

NEWS FROM TACOMA.

LEDGER COMPANY GOES INTO THE HANDS OF A RECEIVER.

In Debt Nearly $70,000, of Which $5,000 is Due for Labor—O. B. Hayden is in Charge of the Property—The Government to Station a Tea Examiner at Tacoma—Sailor Accidentally Shot.

Tacoma Bureau of the Post-Intelligencer, 112 Pacific Avenue.

TACOMA, May 15.—The Ledger Publishing Company passed into the hands of a receiver this morning, Judge Carroll, of the superior court, granting the petition and appointing O. B. Hayden to take charge of the property. C. P. Bennett was appointed attorney.

The news that the paper had passed into a receiver's hands is not much of a surprise to the public, as rumors that such an action was contemplated have been flying about for several days. These rumors, however, were made up by C. A. Snowdon, managing editor, and members of the Tacoma Land Company, which is supposed to be the owners of the concern. Not only were these denials made in the newspaper, but to several of the employees, to whom are due sums of money for wages ranging as high as $500. Just why these persistent denials were made is not known, but it is believed that it was to throw them off the track to secure the appointment of a receiver who would be satisfactory to the proprietors.

This is what the creditors claim, and in making such claims several of them are not averse to criticizing Managing Editor Snowdon severely. Major Strong, well known in Seattle as one of the major has been holding down the telegraphic desk and doing considerable heavy work for some time, and is a creditor for something like $200. When he heard that there was a movement on foot to place the business in the hands of a receiver he immediately went to Mr. Snowdon and inquired if such was the intention of the company. The managing editor is said to have sworn by all the powers on earth that such was not the intention. The major, however, did not intend to be deceived, and chances and placed his interest in the hands of a lawyer, with instructions to watch things and take a hand in the appointment of a receiver, if such were to be the proceeding.

This morning as soon as court convened J. M. Blaine, cashier of the company and also business manager, by his attorney, Frank W. Cushman, made a motion for judgment against the Ledger Publishing Company amounting to $250, alleged to be due for services. The company was represented by Lockwood & Shackelford, who consented to the judgment being entered, which was accordingly ordered by the court. Lawyer Tillow, representing some of the creditors, spoke for his clients, his line of argument being that it was not necessary to appoint a receiver immediately, but to look about for a person agreeable to all concerned.

Judge Carroll asked him if he desired to protest the appointment of O. B. Hayden as receiver. Mr. Tillow said he did not care to do that, but simply desired to take more time.

Attorney Shackelford spoke at this juncture, urging the appointment of Mr. Hayden without delay, for the reason that the paper would have to suspend publication until a receiver was appointed. The court evidently coincided with the views of the petitioner and Mr. Shackelford, for he ordered the appointment of Mr. Hayden as receiver of the property of the Ledger Publishing Company forthwith, stating that he would name the attorney during the afternoon session, which he did, the plea falling to C. P. Bennett, J. H. Judson, a prominent Democrat, wanted the place, resigning an appointment made by the court yesterday, but he failed to get it.

The best indication of the affairs of the company is to be had from the petition filed by Cashier Blaine, which is substantially as follows:

"That for a long time the business has been unprofitable, and the company has been obliged to and has borrowed large sums of money for the use of the business, that it is largely indebted for borrowed money and supplies, laborers' wages, etc., in sum exceeding $70,000, and that the wages due employees amount to more than $5,000, that the costs and expenses of operating and maintaining the business have been very large, that a large share of the indebtedness is long past due and unpaid and the company wholly unable to pay the same.

"That the assets of the company consist of the assets of the Associated Press, accounts and bills receivable, amounting approximately to $10,000, the newspaper plant, including press, the printing machinery, type machinery, furniture and fixtures; that these assets could not be sold for their value, and that the business, as they are absolutely necessary to the carrying on of the same; that owing to the general depression existing the business is not earning a sufficient amount to cover its current expenses; that the assets are very much in excess of the liabilities; that the company is insolvent and unable to pay its debts in the ordinary course of business; that if he, the petitioner, caused an execution to be issued upon the judgment, a levy made upon the property would be unavailing, for the reason that all of the property and assets of the company are by reason of the insolvency of the company and the benefit of the creditors.

