

FIGHT AT OPELOUSAS

One of the Regulators Killed by a White Man.

TODAY IS THE ELECTION

The White Democrats Swear by Their Trusty Rifles That the Black Men Shall Not Vote.

Opeλουςas, La., April 20.—At this hour (p. m.) 500 armed men of both parties are on the move, and a desperate conflict is expected at any time. Over 200 regulators armed with Winchester have surrounded the town, and their ostensible object is the capture of the courthouse. On the vote of the Opeλουςas ward depends the holding of a election in the parish, and they are concentrating their efforts here. They realize that if a full vote is polled the combine will win. The report came to this place early today that the regulators were assembled at the Bellevue bridge, three miles south of town. At 10 o'clock arrivals from the country reported that 200 men on horseback, armed with Winchester, shotguns and pistols, were gathered there and were planning an invasion of the town. Upon the report of this news the combine people, or anti-regulators, began to assemble around the courthouse square, armed to the teeth and prepared to resist the invasion. The sheriff was in town when the news first arrived, but he did not attempt to disband the armed body of men. The regulators, however, rode out to the camp of the regulators and endeavored by persuasion to get them to disband, but his efforts availed nothing. This afternoon Thomas Durio, a leading planter; O. M. Thompson, clerk of the district court, and five or six friends were out in front of Durio's house. They were with their children near me, said Mr. Durio. "Suddenly thirty regulators, led by one Reed, passed my house. They were stopped behind a clump of trees. I went out into the field to see what they were doing. When near them they fired six shots at me. My friends came to my aid and we returned ten or twelve shots. We then laid down and the regulators fired fully fifty shots at us, shooting my horse in two places. Half of them then ran away. The others remained behind a group of trees and appeared to be helping some one on a horse. I don't know whether we hurt any of them or not. We went word to town for reinforcements, but when the boys came the regulators were out in sight. Mr. Durio's horse was killed. It is rumored that two of the regulators were shot and one killed. It is impossible to verify the rumor. Later—it is now stated positively that one regulator—Alice Reed—was killed and another mortally wounded in the skirmish at Durio's, three miles from here, this morning. At 11:30 tonight the town is quiet. Armed squads are on duty at every road entering the place, and the courthouse is a perfect arsenal. The Washington boys, thirty strong, who came in this village with the citizens against the regulators, have hurried home. A courier brings news that Washington is being surrounded by the regulators. The regulators are in the neighborhood of Bellefleur Cave. All day long there has not been a state or parish officer, not even a constable, and the only one available for a town to be in a more martial state. It is believed now that the regulators will not come into town until morning. There are no more men waiting for them. The district attorney has sent word that his regulators will enter town tomorrow, and that he has twenty Winchester at his back to say "No negro shall vote."

The anti-regulators declare they will hold the courthouse if its halls run with blood. The regulators have moved back a mile or two in the country from King bridge. The trouble in Opelousas grew out of an effort on the part of the white Democrats to prevent the registration of the negroes. A military company was sent there, and the negroes all registered. They are in the majority, and the movement of the regulators to prevent the negroes from voting tomorrow.

GROVER CLEVELAND'S BROTHER

He Intends to Split the Presbyterian Church of Chaumont.

Chaumont, N. Y., April 20.—Though Rev. William N. Cleveland, the deposed pastor of the Presbyterian church in this village, preached his farewell sermon last night to his rebellious flock, it is not at all certain that it was the last sermon he will preach in the place. It is probable that he will dispense the gospel in Chaumont for years to come, but not in the little church over which he has presided for the last four years. Talk of seceding from the troublous church is rife. Indeed, actual secession has already begun. Since Rev. Cleveland was dismissed from his pastorate last Tuesday by the St. Lawrence presbytery, influential and liberal members of his congregation have given up their pews, and many more are expected to follow their example in the next few days. All of the members are thick-and-thin Cleveland supporters; indeed, every citizen of the village, excepting the dozen families who led the opposition against his pastorate, are in sympathy with the president, and there is serious talk of erecting a new chapel and engaging him to preach in it. A committee of citizens has written Mr. Cleveland and made such a proposition to him. He is considering it. The seceders declare that it will be impossible for them to worship in the same church with the people who brought about their pastorate's dismissal, and they are determined that Mr. Cleveland shall be the pastor of the new church. They claim that in that way alone can he be vindicated in the eyes of the world. It is proposed to have him preach in the town hall until the new chapel is completed. When questioned concerning the matter Mr. Cleveland said: "It is true that such a proposition has been made to me, but I have not yet given my answer. I have no plans for the future. I had the privilege of preaching in this town until July 1, but I considered it best to preach my farewell sermon today. I shall move out of the village, but not out of the world, for my wife is too ill."

SALOONS BECOME HOTELS.

The Raines Law Likely to Work Very Badly in New York.

