GOLD RISKS ARE TOO GREAT

Business Companies Hesitate to Write Policies for Prospective Yukoners.

The life insurance companies have responded to their full share of business from the Yukon. That is to say, they have had the opportunity to write policies on the lives of the gold hunters.

However, there is a wide divergence of opinion among the managers of the different companies as to the advisability of writing policies on the lives of the gold hunters. Some write a policy on those who show their intention of going north. They are careful to explain, though, that this does not at all interfere with their policy in force, and if a man were to take out a policy now, and in answer to the usual question state that he had no present intention of changing his residence or mode of life, yet should go to the Klondike next week, if there was no proof up to the time of the writing of the policy that the applicant had bought a ticket, an outfit or made any arrangement to go the Yukon would hold good.

SEEK SECOND-HAND GOLD.

New York Tailors and Carpenters Off for Seattle and the Klondike to Do Business. "If we can't dig gold out of that Klondike country ourselves we will get it out of those who can." That is the motto which the New York Press, of the party which is to leave New York for the Klondike fields of Alaska on August 15. They have it all figured out. One man is going to take woodens and make clothes for the miners. He has been a tailor in New York for fifteen years. He lives in Jersey City. His name is Michael McGovern, and he is the son of an Irishman who are going on Cagney Brothers' expedition to the gold country. McGovern does not pine to pick the nuggets from the earth himself, but he yearns to get a slice out of each nugget that every other man plucks.

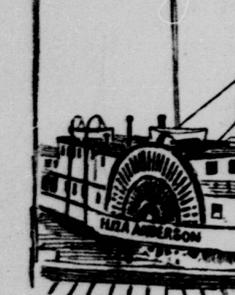

The Model Medicine Is the Model Medicine. The only medal awarded to Sarsaparilla at the World's Fair, 1893, at Chicago, was awarded to Ayer's Sarsaparilla.

SUPPLIES FROM SEATTLE.

Even Victoria Merchants Pay Duty Before Making Sales—Efforts to Standardize Measures. The efforts of British Columbia merchants to take the outfitting of Alaska gold hunters from Seattle to Victoria, while unavailing as far as those who are opposed to the measure are concerned, the ultimatum to believe that the clerks scattered around the streets are accurate and official, while they are misreading the situation in many respects.

Still Another Circuit.

Last night the agents of the Victoria merchants who are circulating around the hotels in the city issued another circular couched in the form of a telegram from a mythical A. B. Maxwell under the heading of "Another Lie Told."

Waiting the Lie.

The flood of Canadian circulars has called for a reply in kind. Last evening the following was distributed about the city.

"Some Victoria Lies Told.—If you buy your outfit in Victoria you will be compelled to pay a deputy collector five dollars in advance for duty on the outfit." This means that a custom house officer must accompany every outfit and stay in Canada until the outfit has been landed on Canadian soil and will cost the expense entailed in having a customs officer in attendance on all goods going through the territory which do not pay duty and are not manufactured or produced in the United States. There is also the additional disadvantage that the miner will not be permitted to break bulk until he reaches Canadian soil with his entire outfit. For example, if he has 1,000 pounds and two pack horses, he must keep the customs officer with him until he has landed his entire outfit beyond the limit of the United States. There is also the expense of at least $250, and his expenses at least the same. In addition to the annoyance of being nearly under surveillance and being unable to get anything out of his pack he might need.

SO ROOM ON THE WILLAMETTE.

Discontented Klondikers Will Seek Comfort in Damage Suit. PORT TOWNSEND, Aug. 10.—The charter of the steamship Willamette on her present trip from Puget sound to Dyea with Klondikers and their outfits, have a damage suit in prospect in Port Townsend as a result of not being able to carry all the people to whom tickets were sold.

Wholesale Delegation of Argonauts.

Special Dispatch to the Post-Intelligencer. "WHATCOM, Aug. 10.—Between fifty and sixty men and at least one woman have been sent from this country for the Yukon, and still almost every steamer that sails for the north carries some one from here, notwithstanding the lateness of the season.

Has the Ear-Marks of a Swindler.

OMAHA, Aug. 10.—By the arrest of E. J. Davis the local police think they have discovered a big swindle under the guise of "The Washington and Alaska Gold Mining Company." Davis had a stack of contracts in his possession which he believed he was engaged in a questionable scheme, whereby he offered to engage labor to buy outfit for ten months at a salary of $50 per work in the Yukon.

Passengers Well Treated.

Another Prospecting Syndicate.

NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—The Tribune says: Col. Archie E. Fluk, formerly of Colorado, now a resident of New York, has organized a syndicate in the name of the "Ala-Klone Expedition" to search for gold in Alaska.

ASTHMA IS CURED.

Point Settled and Settled Forever by Dr. Copeland.

Family Physicians Now Frankly Conceding Its Final Mastery by the Copeland Method—Treatment and All Medicines, With Constant and Watchful Care Until Cured, $5 Per Month.

