THE TARIFF BILL.

Democrats Will Not Report Direct to Senate.

MUST DISCUSS IN COMMITTEE.

Senator Jones, of Nevada, holds the balance of power, and his position becomes interesting—He has told Republicans that he favors certain protective duties, and is guarding the products of the far west—Senator White on the situation—House and Senate hold perfunctory sessions, members being absent at the Grant monument exercises.

WASHINGTON, April 26.—The Democratic members of the finance committee will not accept the proposition made by their Republican colleagues to allow the tariff bill to be reported direct to the senate without passing through the hands of the full committee, and have notified the Republican members, Senator White, a member of the finance committee, was asked his views regarding the matter, and is believed to have voiced the views of all the Democratic members in his reply. He said:

"I would be glad to gratify the personal inclinations of any senator, but speaking for myself only, I am unable to perceive the propriety of such a course, and am not acquiescent in it. When the bill is reported to the senate the Democratic members ought to be able to immediately lay before their colleagues a comparatively full statement of the infirmities of the proposed measure. This cannot be done unless the subject is properly discussed in committee, and if examined there with care much labor will be saved when the proposition is submitted to the senate. If the Democratic members are to be of any use on the committee, it must be because they would be able to give this information."

"Besides, a fair presentation of the views of the minority may lead to immediate changes in improvement of the bill. If we consent to the adoption of the plan outlined by the Republican members, it will be said that we have given away our case and are presenting but half-hearted opposition. Such a scheme would not require explanation and cannot result favorably to public interest. If our Republican brethren have improved the bill so as to make it more digestible, they can afford to submit it to careful and conservative criticism in the committee room."

The country, of course, understands that the Republican white of the finance committee have had the bill since it passed the house, and the minority have not been in a position to intelligently examine a single schedule, and the situation will not be altered until the details of the measure are disclosed. I do not complain of the delay. The subject is of grave importance, and the gentlemen who have been preparing amendments have worked assiduously and are no doubt troubled because of the extraordinary burden imposed upon them by the house. Thus far there has been no real debate on the bill. I know that quite a time will be necessarily consumed in legitimate discussion."

"I have been frequently asked whether the retroactive clause will be eliminated. I can only say that I thoroughly agree with the criticisms made upon this peculiar provision by Senator Vest, and do not think that it can be retained, nor do I believe that it was ever intended to pass a bill containing such a restriction. Its insertion by the house was designed to scare importers, and the gentleman who propose that any Democratic member of the finance committee favors the direct report of the measure to the senate. We have had no formal debate on the subject yet."

The Democrats have not yet decided how much time they may want for the consideration of the bill in committee, and will not be able to submit their views on the amended bill and ascertain the position that Senator Jones of Nevada will assume toward the measure. He will hold the balance of power in the committee, and if he throws his influence with the Democrats they can hold the bill in committee for an indefinite length of time. He has told the Republican members of the committee that he still holds views favorable to protection, and has given them to understand that he will support the bill if it conforms to his ideas. He has asked in a general way for immediate action on the products of the far west. If these concessions are made, it is not believed that he would assist in holding the bill in committee for any length of time, even if the Democrats should so desire."

IN THE SENATE. Prayer for Patriotism Inspired by Memory of Grant. WASHINGTON, April 26.—The senate chamber had a deserted appearance when the session opened today, many of the senators having gone to New York to attend the Grant ceremonies. Harris of Tennessee was at his desk for the first time in many weeks and was congratulated on his recovery from a serious illness. In the absence of the vice president, the president pro tem, Mr. Frye, Mr. Nelson occupied the chair. Mr. Miburn's opening prayer was an eloquent reference to the gathering of thousands to pay tribute to the late chief, Grant, and invoked that the glow of patriotism freshly kindled may strengthen our nation, our government and the Union of the States. When the Indian bill was reported from the house an effort was made to send it to conference, but Gorman objected, saying that it had been understood that no business whatever was to be transacted. Thereupon at 12:35 p. m. on motion of Morrill, the senate adjourned to Thursday.

PARLIAMENT IN SESSION.

Balfour Replies to Questions About Greece and Turkey.

LONDON, April 26.—The house of commons reassembled today after the Easter recess. The Liberal leader, Sir William Vernon Harcourt, asked the government leader, Mr. Balfour, whether the government would make a statement in relation to the Greece-Turkey war and the policy of the government's relations thereto, and whether a British force was still engaged in the blockade of the island of Crete.

Mr. Balfour replied that her majesty's government, like the governments of the rest of the world, had adopted upon the attitude of neutrality. Of course, he added, the government was desirous so soon as a favorable opportunity should present itself to do what it could, offering its good offices as a mediator between Crete and Greece. Mr. Balfour said the powers having assumed the occupation of Crete before the war had determined that the island should be considered neutral and the blockade maintained in order to prevent opposition to their authority.