New York, April 20.—Notwithstanding the fact that the new Raines law was enforced in this city yesterday, it was possible to buy intoxicating drinks. Under the interpretation of the Raines law any one with ten beds in a room is a hotel. Every restaurant-keeper and saloon-keeper who has not a bar in his room has either secured a hotel license or else is trying to secure one. The announcement by Chief Conlin that no drinks could be sold in hotels without the sale of a bona fide meal at the same time did not cause this class of "hotel men" much worry, as no one has actually defined what a legitimate meal is. In a majority of places a sandwich was considered a legitimate meal and

FIGHTING IN CUBA.

The Patriots Kill Most of a Gunboat's Crew.

MUCH PROPERTY BEING BURNED.

Havana Province Seems to Be Full of Insurgents—Maceo Praying for the Rains to Begin.

Havana, April 20.—The gunboat Centella, commanded by Lieut. Gonzalo Puerta, while conveying a schoolmaster, on board a schooner, and a quantity of provisions intended for the Spanish detachment at Janda, on the river Cauto, was fired upon by the insurgents who boarded the vessel. The insurgents were in strong force, and occupied advantageous positions. The sailors on board the gunboat and the soldiers on board the schooner were killed, and on board the schooner were taken prisoners. The gunboat was again fired upon, but although she only had four men, including Lieut. Puerta, on board, she succeeded in beating off the enemy and relieving the detachment at Janda. The lieutenant and the ship's corporal of the gunboat were seriously wounded. The schooner was captured and its crew taken prisoner. The insurgents have performed acts of remarkable valor. Gen. Arrol is pursuing Maceo in Pinar del Rio with indefatigable energy, hardly allowing his troops to sleep. He decided to break up the party of insurgents, and is confidently expected here by the authorities. A band of 500 insurgents has burned the factory at Matanzas in order to cut off the export of sugar. During the night they burned 20,000 tons of cane, extending over six miles around the village of Alrededor.

GEN. WEXLEY'S NEWS BULLETIN.

He Reports That Things Are Going Badly for the Insurgents. Havana, April 20.—During the recent engagement between the Spanish troops under Gen. Torcy in this province, and the insurgents, the latter admit having lost 32 killed and 100 wounded. Reports received here from Lacer's band of insurgents show a very demoralized condition of things. It is said that Lacer is frequently intoxicated, and that of twenty Americans of a expedition from the United States who recently joined five have been killed and the rest are disgusted. They say they have been deceived; that there is no war; that there is no fight; that they are living in swamps without clothing, compelled to eat bad food; that the agreements entered into with them have not been carried out, and that they are without leaders to lead them to victory. Persistent rumors are circulated here that Antonio Maceo is desirous of surrendering, but the general is an observer places any belief in the reports. At Jaguay Grande, in the Remedios district of the province of Santa Clara, the insurgents have burned the telegraph line of the Remedios station, and also burned the railroad station at Guanabacoa. A dispatch from Matanzas says that the insurgent Antonio Maceo has been arrested and imprisoned on a political charge, but after being some time in confinement he was released by order of the captain general. The splendid machinery houses of the plantation of San Narciso, in this province, have been destroyed by fire, and the cane plantations of Loteria, Clermen and where it is divided by a canal, and 22,000 tons of cane. It is now positively asserted that Perico Delgado, the well-known insurgent leader, was recently killed in an engagement in the province of Pinar del Rio.

GEN. MACEO'S VICTORY.

How He Chased the Alfonso XIII. Battalion to the Sea.

Tampa, Fla., April 20.—Don Antonio Montes, commander of the Spanish garrison at the port of Matanzas, reports to the general of marines in Havana, states: "On the morning of the 10th I sailed into Cananua. I was told by the commander of the Alfonso XIII. battalion, under command of Col. Devos, had left the day before, in combination with other forces, to attack Maceo, but, finding them surrounded by 5,000 insurgents, had retreated to the shore. The general and thirteen soldiers, on board the schooner 'Condor,' lying at the wharf. Without delay, at full speed we started for that point, shortly before arriving there we saw a large group of insurgents on the surrounding hills, firing on the schooner at the wharf. Our arrival was timely, for our fire dispersed the fast gathering insurgent force. We were ordered to take twenty soldiers to Bramales to procure ammunition. On my way I fired upon the San Augustine estate, captured by the insurgents. When I returned with the ammunition the insurgents had retreated to the hills, and we again dispersed them with a few cannon shots. It was then decided that all impediments and 150 caymans in Northport, is in town for a few days. He says that the duties on ore imports collected at Northport during the year ending December 31, 1895, amounted to $100,000, and an increase of 45 per cent is expected this year, the duties collected during the month of January having amounted to $18,000, or one-third of the total of 1895. The Fairhaven school entertainment given in aid of the tree planting project netted $30.45. The mayor says that one public-spirited citizen has subscribed enough to purchase fifty fine trees to be set out this spring will come from a large nursery near Portland and will cost about 25 cents each laid down in Fairhaven. There seems to be no doubt now that the creamery project here is a go. The plan contemplates the establishment of a number of separator stations at convenient points in the country, to which the farmers will take their cream, getting the milk back to feed their pigs and poultry after the cream is separated from it. The O. R. & N. Reorganization. Portland, April 20.—Judge Bellingham, in the United States circuit court today, granted the petition of Receiver McNeill of the Oregon Railway & Navigation Company, to effect a settlement with the five receivers of the Union Pacific for the line laid down in the report of the committee on reorganization filed Saturday. The order authorized McNeill, as receiver, to settle all accounts and differences between him and the five Union Pacific receivers on the basis of his receiving from the five receivers the balance of the bonds of the Northern Pacific Terminal Company, amounting to $5,500, and the equitable title to $300 in shares of the capital stock of said company. McNeill to pay the liabilities now outstanding, amounting to $121,567. The Canadian Bering Sea Commission. Ottawa, April 20.—The bill for the purpose of the appointment of the commission which is to sit at Victoria and take evidence upon the Bering sea claims, was passed with very little debate.

