

GREAT SQUEEZER.

Tom Sharkey's Strong Arms His Main Standby.

HE IS NOT A SCIENTIFIC BOXER.

South Seattle Lose at Baseball in Tacoma—A Wordy Game at Madison Street Park.

There is not one man in ten who believes that Tom Sharkey, who is being advertised about the country as the coming champion, will have a 1 to 5 chance with Corbett when they meet. He is looked upon as a good, but not a great, fighter with phenomenal ability to withstand punishment.

Of course he was. He had boxed four fat rounds at long range with his sparring partner making his money as good but last two rounds in his big match squeezing the wind out of Corbett, which does not take so much exertion, especially to a man who has boxed four fat rounds for four months.

Sharkey is starting out on the same line as many others who have preceded him—namely, to make his money as good but to win the fight.

There is the greatest anxiety all over the country to see Sharkey, and his prospects for making his money as good but to win the fight.

lot. Small relief him. The fielding and base running of the South Seattle was a poor order, while at bat they were unlucky. Several times, with the bases filled, they would drive the ball at a Tacoma baseman, each time either a double or triple play resulting. Tacoma, on the other hand, fielded better and ran the bases like a lot of veterans. A third game will be played between these teams in the near future. Following is the score of the game:

A WINDY BALL GAME.

Noisy Rooters and Opals at Madison Street—The Opals Defeated.

A game of baseball in which the rooters had more to say than the players, who in turn had more to say than the umpire, was witnessed at Madison street yesterday afternoon between the Newcastle and Opals, resulting in a victory for the former by a score of 14 to 11. It was the noisiest game the small crowd yet seen on the Madison street grounds, but withal was full of good plays, some being on the star order. There were also large bunches of stragglers, but these were caused by the enthusiastic nature of "sivvers" to vie with each other in seeing who could make the wildest shots. Bob Norris, probably the best umpire in the city, more than held his own in the face of unruly players, and calling down a couple of loud-mouthed rooters. Once he ordered the catcher for the Newcastle, who goes by the euphonious name of "Sivvers" to the bench for talking back, and when he refused to go Bob called time, secured a watch and gave him five minutes to make the change at the risk of losing the game.

To be more effective Bob made a pretty little speech to the grand stand, in which he warned about twenty such fellows, as follows: "If I am to umpire this game I intend to be obeyed. These people here called their 15 cents or quarter to see a game, and I am going to see that they get their money's worth." Of course this little talk called for cheers from the "multitude" but Bob meant what he said, and before the five minutes was up McIntyre was brought in from second to catch, "Sivvers" going to first, and "the game played on."

King pitched good ball for the visitors, and had been given support by the crowd, cutting off a run, was the pitcher of the game. Marion at third for the Newcastle put up a fine fielding game, and batted and ran bases like an old-timer.

National League Games.

Cincinnati, July 19.—Baltimore made it two out of three today. On one error in the seventh, together with good hits, the visitors secured nine runs. Attendance largest ever known, 24,800.

Score:—R. B. H. E. Cincinnati 4 3 4 Baltimore 2 3 2

Batteries: Eversman, Fisher and Pletz; Hofer and Clark.

St. Louis, July 19.—The Browns won today's game by good all around work. The Brooklyn could not hit Hart, while Daub only lasted four innings, and was replaced by Harper, who did much better. Attendance 6,000.

Score:—R. B. H. E. St. Louis 4 3 4 Brooklyn 2 3 2

Batteries: Hart and McFarland; Daub, Harper and Grant.

Leavenworth, July 19.—Louisville and Cleveland played off two postponed games today, the latter winning both. In the first game, Cuddy besides pitching good ball, batted in three of his team's runs, while Fraser helped defeat the team behind him by giving two bases on balls at a critical moment. The team was in the second game until the seventh inning, when the Colonels went up in the air and gave the Spiders the game. Attendance 1,300.

First game score—R. B. H. E. Cleveland 4 11 2 Louisville 3 6 4 Batteries: Cuddy and O'Meara; Fraser and Dexter.

Second game score—R. B. H. E. Cleveland 7 19 0 Louisville 5 10 2 Batteries: Young and Zimmer; Hill and Dexter.