The absolute cure of asthma by Dr. Copeland's new famous system of healing inhalations has become a matter of frank and friendly professional acknowledgment, and hundreds of the best people of Seattle are realizing, through the hospitals, no sick chambers. The sunniest, softest and balmiest natural retreats have no supplies of remedies and curative, and are not nurseries for sick and dying men any more than the eagle's nest can be the cradle and safe nursery of a sick or dying babe.

Dr. Copeland's final and complete mastery of asthma, for which the family physicians of Seattle are now according him so large a measure of credit, is due to his use of curative vapors of that degree of concentration and potency requisite to direct local action on the sore and diseased tubes like rose balm dropped into an injured eye, or healing ointment on an external sore.

Nature cannot lend us vapors of such energy to fight disease with, any more than she can lend us her lightning to fight armies with. There is very little electricity in the atmosphere, but for a physician to forego the infinite resources of science and simply lay down and wait for his asthma patients to breathe medicine enough out of the south wind to allay a cruel and destructive inflammation would be about the same thing as to try to get electricity enough out of the air around us either to pull a train of cars or flash dispatches across the world.

Write for Symptom Blank and Book, and be cured at home. Charges the same.

Mrs. Margaret Marone, Interbay. Cured of asthma after fifteen years of torture.

Copeland treatment, that the malady is not the lingering curse—not the lingering life-torture—it has been so generally regarded. The treatment, though inexpensive, is not free; all patients of the Copeland Medical Institute, Collins Building, Second and James, being required to pay a small tax or assessment, amounting to a rate of $5 per month, medicines included.

Now, regarding the logic of Dr. Copeland's summary dealing with asthma by the labrathing of vaporized remedies, Asthma sufferers used to be sent to Italy, or the warm Southern seas to breathe what medicine there is in pure air. This was a very feeble kind of doctoring, and was an absolute surrender of all pretensions to mastery of the disease. True, there is a trace of balm in sweet island air, and there is a trace of iron in beaaten, but a specialist who depends on sea breezes for asthma, or the physician who depends on the butcher for his medicines, is not much in advance of the Indians in medical practice. This world was not made for invalids. Nature provides no of about thirty members, a number of whom were from Haverrill. All the Haverhill members dropped out, though there are still several from neighboring towns. The members of the party were to put up $1,500 apiece, in addition to which they had capital back of them for purposes of development and mining amounting to about $50,000.

A Telegraph Line to the Klondike. WASHINGTON, Aug. 10.—The state department has not yet received the application from the British government for permission to run a telegraph line through the United States territory, connecting the gold fields of the Klondike with the outer world. It is said that the application will raise a new question only connected with that which is involved in the establishment of the mail route in Alaska, which gave rise to so much talk.

Prominent Men From Ohio. A distinguished party of Ohio politicians arrived in the city yesterday on their way to the universal goal on the Yukon. The party consists of: C. A. Layton, congressman from Ohio; B. W. Layton, assistant sergeant-at-arms of the senate; M. W. Blumenberg, official stenographer of the senate, and J. B. Foster, Jr., of Cleveland.

Other Distinguished Miners. The Capt. Jack Crawford Alaska Prospecting Mining Corporation has been incorporated with an authorized capital of $20,000. Several distinguished names appear among the incorporators. The objects of the company are to acquire claims, engage in the mining business, buy and sell land and construct sawmills, bridges, waterways, etc. The incorporators are John W. Crawford, John MacNeil, N. M. C. Pen. Horatio C. King, Brooklyn; William T. Falls, Kansas City, Mo.; George B. Coran, New York.

Bound for the Klondike. Col. Samuel Ward, a leading attorney of Helena, accompanied by George Murphy, Frederick Schneider, D. A. Hill, Berg Oleson and Samuel Ward, all well-known business and mining men of the west, are on the Delier, en route to Dawson City, Alaska.

Coming From Boston. A party of twenty of the Klondikers will arrive in Seattle today from Boston and other Massachusetts cities. From gentlemen who arrived in the city last night from Boston, but who are not connected with the party, it is learned that the party as originally organized consisted

KLONDIKE COMPANIES.

New York Papers Full of Advertisement—One in Which Seattle Men Appear. The New York World of August 1 is a good index to the widespread excitement and interest caused by the recent gold discoveries on the Klondike. Almost an entire page of that issue was covered with advertisements of companies which propose in one way or another to operate in connection with the new gold fields. There are gold mining, exploring and investment companies, exploration syndicates, Klondike mining companies, with all kinds of capital and all kinds of appeals to the public. One of the most prominent is set up in praise of the richness and the promise of the new territory, and every possible inducement is held out to investors.

Prominent in the list is the company which the Post-Intelligencer has already mentioned as being recently identified with this city from the fact that ex-Gov. McGraw, Gen. E. M. Carr and George B. Killinger are among its directors. Its name, as incorporated in the Yukon-Carolina British Columbia Gold Mining Development Co. It has a capital of $2,000,000 in $1 shares, full paid and non-assessable.