"That the value of the property, franchises, etc., rests largely in the continued operation and publication of the paper; that any suspension of the publication would cause great loss and injury; that the paper is unable to pay the current expenses of the business, and the publication of the newspaper; that the franchise, property and plant are in danger of being lost, materially injured, or less a receiver shall be appointed to take possession of the business; that the expenses of conducting the business can be reduced and earnings so increased as to conduct the paper at a profit."

Almost simultaneously with the filing of Blaine's petition for a receiver was the filing in the auditor's office by W. G. Heller, a money lender, of a similar petition on the entire plant for $5,000. This mortgage bears date of July 9, 1896, and is made to run six months before falling due. In case of default by the company, the mortgagee has the right to take immediate possession and foreclosure on the property. This mortgage is signed by Charles E. Fogg as president of the company, and by W. B. Lockwood, secretary.

The creditors of the company shake their heads dubiously when spoken to about the filing of the mortgage, and the fact that it was made in July of last year, and filed only today. They consider an attempt to not only file the mortgage, but to become indebted to the force in an amount close on to $5,000 in the meantime, should the mortgage prevail, the employees will, of course, get only a portion of what is coming to them. That they will get something, no matter which way the case goes, is a foregone conclusion. A recent decision by the supreme court entitled them to three months back pay as a preferential claim. This will give the men a good portion of what is due them, although the "ghost" has not walked" for a much longer period than that.

Receiver Hayden has not announced what his policy will be in the management of the paper, preferring to look into the matter first.

Sailor McNamara Shot. TACOMA, May 15.—Frank McNamara, one of the crew of the Southern Pacific collier Westmore, was taken to the Fanny Paddock hospital on the arrival of the steamer in port today, suffering from a gunshot wound in the thigh, which he received accidentally at the hands of a shipmate Friday while on the caps. McNamara had been on deck, and as he entered the forecabin a revolver that was being cleaned by one of the crew went off, the ball striking McNamara in the thigh. The wound is not dangerous.

TACOMA GETS THE INSPECTOR.

Treasury Department Sends to Dispatch Other Ports as Tea Examiners

TACOMA, May 15.—The following dispatch from S. A. Perkins, formerly of this city, but now private secretary to Senator Mark Hanna, was received this morning by Secretary Collyer, of the Chamber of Commerce:

"I am in receipt of a notification from the treasury department that the position of tea inspectors for the port of Tacoma has been created and an appointment will be made soon by the civil service commission. This action has been taken in accordance with the third section of the new law regarding tea inspection, which empowered the secretary of the treasury upon the recommendation of the board of tea experts, to fix and establish uniform standards of purity and fitness for the consumption of all kinds of teas imported into this country, and procure and deposit in the customs houses of New York, Chicago and San Francisco, and such other ports as he may determine, duplicate samples of such standard to supply the importers and dealers in tea at all points desiring them at cost. Under this authorization the samples of the standards will be deposited and an examiner stationed in Tacoma.

The commercial leaders of the northwest have united in urging this action for the reason that Tacoma is the port of entry for the Chinese steamers, which are the largest conveyors of tea during the season. It is the opinion of the representative men and merchants of the city that this action of the treasury department is proper and timely, for the reason that the tea importation to this country have been diverted to San Francisco had Tacoma not been the proper point of inspection.

OLD BUNKERS MUST GO.

No Longer Useful—Extension of Docking Facilities.

TACOMA, May 15.—A gang of laborers was set to work Friday dismantling the old wooden coal bunkers, which were erected on the water front as far back as 1875 or 1880. This is done because of the rapidly with which coal can be handled at the new bunkers, which are considered as fine as any in the land. These historical bunkers were erected to handle the output of the mines at Wilkeson and Bonanza, and later at Carbonado. This output increased so rapidly as to necessitate the erection of additional bunkers, which were built in 1883 at a cost of $15,000.