Chicago, July 19.—The Senators and Colts played two games today on a very muddy field, the home team winning both and making it three straight. Costly errors by the visitors lost the first game. Only four singles were made off Friend in the second, three of which were stretches. Attendance, first game 5,000, second game 7,000.

First game score—R. B. H. E. Chicago 4 10 4 St. Paul 3 10 4 Batteries: Griffith and Kittredge; McKinstry and McGuire.

Second game score—R. B. H. E. Chicago 5 11 5 Washington City 2 4 1 Batteries: Friend and Donohue; Mercer, German and McGuire.

CYCLING FOR WOMEN.

Freshly Indorsed by High Medical Authority.

In an article in the Nineteenth Century entitled "A Medical View of Cycling for Ladies," the author, Dr. W. H. Fenton, endorses the exercise, asserting that it has done more to improve the health of women than almost anything that has ever been invented.

"Let it at once be said, an organically sound woman can cycle with as much impunity as a man. Thank heaven, we know now that this is not one more of the sexual problems of the day. Sex has nothing to do with it beyond the adaptation of machine to dress and dress to machine. Women are capable of great physical improvement where the opportunity exists. Dress given more flowing handicaps them. How fatiguing and dangerous were heavy petticoats and heavily skirts in cycling even a few years ago the plucky pioneers alone can tell us.

Inappropriate dress has a certain number of evils to account for. When fair practice has been made, and the 'hot stage,' so to speak, is over, the feet, ankles, neck and arms get very cold when working up against wind, chafers or spats, high collars, and close-fitting sleeves meet this difficulty. Summer or winter, it is far safer to wear warm, absorbent underclothes than to have the 'diseases of women take a front place in our social life; but, if looked into 90 per cent. of them are functional ailments, begotten of great lack of opportunity of some means of working out their superfluous muscular, nervous and organic energy. The effect of cycling is to improve the physical capacity of a woman, and she is a charm for gait, rheumatism and indigestion. Sleeplessness, so-called 'nerves,' and all those petty miseries for which the liver is often made the scape-goat, disappear in the most extraordinary way with the fresh air inhaled, and with the tissue destruction and reconstruction effected by exercise and exhilaration.

"The large abdominal muscles do little in riding down hill or on level ground, but in hill climbing great strain is thrown upon them. There are many reasons why women should be encouraged to cycle. Already thousands of women, qualifying for general invalidism have been rescued by cycling. Women are very subject to varicose veins in the legs. Cycling often rids them of this trouble. A girl who has to stand for hours and hours serving behind a counter gets relief untold from a evening spin on her 'bike.' Her circulation has been improved, and the aches and pains which would have shortly made an old woman of her have gone, and a sense of exhilaration and relief has taken their place."

Bicycles Almost Everywhere at Night.

One who knew only the Boulevard might imagine that at night all the bicyclists of the city were there, but in reality bicyclists may be found at night wherever there are asphalt pavements; in some places there are, in single places, besides the great numbers of ordinary asphalt-paved blocks, in dwelling-house streets, circling round and round. People sit on the steps as they did before, but the bicyclists, with their occasional laughter, the sound of their bells, heard now and then, and the glimmering of the lights as they sail to and fro, add a strikingly novel and picturesque feature to an otherwise familiar scene. There are places more public, neighborhood courses or centers, in which many bicyclists may be found at night; and, in fact, there is scarcely any part of the city in which at some time on a pleasant night the light of a bicycle may not be seen.

Daughdrill Sentenced to Be Hanged.

Sentence of death has been passed on Colin Daughdrill, who, it will be remembered, shot himself in the chest in the city in October, 1885, and was taken under extradition papers to Gadsden, Ala., for trial. The crime for which Daughdrill gave himself up was that of killing a railroad man in the yards at Gadsden, but the facts were in his favor, the principal witnesses having died and there being a well-established ground of self-defense. Accordingly he was released on bail, and there was a good prospect of the case against him being dropped. But Daughdrill shot his victim dead, and one evening while intoxicated ran up against Joseph I. Bates, a commercial traveler, in a saloon, snatched a book from his hand and asked the bartender if he was good for a drink. Daughdrill repeated the act, and Bates told him he did not want any trouble. Thereupon Daughdrill pulled a revolver and shot his victim dead. From information received by Attorney John C. Whitlock, who befriended Daughdrill while in this city, it appears that there was not a mitigating circumstance con-

FLAX GROWING FINELY.