SPAIN TO REFORM CUBA.

A Good Result of the Mediation of President Cleveland.

Washington city, April 20.—The Spanish government will within a few weeks put into execution a comprehensive system of home rule or autonomy for Cuba. There is good reason to believe that the state department has received from Madrid information to this effect. This law which will be put into effect was signed by the queen regent on March 15, 1896, and is the result of the following negotiations. The queen regent makes her address to the Spanish cortes, which she opened on one month, the law that will be promulgated in Spain and the long expected home rule be realized. The element of home rule is secured by the largely if not entirely from the residents of Cuba. One of these is to be known as the provincial chamber of deputies, the other as the council of administration. The latter has appellate jurisdiction over the former. Large powers are granted to the council of administration in the internal management of public affairs, but the general government will continue as the supreme representative of Spain and have direct charge of military, naval and international questions. Madrid, April 20.—The Government of Spain has completed, and a few days later, its preparations for putting into effect the contemplated reforms in the colonies. Colonial Minister Castellanos asserts that the bill in the lines traced by his predecessor and the queen regent, 1895, but no definite date is yet fixed for carrying out the reforms. The government has announced that after a final consultation with Gen. Weyler. The colonial minister

London, April 20.—The South African situation still absorbs a large share of public attention, and apprehensions for the safety of subjects of England in Malatoland and Bulawayo are not yet abated. There is an apparent sense of relief over the news that a supply train from Mafeking has got through to Bulawayo and that reinforcements of imperial troops from Mafeking are being rapidly pushed forward for the relief of the place, which is to all purposes beleaguered, so closely invested by the natives that numerous skirmishes are occurring almost in the outskirts of the town. Friends of the people in Bulawayo—and this includes, so far as sentiment is concerned, all England—are relieved to hear that no extensive offensive movement is planned at present against the natives. There have been grave fears that the whites would be rash and invite disaster. The reply of President Kruger to the invitation of Colonial Secretary Chamberlain to visit England and discuss with him what reforms can be applied to the grievances of the Uitlanders in the Transvaal is the newest factor in the South African problem. The reply is not accorded a very kindly reception by the English public. In its editorial commenting upon President Kruger's reply to Colonial Secretary Chamberlain, the Times says: "If President Kruger and his supporters willfully close their eyes to obvious facts and obdurately refuse to redress the grievances of the Uitlanders, circumstances may occur that will force us to rely upon the primary right of all communities to save themselves from imminent peril." The Times tomorrow will publish a dispatch from Pretoria, which says: "President Kruger's reply to Mr. Chamberlain is friendly and conciliatory, but it fails to advance the negotiations. A dispatch from Mafeking to the Times, dated Saturday, says: 'There has been a meeting here of representatives of Cape Colony, Natal, the Transvaal, the Orange Free State and the Chartered South African Company, by whom the scheme of Bechuanaland was decided to be infected with the rinderpest. It was resolved that there was necessity for combined action. A large force of Boers, estimated at 1,500, in masses twenty-five miles from Mafeking, which is on the borders of the Transvaal, with a machine gun. Their purpose ostensibly is to prevent the spread of the rinderpest, but they are really there because another raid is feared, owing to the massing of the British troops here to be forwarded to Bulawayo. Dr. Jameson's raid started into the Transvaal from Mafeking.' Dr. Duncan has telegraphed to Earl Grey from Bulawayo that the chief fear there is of treachery of the natives inside the town. He adds that, owing to the employment of dynamite and barbed wire and the addition of new forts, the laager is now considered impregnable. To Amend the Carey Land Act. Washington city, April 20.—The committee on irrigation of arid lands today authorized a favorable report on a bill amendatory of the Carey act. The amendments provide that where the greater part of legal sub-division is desert in character the whole shall be so considered. In order to be entitled to desert lands, the states and territories must cause to be irrigated and occupied not less than twenty acres in each 160. Sub-contracts must be cultivated by actual settlers within ten years of the date of contract. Pacific Coast Steamship Company's steamer Walla Walla, leaving San Francisco on April 21 will carry general merchandise to Seattle at $1 per ton. Capt. P. Slattery, a well-known business man, has been drowned in a fishing excursion with friends.