President, J. Edward Addicks, Claymont, Del.; first vice president, Sylvester M. Everett, Chicago; second vice president, Benjamin Butterworth, Washington, D. C.; treasurer, E. F. J. Gaynor, auditor, Manhattan Edwards, New York; secretary, Charles H. Killinger, 96 Broadway, New York City; Harrison building, Philadelphia.

The directors are as follows: Hon. John H. McGraw, ex-governor of New York; Sylvester M. Everett, national bank, 61 Wall street, New York; Charles E. Burt, national bank, 100 Exchange place, Chicago; Hon. Benjamin Butterworth, commissioner of patents, Washington; Sylvester M. Everett, vice president Cleveland Terminal & Valley railroad; John H. Killinger, 96 Broadway, New York; Harrison building, Philadelphia; Hon. John H. McGraw, ex-governor of New York; Gen. E. M. Carr, of Providence, R. I.; Carr & Gilman, attorneys-at-law, Seattle; Thomas W. Lawson, banker, State street, Boston; George B. Killinger, mining engineer, Seattle; W. F. J. Gaynor, auditor of Manhattan Railway Co., New York; Philip D. Board, treasurer, Queen street, Buffalo; J. M. Edwards, M. E. Vancouver, Seattle; E. K. Kelly, 61 Broadway, New York; J. Edward Addicks, Delaware.

A PROTEST FROM TOWNSEND.

Dyea Sub-Port Condemned and Policy of Retaliation Proposed. SPECIAL DISPATCH TO THE POST-INTELLIGENCER. PORT TOWNSEND, Aug. 10.—At the meeting of the Port Townsend Board of Trade last night, strenuous efforts were adopted by unanimous vote. They set forth that the action was taken entirely at the instance and request of Canadian shippers and business men, that American interests are in now advanced thereby, and that in fact the business men and shippers of this country are decidedly opposed to such favor being shown the Canadians, especially in view of the fact that the Canadian government is making no concession to citizens of the United States, but on the contrary is doing everything possible to make it unpleasant and unprofitable for business men to do business with the line to do business with prospective miners.

The sentiment expressed by those who took part in the discussion last night was that it is not the business of the United States to have a salutary effect in bringing about a revocation of the customs duty orders of the Canadian government, it being considered that it

Seattle Women Will Start a Restaurant at Skagway. There is no danger that the hundreds of men now waiting their turn to tackle the mountain passes at Dyea and Skagway will go hungry, provided, of course, they will have the price to pay for a meal.

Every one familiar with the situation admits that there is to be a jam of humanity at the foot of White pass, if not also at Chilkoot. Nine out of twelve intending Klondikers have had their supplies piled to Skagway, there to start for White pass when a new trail over the mountains has been recently built.

The last advice from Skagway indicated that there was already great congestion there, and that miners who did not pack horses with them and many who did were being delayed at the pass. Since the last statement a new trail over the mountains has been built, and it is believed that the congestion amounts to a blockade.

It has remained for a Seattle woman to see the chance in this condition of affairs. Mrs. Annie E. Church has seen it. She is well known here and in Tacoma, and has been employed in the county treasurer's office here for years. Mrs. Church has determined to go to Skagway and start a restaurant. She is backed by ample capital and will be accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Annie E. Rose.

Mrs. Church will probably sell on the Tokeka. She has purchased two tents, 10x20 feet each, and tables, chairs and everything else that a restaurant needs. Five visitors sent up on each steamer leaving here, and when she arrives on the ground will put up her tents and at once begin operations.

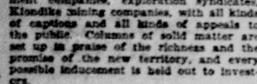

To all her friends Mrs. Church is known as a plucky, energetic and enterprising woman. She goes to the north for one purpose, to engage in a business enterprise in which she ought to make money.

"Since this Klondike excitement broke out," said Mrs. Church yesterday, "I have longed for a chance to go north and share in the prosperity of the new gold fields. I thought something of going direct to Dawson City and there opening a restaurant. When it became certain that there would be a large number of miners and prospectors at Dyea and Skagway, I was waiting to go over the pass with a prospect of being compelled to winter there. I made up my mind that there was an opening for some one that understood cooking. I made up my mind to try it, and have succeeded in getting my plans perfected so that I will be able to sell on the Tokeka. I do not intend to leave Seattle for good. I have too many friends here for that. But I want to make her hand in the world is entitled to her best at such a time as this when there is a rush to the gold fields and when all lines of business are active. My little girl is to make her home during my absence at the Academy of Holy Names, where she will be well taken care of. My mother will go with me and will help me to make the venture a success."

Women Form a Syndicate. NEW YORK, Aug. 10.—The woman's Klondike syndicate expedition has been organized in this city. Miss Helen Varick Nowell is president, and among the trustees are Mrs. Jennie June Croly, Mrs. Laura Weare Walton, Chicago; Mrs. Sarah Ebyrie, Cleveland; Mrs. William Wright, Washington, D. C., and Mrs. Sarah Thompson, Delaware, O.