Birch Street Tract "Furrows" Excellent Specimens of the Plant.

The half acre of flax growing on Birch street on the ground formerly occupied by the Chinese gardeners is in perfect condition. It is from government seed that was sown on the tract in the fall of 1895, some of which was shown at the Post-Intelligencer office a few days ago, in developing samples that compare favorably with those obtained from now on exhibition in the hall of the Chamber of Commerce. The half acre is an experiment by J. B. Powles, who is much interested in the culture of the valuable seed, and the present trial proves a success he will probably put up a retting and scutching mill. He has placed M. J. McGee, a man expert in the culture of flax, to see that the flax being grown and at the right point of development it will be pulled, done up in bundles eight inches in diameter and immersed in ditch water for a month, and he has laid them for a month and is full of decomposed matter from the surrounding ground. This is what is called the retting or rotting process. The water remains in the water from twelve to fifteen days and is then run through a chopping machine, which breaks the outer bark and prepares the stalk for combing or scutching.

Mr. Powles is very much encouraged at the success that has attended the growth of the flax thus far. He shows samples of it side by side with specimens of the same variety from the same ground being heretofore, which came from Ireland originally, but has been grown for seed so long that its value has been destroyed. The seed of the Minnesota specimens have stood, the branches drawing strength from the central stem.

The cost of preparing flax for the market is about 5 cents per pound, and the value when prepared is from $250 to $300 a ton, according to quality, what are known as the "high members" bringing the highest figures. The seed sometimes runs as high as 40 cents a pound. The seed must be obtained from Ireland and the flax being grown by Mr. Powles is imported from there, excepting for the purpose of the experiment by the government. When the flax matures a sample will be sent to Washington City. Mr. Powles believes flax will take the place of hops as a product of this state.

Washington Lumber and Shingles.

For the first half of 1896 the Canadian Pacific carried 52 cars of lumber and shingles as against 542 cars in the same period of 1895.

The total number of cars of shingles shipped in June via the Northern Pacific, the Northern and Canadian Pacific was 1,620. This is 131 cars more than in May.

The Northern Pacific carried 469 cars of lumber and 849 cars of shingles in June. In the corresponding months of last year the road carried 468 cars of lumber and 745 cars of shingles.

The lumber and shingle shipments via the Great Northern for the first half of 1896 were 644 cars of lumber and 2,312 cars of shingles, a total of 2,956 cars as against 2,320 cars in the same period of 1895.

A comparison of rail shipments shows 814,000 feet of lumber carried out of Washington during the first half year of 1896 as against 38,820,000 feet during the same period of 1895. Of shingles 1,113,120,000 in 1896, as against 1,030,384,000 in the corresponding months of last year. The road carried 468 cars of lumber and 745 cars of shingles, a total of 2,956 cars as against 2,320 cars in the same period of 1895.

Railroad and Industrial Notes.

Donoghue & Kellogg have rebuilt their dry kiln, which was burned in June, and started their mill up again.

The Winsor Mill Company has its dry kiln rebuilt, and is now putting up a building for storing lumber.

The West Coast Manufacturing and Investment Company, of Seattle, is still running overtime, keeping up with orders.

The West Coast and Puget Sound Lumberman for July is out, full as usual of reading matter and valuable statistics.

Ballard shipped in June eleven cars of lumber, twenty-six mixed cars of lumber and shingles, and a single mill, which has been leased by Long & Hesser, is being put in shape for starting up. Mr. Long & Hesser, of Lake, and his partner has been a resident of Ballard for some time.

The Hay Mill Company cut for the month of June 2,860 tons of hay. It has a double-block mill. A. D. Combs is the manager of the single mill. J. F. Judge, of O. J. Campbell, of Lake, is the miller, knee boiler. The pictures of McKinley and Hobart are pasted where they can look down at work.

The shipments of shingles in June of this year exceed all former records in the history of the mill, and shingle industry. In the state, and those who predicted last January that 1896 would be a poor year for the mills, so far as orders and volume of business goes, were badly mistaken. If fair prices had ruled this would have been a profit year in both lumber and shingle lines on the Pacific coast.

