just demands of the people, and we are ready to begin work at once.

It has been a surprising and unexpected experience that after prolonged and often discouraging efforts to enlist capital in public enterprises here, our success should have been the occasion of insinuations and attacks, often without knowledge, and in some cases with a malignity that we have no desire to account for.

We ask to be judged by the evidence. The recent report of the county commissioners on our work at Cedar lake is good evidence of our intentions, as well as our ability to do credit to this city, county and state.

It will be for those who, without just motives, or ignorant of our purposes, assail us and put obstacles in our way, to answer to this community for the failure of our efforts, if they should fail, to contribute largely to the prosperity of this city and its inhabitants.

SEATTLE POWER COMPANY. E. H. Ammidown, President.

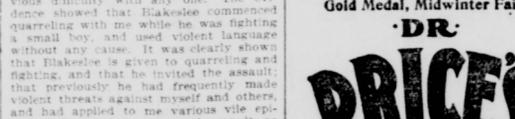

NOT AN A. P. A. LEADER. Whatcom, Dec. 7, 1895. To the Editor: I write to reply to exaggerated statements made against me in the Post-Intelligencer bearing date of December 2, 1895, in an attempt to charge what was claimed as misconduct on my part to the A. P. A., to which it is claimed I am a member.

These statements were made under the headline as follows: "An A. P. A. Leader Arrested." I am not a leader of that association, and as a father that I never solicited Blakeslee's father to join the A. P. A.

I have lived in this community for six years without ever having had any previous difficulty with any one. The evidence showed that Blakeslee commenced quarreling with me while he was fighting a small boy, and used violent language without any cause. It was clearly shown that Blakeslee is given to quarreling and fighting, and that he invited the assault, that previously he had frequently made violent threats against myself and others, and had applied to me various vile epithets. There was no brutal assault as stated. I having merely slapped Blakeslee under the most aggravating circumstances.

TO INVITE SETTLERS. First Move to Form a State Immigration Society.

A REPORT OF ST. PAUL MEETING. Gov. McGraw Requested to Call a Convention—Local Organization Necessary.

A state immigration convention will probably soon be called by Gov. J. H. McGraw to further the work begun by the Northwestern immigration convention at St. Paul November 19 to 21.

Interstate Association Formed. "Out of this general convention," says Mr. Nadeau's report, "there was organized the Northwestern Immigration Association, composed of representatives from the states of Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, Montana, Idaho, Washington and Oregon.

Its Work Defined. "That association will distribute literature and direct its efforts to encouraging immigration to the Northwest without reference to particular locality, as well as assist the state organizations, which, it is hoped, will be formed in each of the states represented.

State Organization Essential. "The question of forming a state organization was carefully considered by the delegates from Washington, and it was unanimously decided to respectfully request you to issue a call at an early date to the cities, villages and counties of this state, and the commercial bodies therein, to send delegates, in such numbers as you may decide, to a state immigration convention to be held at such time and place as in your judgment would best suit the purpose to form a state board or association, so that an energetic, intelligent and organized effort may be made to induce immigration to Washington, as it is confidently expected that there will be a great number of immigrants move from the Eastern, Middle and Central states in the spring and early summer of 1896, and this state would best suit their needs in putting forth its best efforts to secure its full share. It was announced in the St. Paul convention that many of the states had already taken steps in the formation of state associations, and those who had not already done so announced that they would upon their return to the various states.

Mr. Nadeau signs the report for the remaining delegates at the St. Paul convention as follows: Ellis Morrison, W. J. Morphy, Seattle; A. G. Foster, Albert White, E. L. Shafter, Dr. James Van Marter, H. G. Foster, Tacoma; E. F. Benson, O. A. Fechter, North Yakima; J. S. Collican, John Cain, Port Angeles; R. G. Gamwell, Fairhaven; H. Bolster, Spokane; P. S. Combs, Cheney.

Great competition sale now on at Cowley's Basement Store, corner Second and Columbia.

His Son Laid to Rest. James Anglin, who reached Seattle last Wednesday just in time to be present during the last hours of his son, Walter P. Anglin, will leave today for his home near San Francisco. Saturday he attended the burial of his son's body in Lake View cemetery. In speaking of the pathetic circumstances surrounding his son's death, Mr. Anglin expresses profound gratitude to the matron, nurses and other employes at the Seattle General hospital for the tender care and many kindnesses which helped to smooth the sick man's pillow and make his suffering less.
