

up in the ubiquitous material that promises to be the rage of the season.

Don'ts for Debutantes. It is a good thing to have some rules with which to work out life's problem.

Always take it for granted that every one means well by you, unless you have proof to the contrary.

Don't snub other women and girls just because there is a man around.

Don't wear a dress that is too tight.

There are a great many materials in the market which are not so well known.

There is not a woman living who is not susceptible to the charms of a gown with a pretty inner lining.

They will not forgive it, and they will be angry with you.

Don't frequent much older girls can only experience and much older girls can only experience and much older girls can only experience.

Notes of Fashion. Lace net crowns embroidered in mock jewels and spangles are seen on very dressy bonnets.

Notes of Fashion. A velvet cape, which is to be worn only for the theater, should be lined with white satin.

Black cotton makes are very fashionable and are as perishable as one would expect.

Handkerchiefs are very dressy toffs or are made of some satin ribbon and yellow lace.

Some of the new jackets show the reverse turned back from the waist.

The black veil is still much worn.

Every man should have in his wardrobe a navy blue suit.

Don't wonder what people are thinking of you.

Don't be wondering what you will say next.

Don't frequent much older girls can only experience and much older girls can only experience.

ECONOMICAL COOKERY

California Flakes. California Flakes, served with cream and sugar.

Fried Liver and Bacon. Fried Liver and Bacon, Creamed Potatoes.

London Ginger Bread. London Ginger Bread, recommended for dinner on that day.

Fried Liver. Slice the liver one-half inch thick, pour boiling water over it.

Roast Ribs of Beef. A rib roast may be made very economical if treated as follows.

Put a piece of white paper in the oven, and when it turns a bit color in a few minutes, then your oven is moderate.

Miscellaneous Bits. Among the curiosities of the day are asbestos toasters.

Potatoes in Cases. Bake potatoes of equal size, and when done and still hot cut off a piece.

Fried Parsnips. Peel or scrape the parsnips and cut in shape about an inch in thickness.

Stuffed Eggs. Boil eggs hard for about twenty minutes, then cut the shells.

Queen of Pudding. One pint of bread crumbs, one quart of milk, one cup of sugar.

Black Chocolate Cake. Boil together until it thickens one-half cup of chocolate and one cup of sweet milk.

RESPLENDENT IN RICH BROCADES.

grass. Wet it as it dries, and with two or three writtings the mildew will disappear.

Light scorch marks may be removed by simply wetting with water and laying them in the sun.

Warts are frequently to be seen on the hands of children. They may be removed by rubbing them several times a day with a cut raw potato.

Drop a few small nails in the bottom of the ink bottle. This prevents pens from clogging, as the acid in the ink exhausts itself upon the nails.

Melancholia stains may be cleaned from silver by rubbing with a soft cloth dipped in sulphuric acid, and then thoroughly washed off in hot soapsuds.

Seashore sand will greatly improve the appearance of old velvet and fur when sprinkled on the sand well over the velvet, and then brush the pile the wrong way until none of the sand remains.

Water bottles and decanters may be cleaned and all stains removed by warm water with a few shot, or tea leaves, or potato peelings.

Boiling clothes belongs to past generations, so says an advanced housekeeper. Clothes become much whiter and sweeter if they are simply covered with boiling water in a tub, and allowed to stand a few minutes, then rinse and dry.

A gown should never be put away dusty. If there are any soiled spots rub away them with both sides with a cake of magnesia, then hang in a closet for a day or more and brush again.

Care of the hands and nails is as necessary now as care of the hair and teeth. Household work is done a large part of gloves should be worn, as nothing makes the hands so grimy or breaks the nails so badly as dusting.

To make a good polish for hardwood floors, cut a pound of beeswax into pieces, put into an old tin, which place in a pan of hot water.

The Touch of a Leap-Year Hand. At 8 o'clock last Saturday evening Algonquin stood at the front door of the house of the girl he loved.

had thought it was you I wouldn't have been for a long time in the cold so long."

"You know," she continued as she drew him inside and closed the door, "that the servants are not tonight, and some of the family have to answer the front door bell."

He thought he saw a chance to make a dash in the right direction without being hindered. That had been the trouble all the time with Algonquin; he was in mortal terror of frightening the girl by some unattractive precipitate action.