The parliamentary secretary for the foreign office, Mr. George Murray, replying to a question regarding the treatment of prisoners on either side in the war between Turkey and Greece, said the foreign office had received an account from the Greek army in Thessaly beyond the announcement that the Greek forces had been successfully concentrated at Pharsala, to which place they retreated in good order, saving all their arms, except the siege guns, which they had been forced to abandon. Gen. Smolenski's column, concerning which the greatest anxiety was felt, reached Pharsala safely, and the premier added that 40,000 Greek troops are now concentrated at Pharsala. M. Delyannis said there was much alarm regarding the safety of Volo, adding that the success of the Greek troops in Epirus, M. Delyannis pointed out, was a counterpoise to the reverse in Thessaly, and according to unofficial information, the Greeks expected to arrive at Janina on Saturday night. The premier was convinced that the rebels remain loyal to their families and had complete confidence in the king and the government, and assured the Times' correspondent there was no reason to believe that the rebels would desert.

M. Delyannis, the Times' correspondent adds, in spite of his age and severe anxiety, appeared to be in the best of health and spirits.

Interviews with the ministers of marine and war were also obtained by the Times' correspondent. The former stated that he had not received confirmation of the rumor that Desouches had been honorably discharged by the Greek fleet. After the destruction of Platamona and Katerina, the minister of marine added, the Eastern squadron had been ordered to find and engage the Turkish fleet and the present location of the squadron was not known. The minister of marine does not think it necessary for the Greek warships to return to protect Volo.

The minister of war, the Times' correspondent reports, said on Saturday that 30,000 Greek troops gathered at Pharsala, and in every effort was being made to reinforce them. Two thousand five hundred gendarmes and engineers were leaving Athens for Volo.

ATHENS, April 26.—The Proia in a special edition this evening announces that Gen. Smolenski has been appointed chief of staff of the army in Thessaly with power to choose the members of his staff. It is reported here that Trikalla has been evacuated, and that the Turks are constructing temporary forts at Larissa.

LONDON, April 26.—The Athens correspondent of the Times confirms the report of the appointment of Gen. Smolenski as chief of staff of the Greek army in Thessaly, and adds: Col. Staiikos and Limbritis and Maj. Constantinos have been recalled from Crete to serve on the staff of the crown prince.

The ministerial Palingenesia announced that all the officers of Constantine's staff have been recalled.

A telegram received today (Monday) states that the Turks are within an hour's march of Volo. The Greek troops have been withdrawn from the town and are taking the wounded from the hospitals. Among the arrivals from Volo is the ex-minister, Ralli, leader of the largest opposition group in the Boule. He has been at the scene of war, and was at Larissa last Friday evening. He has published his views in the Athens newspapers, and has already succeeded in concentrating upon himself the attention of the public. Some believe he is playing the role of a Greek Gambetta. In an interview today M. Ralli denounced Constantine's staff, which he holds responsible for all that has happened. He denies that there was any real battle at Metli, says the Greek troops were never defeated at that point, and attributed the sudden decision to abandon Tyrnovo and Larissa to the cowardice and incapacity of the Greek staff.

THINKS CAMPAIGN ENDED. LONDON, April 26.—The correspondent of the Times at Volo, in a dispatch dated Saturday, says the general impression there is that the campaign is ended, and that the center of interest has been transferred from the seat of war to the diplomatic chancelleries of Europe.

PRINCE CONSTANTINE'S PLANS. Hopes to Assemble Thirty Thousand Men at Pharsala.

NEW YORK, April 26.—A dispatch to the Journal from Athens says: Although Crown Prince Constantine hopes to assemble 30,000 men at Pharsala, it is certain that he will be unable to fight a battle in that vicinity. Instead, he will be forced to retreat to the Othrya mountains, about twenty miles near Athens.

Supreme Court Adjournment. WASHINGTON, April 26.—The chief justice of the United States supreme court today announced the final adjournment of the present term on May 24.

THE PRESIDENTIAL PARTY. WASHINGTON, April 26.—Just on schedule time the presidential train pulled out of the Sixth street station for the trip to New York to attend the ceremonies connected with the dedication of the Grant monument. The train was made up of seven coaches and it was noticeable that the president solved in advance any question of precedence that might arise by taking the last coach on the train. A special train bearing Vice President Hobart, Speaker Reed, the committee from congress, and their families left over the Baltimore & Ohio railway.

NEW YORK, April 26.—The president and his party arrived at the Pennsylvania depot in Jersey City at 11:05 o'clock p. m. There was a crowd of several hundred people waiting for him. Capt. Cox and forty police were stationed at the depot. There were carriages for the party, but they walked from the train to the Twenty-third street ferry where they boarded the ferry boat Pittsburg. At the depot were the members of the reception committee from New York. The second special train with Vice President Hobart and party arrived later, and they too immediately proceeded to the city.

MR. SCOBEE SURPRISED. His Application Only a Short Time Ago Filed.

SPOKANE, April 26.—John O'R. Scooby, of Olympia, who was today nominated by President McKinley for receiver at the Olympia land office, arrived at Spokane this morning from his home. He first learned of the nomination from a personal letter in an evening paper tonight. Since then he has been receiving congratulations from his many political friends here.

He said to a Post-Intelligencer reporter that he was much surprised at receiving the nomination at this time, as his application had been before the president but a short time, and the term of E. M. Hawkins, the present incumbent, will not expire until next spring. His was the only application for the position on file.

This was also the case regarding the appointment of Deckebach for register. Mr. Scooby came to Washington January 11, 1892, from Chicago to accept the chair of agriculture at the Pullman college. He remained there one year and then returned to Olympia. It is said that he claims his appointment to have been secured by Senator Wilson.
