COHESION VS. COERCION

Major McKinley Makes Answer to Chairman Jones.

NOT CLASS AGAINST CLASS.

But a Fight in Which the Employes and the Employers are United—What Chairman Jones Calls Coercion Is Really Cohesion of the Two Classes to Promote Their Mutual Interests—Delegations From Many Distant States to Canton—The Speeches of the Republican Nominee for President.

Canton, O., Oct. 24.—"The like of this has never been seen on earth before," said Charles Emery Smith, ex-minister to Russia, as he stood in the Associated Press representative viewing the great line of marchers and counter-marchers parading on Broad and North Market streets...

In his speech to the Executive Committee, Maj. McKinley said the Democrats "can hardly expect us to have conformed to their present prescription, when the prescription is to go back to 1862, which they insisted was a cure for all our troubles, so we complete a failure."

When the Western railroad men left, iron and steel workers and employes of the tin plate mills of Cambridge, O., marched upon the scene, headed by a band of drummers and fifers...

One of the largest delegations of the day was composed of employes of the Pennsylvania Railroad Company, east of Cincinnati, who arrived in Canton on the morning of the 24th...

The tenth address to surround Maj. McKinley's home today came from Allen and Henry counties, principally from the towns of Lima and Spencerville. It was made up of farmers, business men and citizens of all vocations.

"My fellow-citizens: It was generous on your part to come and see me, inasmuch as I am not doing this year what I formerly did, going about to see you work for which our party stands this year. The differences between the contest now and former contests is, we can count on our hands, the number of those who are in the ranks of thousands of good old-fashioned Democrats who are with us in the light to maintain public order and the financial integrity of the United States (Applause)."

"We are glad to have them in association with us. Patriotism is never present; it is above that plane. One thing has never been said, and that will be said of the government of the United States, and that is that it is a government of regulation. We have always paid every dollar of our public obligations, whether contracted in peace or war, in the best and best form of money known to the civilized world. (Applause)."

"We never stopped to inquire what the letter of the contract might be. We only know that any agreement of the United States government must be paid in hundred-dollar bills at the time it comes due. We do not propose to compromise now, after a hundred and twenty years of glorious history, of glorious life and glorious achievements, to repudiate our obligations, public or private. We want to see absolute integrity on the part of the government and the people."

THE NEXT GOVERNOR OF WASHINGTON.

POTTER CHARLES SULLIVAN.

SEVEN MILES LONG.

A PARADE OF VESSELS IN NEW YORK HARBOR.

All Beautifully Decorated and Illuminated, to Demonstrate the Popularity of the Sound Money Principle Among Those Engaged in Shipping and Kindred Industries.

New York, Oct. 24.—Probably the most gorgeous marine spectacle, as well as the most imposing political demonstration since the days of the Civil War, was the parade of vessels in New York harbor tonight under the auspices of the Shipping and Industrial Sound Money Association...

On board the vessels were many political bodies and organizations. The propeller Aurora was the reviewing boat. Soon after 5 o'clock the Aurora, with Gen. E. C. O'Brien and the reception committee on board, left for Jersey City, where she took on board Vice Presidential Candidate Hobart and his party.

Speaker Reed Shows His Beneficent Influence, and Asks What the Substance Would Effect.

Wichita, Kan., Oct. 24.—Hon. Thomas B. Reed, of Maine, arrived here today and was greeted by probably the largest assemblage of people ever assembled in Kansas. Nearly 1,000 non-residents came in on excursion trains. Reed made two speeches in the interest of Congressman C. I. Long, of this district, Delegate Flynn, of Oklahoma, and the entire Republican cause. One speech was in an immense circus tent to about 7,000 men, and the other speech was at the Auditorium to 3,500 women.

San Francisco, Oct. 24.—Hon. John W. Foster of Indiana, who negotiated the treaty between China and Japan at the close of the recent war, arrived here last night, accompanied by Mrs. Foster from Washington City, and is at the Palace Hotel. Train on which he came was two hours late.

LIKE A WHITE CROW.

How Senator Walcott Describes the Fusion Ticket.

Denver, Col., Oct. 24.—Senator Walcott tonight delivered the principal speech of the McKinley campaign in Colorado to a magnificent audience at the Coliseum. The crowd began to gather two hours before the time the speaking was announced to begin. After the doors were opened 4,000 people quickly packed the hall, while 2,000 unable to gain admittance remained in the streets in front, many of them shouting for Bryan, as an echo to the

HAND MEANS FIGHT.

By His Recent Levy of Taxes to Pay for Arms.

WILL BE HIS DEATH STRUGGLE.