The total foreign cargo shipments for the first six months of 1896 were 47,400 feet of lumber, and that of coastwise 108,674,202 feet, making the total for the half year 156,074,202 feet. The figures include all the cargo mills of Washington doing any considerable cargo business except the Winsor Mill Company, of Lake, and the Wilson Bros., at Aberdeen. The Simpson mill shipments are confined almost exclusively to supplying the coast mills in California. The Wilson Bros.' mill will increase the California shipments to 100,000,000 feet in all at the end of the year, a part of this stock being handled by them in California yards.

The Biker's Ten Commandments.

Some facetious wheelman has penned ten commandments to be memorized by the vast army of bikers. The commands are as follows:

1. Thou shalt have no other toys before me.

2. Thou shalt not ride through the streets with me dressed in any old, soiled and ragged clothes that may be shed out of a closet, but shall keep thyself neatly dressed and clean and look genteel and civilized rather than like a tramp.

3. Thou shalt not be at all of the road, but in riding, keep to the right and make all others do likewise.

4. Remember the Sabbath day to keep it holy. Six days shalt thou rest, and on all thy rest days, but on the seventh day, which is the Sabbath, go not forth on loud talking, sun-bathing or otherwise heterodoxly objectionable expedients, but rest at all at the Sabbath day, quietly, decently and with a decorous bearing.

5. Honor the city ordinances and the police, and hide not thy light under a bushel.

6. Thou shalt not scorch.

7. Thou shalt not "hump" over the handle bars and look like a monkey.

8. Thou shalt not stear addressed particularly to "bicycle editors".

9. Thou shalt not bear false witness against thy neighbor's performances or his records.

10. Thou shalt not covet thy neighbor's bicycle, nor his bicycle, nor his costume, nor his bloomers, nor his eyeglasses, nor his saddle, nor anything that is thy neighbor's.

On Taxing Bicycles. Blackwood's Magazine. Quite a little fortune, probably, is invested in England in the wheels of the family—six times as much as was the cost of the vicar's humble ponycar and the respectable animal that draws it. I would strike and spare not were I in Sir Michael Hicks-Beach's shoes. It is true he has a surplus, and is in a merciful mood. But when one thinks of the ships that we have not to build! A gunboat, at least a torpedo boat—those little assassins of the deep—might come out of the new luxury of the road, and justice be done to the humble ponies and chaises. We are all rather cowardly nowadays in respect to anything that may be supposed to touch the poor man, officially so-called, or diminish his enjoyment, but that sentiment may surely be causing impure circulation of the blood, and has become so universally the fashion.

VARICOCELE.

The Most Weakening of All the Bad Effects Following Excesses and Indiscretions.

Pen cannot describe the torture inflicted upon the victim of Varicocele. This disease is a swollen condition of the veins, which become weak and flabby, get blue, and sets up a healthy circulation, in healthy perspiration and extreme weakness. It drains and drags the vital energy from the body. It destroys manhood, ruins the nervous system, and makes men unfit for society, business or pleasure.

Up you suffer from it? Watch yourself carefully. It creeps upon its victim quietly, like the serpent, and, if you do not strike it upon the appearance of the first symptoms, it may sap the foundation from your manly structure.

DR. SANDEN'S ELECTRIC BELT cures Varicocele. It gives life into the veins and nerves, removes the stagnant blood, and sets up a healthy circulation. It cures in three months.

"The swollen veins are gone, and my strength has all returned," says N. Damato, Penryn, Cal.

This disease destroys your nervous system. Drive it from your body by Dr. Sanden's Electric Belt.

"I am pleased to state that my Varicocele which was of 12 years' standing, has almost completely disappeared, after using Dr. Sanden's Belt for two months," writes W. E. Johns, 1127 Market Street, San Francisco.

All power of manhood is weakened by Varicocele. Protect yourself from its dangerous presence.

"Dr. Sanden's Belt cured me of Varicocele and Debility of many years' standing," says A. Kurts, Tuolumne, Or.

Send or call for Dr. Sanden's illustrated book, "Three Classes of Men," describing Varicocele and its cure. It is free.
