

SERGT. W. M. WILSON.

A BRAVE INDIAN FIGHTER WHO DIED RECENTLY AT PRESIDIO.

One of His Exciting Scouting Campaigns in Arizona, When He Captured an Entire Indian Camp and Was Given a Medal for His Services.

By the death of Sergt. William Wilson, which occurred recently at the Presidio barracks of San Francisco, the United States lost one of its bravest and most fearless soldiers, and the service a prominent and popular character.

Wilson decided to take up the march again as soon as the horses had been sufficiently rested, and so an hour later they were at the opening of Apache pass, where the tents were spread and camp made for the night.

Wilson's career as a soldier began shortly after the suppression of the rebellion, when he became a private of Troop B, Fourth cavalry, in which he remained up to the time of his death.

Wilson's career as a soldier began shortly after the suppression of the rebellion, when he became a private of Troop B, Fourth cavalry, in which he remained up to the time of his death.

Wilson's career as a soldier began shortly after the suppression of the rebellion, when he became a private of Troop B, Fourth cavalry, in which he remained up to the time of his death.

Wilson's career as a soldier began shortly after the suppression of the rebellion, when he became a private of Troop B, Fourth cavalry, in which he remained up to the time of his death.

Wilson's career as a soldier began shortly after the suppression of the rebellion, when he became a private of Troop B, Fourth cavalry, in which he remained up to the time of his death.

Wilson's career as a soldier began shortly after the suppression of the rebellion, when he became a private of Troop B, Fourth cavalry, in which he remained up to the time of his death.

Wilson's career as a soldier began shortly after the suppression of the rebellion, when he became a private of Troop B, Fourth cavalry, in which he remained up to the time of his death.

Wilson's career as a soldier began shortly after the suppression of the rebellion, when he became a private of Troop B, Fourth cavalry, in which he remained up to the time of his death.

Wilson's career as a soldier began shortly after the suppression of the rebellion, when he became a private of Troop B, Fourth cavalry, in which he remained up to the time of his death.

Wilson's career as a soldier began shortly after the suppression of the rebellion, when he became a private of Troop B, Fourth cavalry, in which he remained up to the time of his death.

Wilson decided to take up the march again as soon as the horses had been sufficiently rested, and so an hour later they were at the opening of Apache pass, where the tents were spread and camp made for the night.

Wilson's career as a soldier began shortly after the suppression of the rebellion, when he became a private of Troop B, Fourth cavalry, in which he remained up to the time of his death.

Wilson's career as a soldier began shortly after the suppression of the rebellion, when he became a private of Troop B, Fourth cavalry, in which he remained up to the time of his death.

Wilson's career as a soldier began shortly after the suppression of the rebellion, when he became a private of Troop B, Fourth cavalry, in which he remained up to the time of his death.

Wilson's career as a soldier began shortly after the suppression of the rebellion, when he became a private of Troop B, Fourth cavalry, in which he remained up to the time of his death.

Wilson's career as a soldier began shortly after the suppression of the rebellion, when he became a private of Troop B, Fourth cavalry, in which he remained up to the time of his death.

Wilson's career as a soldier began shortly after the suppression of the rebellion, when he became a private of Troop B, Fourth cavalry, in which he remained up to the time of his death.

Wilson's career as a soldier began shortly after the suppression of the rebellion, when he became a private of Troop B, Fourth cavalry, in which he remained up to the time of his death.

Wilson's career as a soldier began shortly after the suppression of the rebellion, when he became a private of Troop B, Fourth cavalry, in which he remained up to the time of his death.

Wilson's career as a soldier began shortly after the suppression of the rebellion, when he became a private of Troop B, Fourth cavalry, in which he remained up to the time of his death.

Wilson's career as a soldier began shortly after the suppression of the rebellion, when he became a private of Troop B, Fourth cavalry, in which he remained up to the time of his death.

Wilson's career as a soldier began shortly after the suppression of the rebellion, when he became a private of Troop B, Fourth cavalry, in which he remained up to the time of his death.

Wilson's career as a soldier began shortly after the suppression of the rebellion, when he became a private of Troop B, Fourth cavalry, in which he remained up to the time of his death.