The removal of these old bunkers will result in a considerable extension of the docking facilities of the Northern Pacific as it is the intention of the road to take advantage of the opportunity to extend its improvements along the water front, and construct in the near future a new wharf and dock. This dock, should it be built, will include the most substantial improvements known to dock construction.

Noon and Harry Bigelow, of Seattle, head of the Uniform Knights of this state. Mr. and Mrs. Colgrove and Mr. Bigelow lunched at the Tacoma hotel and were afterward driven about the city by a party of prominent knights. The supreme commander was given a reception at Elks hall this evening, at which he exemplified the secret work in a most satisfactory manner.

Burgess and Willis Spear, three large cattlemen of Sheridan, Wyo., who have been here several weeks gathering up the cattle. It is estimated that they will be worth $100,000. It is exceedingly difficult to find them for sale any place, as nearly all the herds have been sold out within the last two or three years.

The Patent Whatisit! It looks like sarsaparilla, smells like sarsaparilla, tastes like sarsaparilla, it is sarsaparilla. Stop! What is the name on the bottle? Is it Ayer? Then it is sarsaparilla; the best that is made. But the other kind, that looks and smells and tastes like sarsaparilla. What is it? That's it. It's whatisit. It's a conundrum. Give it up. Ayer's Sarsaparilla, alone, is made exclusively from the imported Honduran sarsaparilla plant, the variety richest in medicinal value and healing power. Possibly, this is why one bottle of Ayer's does as much work as three bottles of any other kind. At least, that is what people say who've tried others, and then tried Ayer's. Some go farther. There's GEORGE SMITH, Druggist, of Seymour, Conn., for example, who writes: "I will guarantee more benefit from one bottle of Ayer's Sarsaparilla than by using half a dozen bottles of any other kind." That's the sort of record Ayer's Sarsaparilla is living up to. Others imitate the remedy; they can't imitate the record—50 years of cures.

SLAIN BY INDIANS.

CLUES POINTING TO THE MURDER OF WESLEY WILLIAMSON.

His Head Probably Eaten to Pulp, Then Soaked With Oil and Burned—Renegades Suddenly Disappear From Rock Creek—A Year Ago One of Them Threatened the Murdered Man's Life.

Special Dispatch to the Post-Intelligencer. GOLDENDALE, Wash., May 15.—The pall of mystery seems to darken as it hovers about the ghastly find of the charred remains of Wesley Williamson's headless trunk lying in the brush about the members of his burned house, located upon Rock creek at his Klilkitat home for twenty years. Deceased was last seen in this life Tuesday evening of this week, when he was driving home about midnight. It is generally believed the cows were not milked that evening. The remains were found in the kitchen part of the building, and the suspicion quickly arose that the murderer had been in the house, which indicated that the deceased had not retired; also the lock of the bed room had not yet been opened when the find in the ruins. He was kept in the bed room, and the door was unoccupied. There was no occasion for him to have built a fire as he had eaten supper at Paline's. As he had not yet milked, it seems the find of a head in the brush which was on Williamson's person at all times, points to a robbery before the fire.

SHOT TO PROTECT HIMSELF.

J. M. Currie Puts a Bullet Through Frank Burr's Arm, Near Walla Walla.

Special Dispatch to the Post-Intelligencer. WALLA WALLA, May 15.—J. M. Currie, a farmer residing on Whiskey creek, twelve miles above Walla Walla, this county, came to Walla Walla this morning and surrendered himself to Sheriff Ellingsworth, stating that he had shot and wounded a neighboring farmer named Frank Burr.

For some time the men have had difficulty over land matters, and Friday, returning from Walla Walla, Currie met Burr, who was working on the county road, and they were talking over the road. Burr stopped Currie's team, and picking up a large stone, threatened to kill Currie. The latter at once drew a revolver and shot three times at Burr, one bullet entering the left wrist, passing through the arm and coming out at the elbow. Currie was taken to Walla Walla for a preliminary hearing.