Little Doubt but That All the European Powers, With One Exception, Favor the Deposition of Sultan Hamid—Other Massacres of Christians Daily Expected—An English Description of Chicago That Is Not at All Flattering.

Copyright, 1896, by the Associated Press. London, Oct. 24.—The receipt of dispatches from Constantinople announcing the imposition of poll taxes of five piastres per head, and the levying of other taxes in order to arm the Mussulmans, have caused the situation there to assume a very grave aspect, and have increased the anxiety felt here in regard to the outcome of the Eastern imbroglio.

The speaker, in discussing the matter, says: "The new war tax is a sign that the sultan means to fight, possibly after carrying out the fresh massacres of Christians which are daily expected. The Sick Man, we trust, is nearing his death struggle. There is little doubt in the public mind that an arrangement for joint European action exists, and at present it is only resisted by one power—the sultan."

The speaker's well informed Constantinople correspondent, however, doubts the existence of such an arrangement. A later dispatch from Constantinople says that extra precautions were taken yesterday against a fresh Armenian outbreak, but no outbreak had occurred at the time the message was filed.

Sir Henry Elliott, who was British ambassador to Turkey from 1867 to 1877, and whose life has been spent in the diplomatic service of Great Britain, in an interesting letter just published says: "The present state of Turkey greatly resembles what it was immediately before the deposition of Abdul Aziz, when there existed, as now, widespread discontent, arising from the baneful influence of the palace."

Indications generally point to the Egyptian question as being the hinge of the situation, and there is a renewal of its discussion in the British and foreign press. It is announced that all the sovereigns and chiefs of state have been invited to visit London and attend the fetes which are being organized for the celebration of the sixtieth anniversary of the opening of the queen's reign, and it is stated that Emperor William and the czar have already accepted invitations.

The money market, the wheat market and the campaign in the United States continue to interest the business community, and from the utterances of the inspired press it would seem that there is more truth than the German press will admit in the stories told of an approaching meeting between Great Britain, Russia and France.

The United States ambassador, Thomas F. Bayard, who has been visiting the Earl of Leven, at Glenferness, is said to be much pleased at the fact that he has shot a royal stag, which is considered a great advance over his performance while grouse shooting in 1896, when it is alleged, he accidentally shot a man who was beating the High Life.

The last work which the late Archbishop of Canterbury was engaged upon was the preparation of an answer to the bull of Pope Leo XIII., on the Anglican orders, in which Dr. Benson said: "The positiveness of the assertion may still have effect with some, who mistake the kindness of a personage for the thawing of the frozen burden policy to which he is committed."

The late primate denied the pope's contention, and asserted that Rome has not an accurate knowledge of the details concerning the Anglican orders, and declared that the bull "moves all English churchmen not to be decided by a pronouncement of authority and by assertions, but to draw courage in faith, in firmness and forbearance."

The showing made by the Kennel Club show, Crystal Palace this week, was the largest on record. There were 237 entries on quality of the highest order. A novelty in the exhibits was Pekin spaniels, which were on sale from $25 to $75. In the collie classes the celebrated dog Souper, valued at $2,000, won all the leading prizes. George E. Sims won the championship in the bulldog class, with his dog Barney Barrow.

The strange case of Mr. and Mrs. Walter N. Castle, of San Francisco, still causes much comment, and the action of Magistrate Newton in fixing their bail at $10,000 is accepted as the court's belief in their guilt. Whether this is so or not, it is a remarkable fact that an English woman of high position, charged with a similar offense, was immediately bailed in only $1,000. She is Mrs. M. A. Scott, lady of the Manor of Sloop, near Shrewsbury, and charged on Wednesday last with stealing five plates and a diamond brooch.

At the twenty-first annual exhibition of the British Dairy Farmers' Association at Islington during the past week, there were over 7,000 entries. A special effort was made by the Earl of Powis to induce the British dairymen to imitate continental methods. Three model dairies, Swiss, Italian and French, were shown in operation beside a British dairy. There were 105 butter-making contests and the largest show of cheese ever made here.

COVINGTON INDIGNANT. The Disturbers of the Carlisle Meeting to Be Punished. Covington, Ky., Oct. 24.—A call for an indignation meeting to be held on next Monday night at Odd Fellows' hall was issued today. The call was issued by the Commercial News and the Western Standard. The purpose of the meeting is to give vent to indignation at the conduct of the toughs who seriously disturbed the Secretary Carlisle's meeting last Thursday night. In the meantime the Commercial Club, aided by contributions outside of the membership, have employed detectives to whom they will pay liberal rewards for ferreting out the perpetrators of the outrage and the supposed conspirators who employed the roughs. Sensational arrests are expected.