Wilson's career as a soldier began shortly after the suppression of the rebellion, when he became a private of Troop B, Fourth cavalry, in which he remained up to the time of his death.

Wilson's career as a soldier began shortly after the suppression of the rebellion, when he became a private of Troop B, Fourth cavalry, in which he remained up to the time of his death.

Wilson's career as a soldier began shortly after the suppression of the rebellion, when he became a private of Troop B, Fourth cavalry, in which he remained up to the time of his death.

Golden Rule Bazaar Co.

ONLY 20 DAYS MORE...

Twenty days more and we have to clear our Crockery Department, which means that goods have to be slaughtered at most any price. We have given up our Crockery Store. The room is for rent. We have tried to sell it out in bulk, but not succeeding are placing the whole stock before the public at prices never before heard of.

A FEW OF OUR PRICES:

- White Haviland and German China, 50 per cent. off, or half the price of yesterday.
Fancy French and German China, 50 per cent. off, or half the price of yesterday.
Lamps—Banquet, Parlor and Library—another reduction of 25 per cent.
We have fourteen Decorated English Dinner Sets, consisting of 113 pieces, including Soup Tureen, for $8.99, worth double the price.
White China 7 1/2-inch Dinner Plates, $1 per doz.
White China 5 1/2-inch Dinner Plates, 50c per doz.
Decorated China Sauce Plates, 30c doz.

- Decorated Semi-Porcelain Mush Plates, 25c doz.
Fancy Tea Sets, 17c. Yellow Mixing Bowls, 4c up.
Molasses Jugs, Plated Tops, engraved star, 23c.
White China Hanging Soup Dishes, 15c.
Wine Glasses, several styles, 4c. Large Glass Berry Bowls, 10c.
Water Filters, 50 per cent. off, or one-half the reduced price.
Hotel and Restaurant Goods, Vitrified China, 20 per cent. less than yesterday.
Large size, or No. 2, Lamp Chimneys, 6 for 25c.
Medium size, or No. 1, Lamp Chimneys, 6 for 20c.
Tubular Lantern Globes, 5c each.

Pictures Framed at One-half Regular Prices. Fixtures in Crockery Department for Sale at Cost of Lumber.

Golden Rule Bazaar Co.

904 TO 908 FIRST AVENUE.

claimed the general. "Here you have gone to work and, by willfully ignoring orders to even pierce the clothing, and when we might have caught the entire outfit, Red Eagle and all."

LAW OF WASHINGTON.

The Most Extensive Work Ever Published in the State.

The question of the existing state of the laws of Washington is a serious one. By the provisions of the state constitution all territorial laws are continued in force in this territory until they are repealed.

The work appears in five large volumes of 1,000 pages each, indexed separately, and a sixth volume containing two general indexes. Three volumes are out. Two more are about ready. The general indexes will be issued until after the coming session of the legislature.

Jacket and Cape Bargains.

A lot of regular $5 and $10 jackets and push capes will be placed on sale tomorrow (Monday) at $4.98 each. Positively the greatest bargains of the year.

Large variety, choice patterns, special values—our $1.50 suits. Gas Brown Co.

'TIS A FREAK LAND.

A P-I CORRESPONDENT'S RACY DESCRIPTION OF CALIFORNIA.

A Tramp Who Struck Los Angeles, Worked on the Streets, Now Worth Thousands and a Power in Politics—The Great Pooh-Bah of the New Mining Town of Randburg—A Five-cent Restaurant Where Merchants Eat—The Winter Rush of Tourists—Incidents at an Eating Station—A "Size-up" of the Cities.

Special Correspondence. LOS ANGELES, Dec. 31.—We will soon talk about "last year" and date our letters 1897, and in three short years we will be a new century, and airships will be as plentiful as huckleberries of a Vermont hillside.

What do you think of a country that sends a schoolmaster to the Farallons, thirty miles from land, to instruct children of lighthouse keepers, and which has a ward of part of a ward, of San Francisco? How about a land where a tramp comes along one balmy day in spring, works on the streets for a dollar a day, saves $20, opens a street stand, and three years later owns $10,000 worth of property and is a big gun in politics?

DEATH. If you blow a light out your relatives will have a chance to have fun over your will. Don't monkey with it, unless you know how to do it. Ask for a talow candle. WESTERN HOTEL.

Northwest Pension. WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Special.—The pension claim of Patrick Downs, of Seattle, who served in Company E, Sixth regiment, Iowa cavalry, during the war through the efforts of Representative DeLoitte, $6 per month, dating from June 1861, and carrying with it an accrued pension of $187.81, Oregon pension has been granted to Michael Kelley, of Gring, and to Rodman Drake, of Spangle, Spokane county. An increased pension has been granted to David E. Samu, of Kent, King county. The pension of Robert A. McNair, of Olympia, which was cut off some time ago, has been resumed, and at an increased rate. An increased pension has also been granted to Stephen Glover, of Montpelier, near Lake county, Idaho.

Washington Patents. WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Special.—Patents have been granted to William A. O'Bar, of Everett, Wash., for a whistle; to Matthew Ring, assignor of a one-piece car fender; to Joseph W. Timmons, of Clallam, for a hair pin, and to Lemuel C. Neal, of Lewiston, Idaho, for a bicycle tire.

remined me of the nimble covorting of a red-headed demoiselle at a "Light-That-Faded" Cairo dance of death.

I went one to pay a visit to the "lifer colony" of this section, located at the county hospital. A high fence separates these unfortunates from not only the inmates of the hospital, but all the world. There are three—one a German, another a Spaniard and the third a Chinaman. They were all inmates of a small hut, divided into three rooms, and only one person is allowed to come inside the stockade.

There are a few tourists who go to San Luis Obispo. It's a pretty place. Stockton reminds me of an overgrown Illinois town. Very little beauty; and I can imagine Bill Nye's application: "Stockton, sir, is a place that never had a boom, sir. It's always enjoyed a steady growth." In Fresno raisins. They had a citrus fair recently and it was creditable, and I am glad they had it. I would not want to dwell always in Fresno. I have not been to San Diego, but I like Los Angeles. It has only one bad feature. They have no outdoor amusements. They have bad streets for cycling, and do not seem to grasp the importance of catering to this class of visitors. There are cards on every house, "Furnished rooms," and yet there are thousands of tourists here. The buildings are fine, the residences beautiful and the climate good. L. W. BUCKLEY.

Northwest Pension. WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Special.—The pension claim of Patrick Downs, of Seattle, who served in Company E, Sixth regiment, Iowa cavalry, during the war through the efforts of Representative DeLoitte, $6 per month, dating from June 1861, and carrying with it an accrued pension of $187.81, Oregon pension has been granted to Michael Kelley, of Gring, and to Rodman Drake, of Spangle, Spokane county. An increased pension has been granted to David E. Samu, of Kent, King county. The pension of Robert A. McNair, of Olympia, which was cut off some time ago, has been resumed, and at an increased rate. An increased pension has also been granted to Stephen Glover, of Montpelier, near Lake county, Idaho.

Washington Patents. WASHINGTON, Jan. 9.—Special.—Patents have been granted to William A. O'Bar, of Everett, Wash., for a whistle; to Matthew Ring, assignor of a one-piece car fender; to Joseph W. Timmons, of Clallam, for a hair pin, and to Lemuel C. Neal, of Lewiston, Idaho, for a bicycle tire.

717—To San Francisco—817 From Seattle, including berth in tourist sleeper; $1, first-class, including berth in Pullman sleeper, for train leaving 12:30 noon, January 12. Rates to points East through California via Sunset route same as Northern lines. Southern Pacific Ticket Office, 616 First avenue.

Fischer Pianos.

Over 100,000 manufactured and sold. Great durability. Splendid tone.

Moderate Prices. Sold on easy payments. New styles.

Winter & Harper BURKE BUILDING.

Do You SCRATCH?

NERVOUS DEBILITY and all its attendant ailments, both of Young Men, Aged and Old Men; Indigestion, Excess of Maturity, Weakness, Loss of Energy, etc. The Derma Remedy Co., Detroit, Mich.

NERVOUS DEBILITY and all its attendant ailments, both of Young Men, Aged and Old Men; Indigestion, Excess of Maturity, Weakness, Loss of Energy, etc. The Derma Remedy Co., Detroit, Mich.